Supreme Court Justice Expects To Maintain Silence From Now On

BOTH FRIENDS AND FOES
CARRY ON WORDY DISPUTE

Former Democratic Senator Ready To Take Seat On Tribunal Monday

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2.—(AP)—Amid an uproar such as has seldom preceded the seating of a supreme court member, Hugo L. Black waited tonight to take his place as the ninth man on the nation's highest tribunal.

As far as he, personally, was concerned the case made out by critics who attacked his appointment because of his connection with the Ku Klux Klan was closed.

Having denied present Klan membership and denounced religious bigotry and race prejudice in his nationwide radio address last night, he maintained today the aloof silence of an associate justice. By his own statement he will not break that silence to discuss the Klan issue.

Both his friends and foes, however, carried on the wordy dispute.

Generally his friends took the position that he had made an adequate explanation of the Klan charges when he said that he had joined the order 15 years ago but later had resigned and never rejoined. They expressed the hope the controversy would be dropped.

Many among those who opposed his appointment insisted their views were not changed by his speech. They continued highly critical and the impression prevailed that in political campaigns of the coming months, and probably in the next session of congress, there would be renewed attacks.

President Roosevelt maintained complete silence on the speech.

Observers speculated whether the president would have anything to say on the matter when he returns after his western trip. He is due back Wednesday.

At the supreme court all was in readiness for the former Democratic senator from Alabama to take his seat.

SHANGHAI, Oct. 3.—(Sunday)—(AP)—Japan's tremendous offensive by land, sea and air buckled for the sixth consecutive day today against the stone-wall defense of the Chinese troops entrenched in Chapei on the outskirts of the international settlement.

After hours of fierce attacks and counter attacks Chinese said their lines still were intact.

Huge showers of debris and smoke dotted the battlefield as Japanese war planes dropped demolition bombs. The fleet of Japanese warships in the Whangpoo river methodically crisscrossed the area with a moving pattern of shells.

Wave after wave of tanks, protecting Japanese infantrymen, roared down on the Chinese positions. The

'LITTLE CHICAGO'
VOTERS EXCITED

Five Points Community Ready For Annual Municipal 'Election' Tuesday

Arriving at the conclusion three years ago that life at its best was entirely too serious, a group of merchants with places of business east of Five Points got together and invented a unique form of entertainment—a mock election.

To do so, they created a phantom municipality with but one boundary. Five Points on the west. They dubbed this "city" "Little Chicago," after Chicago, Ill., which is generally believed to be the most corrupt community in the United States.

In the original election, only one office was at stake, that of "mayor." Gus Kokinos, the present "mayor," and Tom Adams waged a "bitter campaign" for the position, charging each other with almost every crime and misdemeanor in the law books; but the "voters," anybody from anywhere, ran in a "dark horse," "Colonel" Rothman, and "elected" him.

Wholesome, mercurial and good-natured horseplay ran riot during the campaign and election. So last year the sponsors expanded the event and established it as an annual one. Two full tickets, with several of the offices having absurd titles, were placed in the field. In the election, flagrantly corrupt and fraudulent, Kokinos triumphed over his old foe, Adams, to become second mayor of "Little Chicago." Kokinos ran as a Super-plutocrat; Adams, as a Plutocrat. Whether or not to annex the remainder of Monroe was the campaign issue, with Kokinos upholding the negative.

This year's exciting election, scheduled for Tuesday.

NEGRO HUNTED AFTER TOWN MARSHAL SLAIN

OPELOUSAS, La., Oct. 2.—(AP)—Sheriff D. J. Doucet of St. Landry parish reported tonight that a negro shot and killed Town Marshal Gilbert Burleigh of nearby Sunset this afternoon and posess were hunting him over a wide area.

The sheriff gave the negro's name as Lester Senegal. He said Officer Burleigh had gone from Sunset, a town of 600 persons, to the Canton settlement to arrest Senegal for an alleged automobile theft.

Burleigh arrested the negro at a small country store and then allowed him to go to a building in the rear. Sheriff Doucet reported.

After several minutes, Burleigh called to him to come out. Instead Senegal fired at him once with a pistol, the bullet striking the marshal in the head, Doucet asserted.

Citizens and sheriff's posess joined in the search for the negro. Marshal Burleigh is survived by his widow and six children.

FROM DUST BOWL DESERT TO BUMPER CROP

Barren of all vegetation, its fences buried in dust, this farm of A. C. Witt, near Stratford, Tex., was typical of the desolate dust bowl areas in 1936. Six crop failures in succession had rewarded the owner's labors, leaving him arid, sand-swept acres like these.

The same farm, the same field, the same house, just a year later, are shown in this picture. Farmer Witt terraced his land to conserve moisture and stop soil-blowing. His work produced this field of unbelievably verdant grain sorghum—and this fall he can plant wheat.

FAIR CONTINUES
'CHILDREN'S DAY'

Because Of Rain Yesterday, Special Prices To Be In Effect Again Today

Because inclement weather here and elsewhere in northeast Louisiana yesterday prevented many children from attending the annual Ouachita Valley fair, the "children's day" prices which were in effect yesterday will be continued today, it was announced last night by J. H. Birdsong, manager of the fair.

Despite the drizzling rains which fell here yesterday, fairly large crowds attended the fair during the morning, afternoon and night. Older children, and 4-H club boys and girls took advantage of the special prices for all children under 12 years of age and all 4-H club boys and girls.

The special prices today will be in effect from the opening of the fair grounds at 1 p. m. to 5 p. m. During these hours children will be admitted to the fair grounds at half-price, which is five cents, and will be admitted to all of the rides, with the exception of one, for five cents. The one ride excepted will have an admission price of 10 cents. The admission prices of the shows also will be reduced.

Tonight's performance will bring the fair to a close.

Soviet Russia Suddenly Demands Free Shipment Of Arms Into Spain

LONDON, Oct. 2.—(AP)—Great Britain and France flung down the gauntlet to Italy today for the evacuation of Italians fighting in Spain. It was the second time in a month Italy was faced with a strong demand from the two countries for settling a specific and vital issue of the Spanish civil war.

Simultaneously, Soviet Russia, in a sudden note, demanded arms be permitted to be shipped to Spain for the Spanish government and abolition of the entire Spanish non-intervention scheme.

In Geneva, the league assembly failed by two votes to give the necessary unanimous approval to a resolution threatening the end of non-intervention.

HELD IN SLAYINGS

DETROIT, Oct. 2.—(AP)—William Hawthorne, 23-year-old former collegiate track star, faced a charge of murder today for pumping deadly bullets from two guns at his wife, Catherine, and John M. Barrett, in the Barrett home.

After the shooting, yesterday Hawthorne went to a police station and said: "I have just shot my wife and her sweetheart."

Although Hawthorne and the former Catherine Fox were married at Ann Arbor, March 27, 1936, while they were both students at Michigan State Normal college, they never lived together, and Mrs. Hawthorne was known generally as Miss Fox.

Premier Of Republic Of Tadukistan Removed As Foreign Fascist Spy

MOSCOW, Oct. 2.—(AP)—Abdullah Rakhimieff, premier of the Soviet republic of Tadukistan and chairman of the central executive committee of the U. S. S. R., was removed today as a "spy of a foreign Fascist country."

Treason charges were brought against Rakhimieff, President Shirshe Shotomov and three commissars of Tadukistan in a drive on anti-Soviet separatist movements.

Disclosure of the charges left no doubt that all five were under arrest. Removal of Rakhimieff, who had a harem of three wives, was a foregone conclusion after Pravda, the Communist party newspaper, denounced him recently as a bourgeois nationalist "who sold himself to the intelligence service of a neighboring foreign state."

Execution again were reported from several places in the provinces. Five grain workers were shot in Kazakhstan for mixing selected seed grain with ordinary grain. Twenty thieves, including a woman, were executed at Irkutsk in an anti-crime drive.

FINAL RITES HELD FOR ALVIN HOWARD

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 2.—(AP)—Alvin E. Howard, vice-president of the Times-Picayune Publishing company and an official in the Hibernal National bank, was buried here today with simple ceremonies.

Mr. Howard, who was 48 years old, died suddenly Wednesday in a Plainview, Tex., hospital. He was en route to his ranch at Floyd, Tex., by automobile when he became ill.

Men prominent in the newspaper and banking fields acted as pallbearers. Interment was private.

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 2.—(AP)—New Orleans was draining out tonight from a city of lakes, pools and sheets of water left among her skyscrapers and expansive residential sections by a 22-hour tropical cloudburst measuring an official 13.37 inches of rain up to 1:30 p. m. today, nearly equal to the all-time record rain of 14.1 inches on Good Friday, 1927.

W. F. McDonald, meteorologist of the United States weather bureau here, said the continuous deluge of rain that marooned nearly all of New Orleans for hours was caused by the merger of two tropical disturbances in the Gulf of Mexico which threw the gulf coast from Florida to Texas into rainy and squally conditions.

McDonald said the storm's juncture produced a very broad but "shallow" disturbance affecting the entire gulf coast, but that the lowest barometer reading from a ship at sea was 29.68 inches and the wind velocity was only from 30 to 35 miles per hour.

A weather bureau advisory at 8:30 p. m., central standard time, said the storm warning flags had been ordered.

GREEN PROMISES
WAR UPON C. I. O.

Indicates Split Thus Far Merely Preliminary Skirmish Compared To Future

DENVER, Oct. 2.—(AP)—Organized American labor faced the prospect of its greatest factional war today.

American Federation of Labor leaders agreed their fight so far with John L. Lewis, C. I. O. will go down as just a preliminary skirmish if their battle plans materialize.

William Green, A. F. L. president, gave reporters a brief glimpse of the plans at a press conference shortly after he arrived for the federation's annual convention starting Monday.

They called for: (1) Division of the organized labor movement into two groups by cutting the final, technical bond between the C. I. O. and the A. F. L. The federation's executive council, Green said, probably would receive authority to do this by jussure the A. F. L. charters of ten leading C. I. O. unions. (2) Large scale invasion of C. I. O. territory by both old and new A. F. L. unions. (3) A play for popular support by a publicity campaign emphasizing John L. Lewis was an "autocrat" and a "dictator" in the C. I. O. and that Lewis' "political ambitions" led to the C. I. O.'s formation.

Some of the federation's elder statesmen advised against expansion, and hoped to block it.

Win much more force than he usually displays, Green talked to reporters about the "war" to come as if it were already declared, although he admitted it was conditioned upon expulsion.

A few hours before, he had told the A. F. L. building trades convention "we'll carry the war into the enemy's country where we're going to win decisive battles."

GRAND JURY WILL CONVENE MONDAY

The fall term of district criminal court will get under way Monday morning at 10 o'clock, when the Ouachita parish grand jury, selected last week by the jury commission, will be sworn in and charged by the district judge. The court will begin criminal trials on Monday, November 1, at which time all persons indicted by the grand jury and all those against whom bills of information have been filed by the district attorney's office, will be arraigned and brought to trial.

An unusually light docket faces the present grand jury with only a dozen cases slated for investigation. It is expected that body will conclude its sessions next Wednesday. All persons against whom criminal charges are pending on the grand jury have been apprehended by the sheriff's department and are either in jail or out on bond.

AT THE BUSH BILL Park Golf club near London, Walter Gattward, stepping out of the club house to start a game, said he had dreamed the night before he would make the twelfth hole in one. He did, from a distance of 112 yards. A few minutes later, Ernest Smith did the same, from almost the same stance. Chance? At Duke university, Dr. J. H. Rhine publishes the results of 100,000 experiments which lead him to conclude that telepathy is a fact. He said there were just 100,000,000,000 chances to one against the apparent thought transference being accidental.

The chances against a given man at a given time and place making a hole in one are calculable. Records of such performance allow a basis of estimate. But the dream business is harder to figure. Dr. Rhine would have to know how many people throughout the world dreamed the same thing on that night before without making their hole in one. That, of course, he could never know. There's the rub in the stories of dreams come true. If enough persons have a certain dream, its fulfillment falls within the realm of chance.

LOUISIANA TO LOSE ITS PWA OFFICES

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 2.—(AP)—Orloff Henry, acting state director of the Public Works administration, following a statement by Secretary Ickes that the agency soon will be partially dismantled, announced that Louisiana offices will be absorbed by region five with headquarters at Fort Worth, Tex.

Henry said Secretary Ickes informed him that the administrative personnel of region five will be selected from present employees of the six states which it will embrace, Louisiana, Texas, New Mexico, Oklahoma, Kansas and Arkansas.

He said that all state projects on which work has already begun and 33 projects for which allotments have been approved will be carried out. Forty-four approved projects for which no allotments have been made will be dropped.

James H. Crutcher, Louisiana Works Progress administrator, announced that more than 100 workers each week voluntarily leave WPA relief rolls in the New Orleans area. There have been no forced reductions, he said.

COURT SESSION IMPORTANT ONE

Much Interest Centers On Objections To Wagner Labor Relations Act

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2.—(AP)—The supreme court session beginning Monday is an important one on its merits, aside from the overshadowing controversy on the fitness and eligibility of its freshman member, Hugo L. Black. More than 400 cases, some of them vitally affecting administration legislation, are on file. They include such important parts of President Roosevelt's program as the system of granting federal aid for municipal power plants, the Home Owners Loan corporation, the Tennessee Valley Authority and the 1936 act broadening regulation of commodity exchanges. For a little while at least, the Black case will dominate the court's proceedings after the new justice takes his seat at one end of the high bench. Of the other cases before the court this term, most interest is centered on further objections to the Wagner labor relations act and challenges of the government's right to make loans and grants for publicly owned hydro-electric plants.

pected to attend the banquet, it was announced by E. C. Gibson, president of the Monroe Civic Music association, who stated that a large number of workers will be present from nearby towns, which are expected to respond largely to the opportunity to share in the musical recitals which are planned for the coming winter. The solicitation campaign will begin Tuesday morning, when 30 teams will start the solicitation throughout the entire Monroe trade area. The campaign will close at 10 o'clock Saturday night. After that hour no further opportunity for membership in the association will be available, it was pointed out by President Gibson, as the plans for obtaining artists will be based entirely on the amount of money received through memberships during the campaign. The campaign headquarters will be opened tomorrow in the Virginia hotel, and will be located in the office fronting on St. John street, just off the main lobby of the hotel. The telephone number will be 4188 for the convenience of persons who may be overlooked by the soliciting workers. "It is our expectation that the membership this year will be substantially larger than a year ago," President Gibson stated Saturday. "The interest aroused in the association's activities in bringing noted artists to the city was emphasized throughout last season, when many music lovers who failed to obtain memberships during the campaign at that time were disappointed in being unable to hear the noted artists who came to Monroe during the season. It is our hope that no one in the entire Monroe area will have to suffer such a disappointment the coming season, and that all who do not receive a call from the membership solicitors will make contact with the headquarters and arrange for their membership cards."

down from Carrabelle, Fla., to New Orleans, and that indications were that the combined disturbance will move inland tomorrow afternoon over the extreme western Louisiana or extreme eastern Texas coast.

The disturbance then was placed about 150 to 175 miles southwest of New Orleans, moving northward about 10 miles an hour. Storm warnings remain displayed west of New Orleans to Port O'Connor, Tex., and small craft were cautioned from here to Matagorda Bay, Tex.

The rain in New Orleans temporarily marooned or delayed many thousands of workers and business men seeking to get to their offices in this city of nearly 500,000 persons, stalled thousands of automobiles in the streets everywhere, covered the curbs and the street car tracks, temporarily paralyzed transportation and put many telephones out of order.

Pedestrians in some places took to boats and many children put on bathing suits for dips in the streets where, in spots, the water was several feet deep. Cellars were flooded and motor boats coursed down Claiborne avenue, a principal thoroughfare. Many persons waded their way through the water to get to their destinations while others were delayed hours.

Confusion was so great that Governor Richard W. Leche ordered Adjutant General Raymond H. Fleming of the Louisiana national guard to hold his men and equipment in readiness to assist city authorities. But no immediate need for their services was seen.

The heaviest of the precipitation fell at the morning peak of traffic but shortly after noon the rain lifted and intermittent showers and drizzle continued, allowing public utilities and city agencies to get their service restored.

The city's gigantic pumping system had worked at full blast from the time the heavy rains started late yesterday. Alfred P. Theard, general superintendent of the sewerage and water board, said this afternoon that the pumps were "ahead of the water" by 4 o'clock and that they would readily clear it out unless there was more heavy rainfall.

SEA ISLAND COTTON PRICE PROBE SOUGHT

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2.—(AP)—Representative Lex Green, Starke, Fla., said today he had asked the federal trade commission to investigate an apparent combine by purchasers to depress the price of Florida long staple, Sea Island cotton.

He said he asked the commission to determine whether such a combine exists and to act against it if it found it did. "Instead of 30 cents, the price is now from 24 to 25 cents," Green said. "Last year it was 28 to 30 cents, and early this season 30 to 32 cents."

"There is a scarcity of the staple and a demand for it. Some mills have said they are willing to pay higher but could not do so because other buyers would not do so."

Green said he also had asked the secretary of agriculture, the Reconstruction Finance corporation and the Commodity Credit corporation to authorize 25-cent loans "until the price rises."

vention in Spain unless foreign volunteers were withdrawn. Albania and Portugal voted against the resolution and 14 countries abstained.

Britain and France were prepared to back their demand to Italy by action—just as at the recent Nyon conference to sweep "pirate" submarines from the Mediterranean.

The British and French envoys in Rome were ordered to warn Italy that the continued presence of Italians in the ashens of Pelaya, first king and eighth century founder of the Asturian kingdom, came after many days of stubborn fighting.

Official occupation was celebrated briefly today, before the insurgents took up their arms again for the drive west.

Fighting was heaviest around the 16th century Abbey and Church of La Virgen de las Batallas, but the tomb and dust of Pelaya, hero of Spain's Moorish wars, remained undisturbed.

Insurgent lines were reformed to the west of the Sella river, which winds through Ribadesella, Covadonga and Cangas de Onis, the last in government hands.

One column marched south along the slopes of the Covadonga mountains. Another was close to Cangas de Onis.

Victorious insurgents predicted they would pocket retreating government forces between there and the Europa mountains to the southwest, over which a third column has been advancing with heavy fighting.

The southern column, insurgents said, had overcome strong government resistance and seized Sierra Malpazero, the towns of Pigoz and Confinal and was marching north out of Leon and into Asturias. The government, however, said its lines were holding.

The offensive had circled to within almost 30 miles of Gijon.

OAK GROVE COUNCIL ASKS AUTHORITY FOR BOND VOTE

OAK GROVE, La., Oct. 2.—(Special)—The town council has made application to the state board of bonds and securities to vote a bond issue of $20,000 for the completion of the local sewerage system that was started here last spring. This project was financed jointly by the town's voting a $30,000 bond and the WPA contributing $38,000.

Due to the landowners objecting to their lands, plans were changed to carry the line to the Bayou Macon which will mean additional work and the laying of about 1,900 yards of iron pipe.

C. I. O. AIDE SLUGGED IN MEMPHIS

Blood streaming down his face and his head painfully bruised, husky Norman Smith, a C. I. O. organizer, was being patched up in a Memphis hospital when this picture was taken. Smith said he was beaten up by "seven or eight men armed with pop bottles and a speedometer cable." The attack occurred a few days after Mayor Watkins Overton announced that "C. I. O. organizers and professional agitators will not be tolerated here."

when the tribunal reconvenes Monday after its summer recess. Black was sworn in as a justice soon after his nomination was confirmed, but it was expected that Monday he would take another oath at the bench in keeping with the traditional formalities for seating a new justice.

While the Klan charge has provided the most spectacular phase of the fight on Black, yet another point is to be settled by the supreme court itself.

Claiming that the Alabamian should be barred from serving because he was a member of the senate when the supreme court retirement act was passed, Albert Levitt, former federal judge in the Virgin Islands, has asked the court to refuse him a seat.

Levitt argues the retirement act increased the emoluments of supreme court members. Appointment of any congressman to an office whose emoluments were increased during his term is forbidden by the constitution. The court may deny Levitt's petition, thereby killing it, or it may direct him to file a formal complaint, after which arguments would be heard and a decision rendered.

FRIEND SAYS BLACK
HONEST AND SINCERE

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Oct. 2.—(AP)—Mrs. H. M. Beck, widow of a Jewish friend of Hugo Black, last night said "I'm glad he has had his say, and now he can rest," after she heard his radio address.

Although he did not refer to Beck by name, Black said he had a Jewish friend who "stood so nearly in the place of a father to me that while in the army in 1918 I designated this trusted Jewish friend as sole executor of my will."

Reluctantly, Mrs. Beck told of the outstanding friendship between the two men that began when Black came here about 25 years ago to practice law.

She said Black, with others, including Federal Judge David J. Davis, former law partner of Black, had been treated as a son in the Beck home. She said Black was an "honest, sincere, loyal man."

Beck died November 4, 1932. He was a business man and civic leader here, and followed Black, Mrs. Beck said, through every step of the latter's career.

She was a guest in the home of

'DANGERS OF THE MAIL'—A BARE POSSIBILITY

Here you can see why cynical critics have suggested that the mural "Dangers of the Mail" in the Postoffice building at Washington, D. C., should be called "Dangers of the Male." Nude women sprawl on the ground beside the stagecoach overturned by marauding Indians. The nudity was found herding sheep after capture by Indians in a similar raid.

Freddie Falgout's
BODY REACHES HOME

RACELAND, La., Oct. 2.—(AP)—The body of Freddie J. Falgout, 21, young Louisiana sailor who was killed August 20 by a shell from an unidentified aerial bomber which struck the U. S. S. Augusta in Shanghai harbor, arrived home today.

A limited train from the west coast made an unscheduled stop at this village of 300 people, completing an 8,000-mile journey home for the boy who had written his sweetheart a few days before his death. "Only 24 months to go and then I return to Louisiana to be with you forever."

A full military mass will be held for him tomorrow at 11 a. m. at little St. Mary's church. National guardsmen and representatives of veterans' organizations will be present.

Tonight a guard of honor watched over the bier. Pallbearers tomorrow will be from the United States navy recruiting office at New Orleans, where young Falgout enlisted May 3, 1935.

Planters and fishermen from miles around are expected to attend the mass, at which 25 priests will assist.

"Dark" Africa has given the world $5,000,000,000 worth of gold, and more than $1,000,000,000 in diamonds.

Physicists built their universe of vast uncertainties by a process very like that of a race track railbird clocking a workout. But their horses, electrons, run on concentric race tracks around their central neutron. Once in a while a horse jumps the fence into the next track. This observation was arrived at through an effort to learn why the sun doesn't burn up. It would have been just a dry cinder many millions of years ago if its flames were an ordinary conflagration.

THE SPECTROSCOPE, enabling scientists to study the behavior of hydrogen atoms on the sun, gives them what they think is the answer—or, at any rate, the clue to an answer. When an electron jumps the fence, for no known reason, whatever, there is a release of energy and radiation, which sustains life on our planet, without a drain of energy—substance and energy being interchangeable in modern physics.

This cosmic study of atomic racing form made the quantum theory and ditched the old theory of inexorable, endless, rigid causation. From it came Max Planck's theory of "uncertainty relations," which seems to be that anything can happen. Some scientists find that the erratic jump of the electron to the next track is governed by the recurrence of a certain number—say 11—in alignment with other particles, but that's no more than a hunch.

In sum, utterly erratic behavior of the basic raw material of the universe seems to account for the fact that it doesn't just melt into nothingness. Religion sees here new evidence of the baton of omnipotence pacing this cosmic swirl. Eager optimists rejoice in our release from the ball and chain of causation. Skeptics say we're just rattling the bars of our cage and a fence-jumping atom on the sun doesn't have anything to do with whether you or I go to glory or to jail.

But how abruptly the phrase "uncertainty relations" fits the world today—nations, stock market, politics, labor, agriculture, dog tracks, diplom. any—even the smallest walk-on in the "Comedie Humaine."

Probably one should take care to keep intellectually as well as financially liquid. Personally, I find that tough-minded citizens, like wise old Montaigne, are usually right in their predictions that a heaving and pitching universe always rights itself, and pulls through both the dream mists and the "bludgeonings of chance."

The other parties are the Acrobats and the Plutocrats. Adams isn't a candidate this year. He is saving himself for the mayoralty race in 1938. Woman suffrage is the issue, with the Acrobats in favor of it, the Plutocrats against it and the Super-plutocrats indifferent.

In connection with the election, with the balloting taking place in a tent on the playground of "Little Chicago" (a section of the Illinois Central shop-yard at Eighth and DeSiard streets), a carnival has been billed for two days, Monday and Tuesday. It, too, will be located on the playground.

Besides the carnival, two other events are scheduled for Monday, a parade through the business districts of Monroe and West Monroe at 4 p. m. and radio talks by the candidates from 7:30 to 8 p. m.

The election will be in progress, to the accompaniment of orchestra music most of the while, from 6 a. m. to 7 p. m. Last-minute radio talks will be made by the candidates from 1:30 to 2 p. m., from 2:15 to 2:45 and from 5 to 5:30 p. m. Announcement of election returns over the radio will start at 7:30 p. m.

The parade will pass through the business districts of Monroe and West Monroe. The procession will include marching groups of the three parties, the Acrobats, the Plutocrats and the Super-plutocrats; "The March of Time," showing the various stages of the development of mankind; a 555-pound man, Thomas W. Wickman, a special representative of a brewing company, Adams, riding in an ambulance, a sick politician staging a come-back; three bands, those of Neville High, Ouachita Parish High and Louisiana Training institute; trick bicycles; several sound trucks; members of the Illinois Central Twin City Boosters club; floats entered by merchants, and several equestrians.

Valuable prizes will be given away to persons present at the polls at 9 p. m. Tuesday night. COURT SESSION IMPORTANT ONE

Much Interest Centers On Objections To Wagner Labor Relations Act

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2.—(AP)—The supreme court session beginning Monday is an important one on its merits, aside from the overshadowing controversy on the fitness and eligibility of its freshman member, Hugo L. Black. More than 400 cases, some of them vitally affecting administration legislation, are on file.

They include such important parts of President Roosevelt's program as the system of granting federal aid for municipal power plants, the Home Owners Loan corporation, the Tennessee Valley Authority and the 1936 act broadening regulation of commodity exchanges.

For a little while at least, the Black case will dominate the court's proceedings as the new justice takes his seat at one end of the high bench.

Of the other cases before the court this term, most interest is centered on further objections to the Wagner labor relations act and challenges of the government's right to make loans and grants for publicly owned hydro-electric plants.

pected to attend the banquet, it was announced by E. C. Gibson, president of the Monroe Civic Music association, who stated that a large number of workers will be present from nearby towns, which are expected to respond largely to the opportunity to share in the musical recitals which are planned for the coming winter.

The solicitation campaign will begin Tuesday morning, when 30 teams will start the solicitation throughout the entire Monroe trade area. The campaign will be a "year ago" type, in which each team will be assigned a territory. After that hour no further opportunity for membership in the association will be available, it was pointed out by President Gibson, as the plans for obtaining artists will be based entirely on the amount of money received through memberships during the campaign.

The campaign headquarters will be opened tomorrow in the Virginia hotel, and will be located in the office fronting on St. John street, just off the main lobby of the hotel. The telephone number will be 4188 for the convenience of persons who may be overlooked by the soliciting workers.

"It is our expectation that the membership this year will be substantially larger than a year ago," President Gibson stated Saturday. "The interest aroused in the association's activities in bringing noted artists to the city was emphasized throughout last season, when many music lovers who failed to obtain memberships during the campaign at that time were disappointed in being unable to hear the artists during the season. It is our hope that no one in the entire Monroe area will have to suffer such a disappointment the coming season, and that all who do not receive a call from the membership solicitors will make contact with the headquarters and arrange for their membership cards."

It Rains and the Roof Leaks

LOOK WHO IS HERE

I am introducing to the Building Trade Kopper's 20-year bonded roofs and 20-year bonded flashings. These sterling roofs keep dry many of the finest buildings in the United States. A coal tar felt, a coal tar pitch and gravel product considered by leading architects second to none. These roofs will be erected by me—not Tom, Dick and Harry, and bonded by the Kopper Corporation. The bonds are optional with the owner—with or without bonds you get the same roof AND KOPPER INSPECTIONS.

My MULE HIDE smooth surface roofing is not bonded, but is guaranteed by me. MULE HIDE shingles sold direct to you. Roofing felt, Asphalt Mops, Roof Cement, All roofing supplies at the market price. All of the different MULE HIDE roofs figured applied if you choose.

The net profits in the roofer's pocket is where the negro in the woodpile shines. Generally speaking, you pay for what you bargain for only.

TANKS TANKS TANKS

My rain water tanks are the talk of the country, manufactured from 24 gauge copper-loy iron. Wheeling's best. Galvanized steel is misleading—a steel sure enough costing 25 per cent less than charcoal iron.

ALL'S WELL BETWEEN THE NORTH AND SOUTH!

Seventy-five years ago Corporal Basil Lemley (left), 94, fought with the Union army and Captain Robert E. Miles (center), 98, was on the side of the Confederacy in the bloody battle of Antietam near Sharpsburg, Md. But when President Roosevelt visited that historic spot September 17 to witness re-enactment of the battle, the veterans put aside their one-time enmity and sealed their friendship with a handshake in the presence of the president.

STREETS FLOODED IN NEW ORLEANS

down from Carrabelle, Fla., to New Orleans, and that indications were that the combined disturbance will move inland tomorrow afternoon over the extreme western Louisiana or extreme eastern Texas coast.

The disturbance then was placed about 150 to 175 miles southwest of New Orleans, moving northward about 10 miles an hour. Storm warnings remain displayed west of New Orleans to Port O'Connor, Tex., and small craft were cautioned from here to Matagorda Bay, Tex.

The rain in New Orleans temporarily marooned or delayed many thousands of workers and business men seeking to get to their offices in this city of nearly 500,000 persons, stalled thousands of automobiles in the streets everywhere, covered the curbs and the street car tracks, temporarily paralyzed transportation and put many telephones out of order.

Pedestrians in some places took to boats and many children put on bathing suits for dips in the streets where, in spots, the water was several feet deep.

Ceilars were flooded and motor boats coursed down Claiborne avenue, a principal thoroughfare. Many persons waded their way through the water to get to their destinations while others were delayed hours.

Confusion was so great that Governor Richard W. Leche ordered Adjutant General Raymond H. Fleming of the Louisiana national guard to hold his men and equipment in readiness to assist city authorities. But no immediate need for their services was seen.

The heaviest of the precipitation fell at the morning peak of traffic but shortly after noon the rain lifted and intermittent showers and drizzle continued, allowing public utilities and city agencies to get their service restored.

The city's gigantic pumping system had worked at full blast from the time the heavy rains started late yesterday. Alfred P. Theard, general superintendent of the sewerage and water board, said this afternoon that the pumps were "ahead of the water" by 4 o'clock and that they would readily clear it out unless there was more heavy rainfall.

FOUR OLD MEN DROWN

BETHEL, Me., Oct. 2.—(AP)—Four men, all of them over 70, were drowned today when an automobile left the road and plunged over a bridge into a mill pond, five miles from here. The car, according to Albert Kimball, a truck driver who discovered the submerged vehicle about 10 feet from the shore of the pond, apparently crashed through a log railing.

SEA ISLAND COTTON PRICE PROBE SOUGHT

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2.—(AP)—Representative Lex Green, Starke, Fla., said today he had asked the federal trade commission to investigate an apparent combine by purchasers to depress the price of Florida long staple, Sea Island cotton.

He said he asked the commission to determine whether such a combine exists and to act against it if it found it did.

"Instead of 30 cents, the price is now from 24 to 25 cents," Green said. "Last year it was 28 to 30 cents, and early this season 30 to 32 cents."

"There is a scarcity of the staple and a demand for it. Some mills have said they are willing to pay higher but could not do so because other buyers would not do so."

Green said he also had asked the secretary of agriculture, the Reconstruction Finance corporation and the Commodity Credit corporation to authorize 25-cent loans "until the price rises."

OAK GROVE COUNCIL ASKS AUTHORITY FOR BOND VOTE

OAK GROVE, La., Oct. 2.—(Special)—The town council has made application to the state board of bonds and securities to vote a bond issue of $20,000 for the completion of the local sewerage system that was started here last spring. BRITAIN, FRANCE FLING GAUNTLET

vention in Spain unless foreign volunteers were withdrawn. Albania and Portugal voted against the resolution and 14 countries abstained.

Britain and France were prepared to back their demand to Italy by action—just as at the recent Nyon conference to sweep "pirate" submarines from the Mediterranean.

The British and French envoys in Rome were ordered to warn Italy that the continued presence of Italians in territory held by insurgent Generalissimo Francisco Franco menaced their interests and an increased danger of a European war.

The Anglo-French action was taken with the presentation in a joint note of an invitation to Italy to reach a solution of the Spanish problem in a tri-power conference.

The Italian answer was expected to be issued tomorrow in a communiqué. While the invitation was couched in moderate terms, Italy was given to understand that refusal to collaborate with Britain and France would force them to "reconsider their policy toward Spain" and take action.

The first stage of such action, observers said, undoubtedly would be the reopening of the Franco-Spanish border to the flow of munitions and men.

INSURGENTS SWEEP THROUGH COVADONGA

HENDAYE, Franco-Spanish Frontier, Oct. 2.—(AP)—Insurgents swept through historic Covadonga tonight along the Biscayan coast to new battlefields on the way to Gijon, last government port in the north.

The fall of Covadonga, sanctuary of the ashes of Pelayo, first king and eighth century founder of the Asturian kingdom, came after many days of stubborn fighting.

Official occupation was celebrated briefly today, before the insurgents took up their arms again for the drive west.

Fighting was heaviest around the 16th century Abbey and Church of La Virgen de las Batallas, but the tomb and dust of Pelayo, hero of Spain's Moorish wars, remained undisturbed.

Insurgent lines were reformed to the west of the Sella river, which winds through Ribadesella, Covadonga and Cangas de Onis, the last in government hands.

One column marched south along the slopes of the Covadonga mountains. Another was close to Cangas de Onis.

Victorious insurgents predicted they would pocket retreating government forces between there and the Europa mountains to the southwest, over which a third column has been advancing with heavy fighting.

The southern column, insurgents said, had overcome strong government resistance and seized Sierra Malpazero, the towns of Pizoz and Conlinal and was marching north out of Leon and into Asturias. The government, however, said its lines were holding.

The offensive had circled to within almost 30 miles of Gijon.

Little Men And Big Things

An English aviator recently flew to a new altitude record of 53,937 feet. To a man standing on the face of the earth watching a plane diminish to a speck in the sky and then into nothingness, such a height above the earth is appalling. How small the earth must look from such a height!

But from a different perspective this conquest of man's wings is but an insect's leap into the air.

In the central lobby of the Pan-American Airways station in Miami there revolves a ten-foot globe representing the earth. Revolving with its lower part in a pit, the globe still tops the heads of men and women who pause to view it. It is a huge ball. If you know how wide ten feet is, you can picture it. The scale is one inch to sixty-four miles.

Lieutenant Adams' altitude achievement would take him, on a globe this size, less than one-quarter an inch off its surface.

The deepest place men know in the seven seas is east of the Philippines—34,218 feet of green salt water. On the ten-foot globe that depth would be only one-tenth of an inch below the surface of the ball.

Compared with the vast bulk of the earth, our great oceans are shallow puddles barely covering the submerged hills and dales. And men on this scale are incomprehensibly tiny. To the scale of a ten-foot globe, all the people in the world could be packed in a box less than one-hundredth of an inch in cubic size.

So men may be proud, and rightfully, of the things they have accomplished. We have harnessed the elements. One man has gone into the sea 2,200 feet below its surface. But that is only one hundred and fiftieth of an inch on a ten-foot globe.

It makes one humble to view the Pan-American globe and to ponder man in its proportions. It should make man ambitious in the same perspective to contemplate what yet may be done.

As each of us views his job on this ten-foot to eight-thousand-mile scale, each seems to be less than ant-like in his industry. For it seems impossible that such small creatures could ever cope with the prodigious enterprises that have grown from the activities of such beings and helped to advance a civilization that, far from perfect as it is, at least is the best that mankind has ever known.

HOME PROBLEM IN CRIME

Juvenile crime is usually blamed on thriller movies, magazines and novels. Usually this sounds a little less than convincing—for millions of boys have been exposed to such influences, year after year, without having their characters undermined.

But there does seem to be something in it, in the case of the 12-year-old Toledo boy who shot his school teacher. According to all accounts, this lad was steeped to the gills in the flamboyant lore of the underworld. Notes scribbled before the shooting leave little doubt that the youngster was dramatizing himself as a bold, bad gunman like those of screen, radio and magazine.

This being admitted, what is the answer—to remove all reference to crime from those media of entertainment? Perhaps—though that would be a trifle drastic. Problems like this are, after all, chiefly for individual parents. A father and mother can, if they will, see that their child retains his balance, even if he is getting a strong dose of two-gun melodrama.

A PRACTICAL MEMORIAL

Thirty years ago there was a bad interurban wreck at Elyria, O. Eight people were killed, and some of the deaths were attributed to the city's lack of hospital facilities.

Among the victims was the son of an Elyria business man named Edgar F. Allen. Allen bestirred himself to see that this tragic story be not repeated. He organized the Elyria Memorial Hospital association, campaigned to raise funds for it, gave liberally of his own money, and retired from business to become treasurer and manager of the new hospital which the association built.

In the year since then, this hospital has done a great work. And Allen, who died just the other day, left to the memory of his dead son a fine and valuable memorial of enduring usefulness and beauty.

PITY FOR CONVICTS

America has had a lot of prison disturbances in recent years. On investigation, a dismaying number of them proved to be society's fault. The prison was out of date, overcrowded, filthy; the management was lax, the guards were venal, the politicians had interfered too much. And so on.

The newest outbreak, at Alcatraz, seems to stand in a class by itself. None of the above-mentioned defects applies there. Indeed, the trouble seems chiefly due to the fact that Alcatraz contains the toughest and most vicious thugs in America who don't like the way society has put them down for the count.

Alcatraz is a hard-boiled place; it has to be. In this one prison, if in no other, an outbreak by the convicts will bring them less public sympathy, not more.

The more discriminating hitch-hikers will accept transportation only in a radio-equipped car.

GROWLING DICTATORS

By BRUCE CATTON

The look of things in Europe is more war-like and threatening, these days, than at any time since the World war. Yet a betting man might very well feel inclined to gamble that there won't be another world war, after all. The situation probably looks darker than it really is.

The most encouraging factor is that underneath their bluster and big talk, the statesmen of Europe are scared to death.

For one thing, the memory of 1914 is too close. The jar that sent the world sliding into war in that year was actually much less severe than some of the shocks Europe has had lately; but while today's statesmen may play with the word, "War," he knows from actual experience what the word really means—something which his predecessors of 23 years ago did not know. It makes a world of difference.

The Europe of 1914 had not seen a large-scale war for more than 40 years. There had been time for a romantic and unreal idea about war to be built up. The horrible calamity that war brings had grown hazy and indistinct in men's minds. Europe slid into war easily because no one really knew just what war was going to mean.

It's different now. The dictators may fume and bluster and strut, their massed troops may be cheered to the echo by hysterical throngs—but down underneath all of them know precisely what is involved. Not while the World war generation are still alive will any European nation go to war as blithely and irresponsibly as the nations went in 1914.

There is another thing—the specter of revolt, which has a way of materializing out of the smoke and darkness of a long war. No dictator wants that specter raised; no dictator can forget that war is likely to raise it. Kings and emperors lost their crowns because of the World war; would dictators be apt to fare any better in another world war? They would not—and they know it.

And if that thought holds back the dictatorships, it also holds back the democracies. For democracy, like monarchy, showed a tendency to collapse during and after the last war. It might survive another such strain and it might not. No democracy is likely to take the risk if it can possibly avoid it.

On the surface, these fears do not seem to have much effect. The Japanese are involved in war in China, and the Germans, Russians, and Italians are playing with fire in Spain. The Mediterranean "anti-piracy" naval program offers innumerable chances for war-making accidents and collisions. Warlike talk was never more common.

But down underneath there are these restraining influences—unseen but powerful. They explain why the momentous events of the last two or three years, which looked so much like war, did not actually bring war. And they give one reasonable grounds for hoping that what is happening now will not actually mean war either.

Europe simply cannot afford another war. And Europe knows it.

A BOOK REVIEW

CONFUSING, AMUSING, THIS MYSTERY TALE

Richard Hull is one writer who believes in being flippant about murder. The result is a series of mystery stories that are funny as well as puzzling; and the newest one—"The Murderers of Monty"—is one of the best of the lot.

Mr. Hull tells how three Englishmen, for a gag, form an elaborate conspiracy to pretend to murder a young chap named Monty. They let Monty in on it and he plays his part zestfully. One of the trio is to poison him, the second is to stab him, the third is to shoot him; it all looks like good, harmless fun.

But when the chosen night comes, and the three pranksters go through their appointed motions, poor Monty actually does get killed. He gets killed three times, in fact; he is poisoned, stabbed and shot. Which, of course, leaves the three conspirators in a rare fix, and leads to a neat, well-handled story of detection which will keep you guessing furiously.

Another good mystery in which murder gets flippant treatment is "The Search for My Great Uncle's Head," by Peter Coffin. In this one somebody detaches and conceals the head of a rich old curmudgeon who has invited his relatives in to hear him read his will. The will vanishes along with the head, and a bookish college professor finds himself playing the leading role. It's a good story, guaranteed to amuse as well as mystify.

"Murder of a Professor," by John Miller, is strictly serious—and somewhat pedestrian. A university professor is mysteriously slain and another professor, suspected of the deed, has to go ahead and solve it. The noteworthy part of this book is the fact that the author has discovered a brand-new way to commit murder.

PARADE OF INVISIBLE MEN

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

By O. O. McINTYRE

Autograph pests are getting out of bounds again. For a while they seemed to have lost interest but of a sudden the craze spread with the speed of fire in dry grass. The autographists used to be gentle and politely worshipping folk, old, middle-aged and young.

But now they are mostly packs of hoodlums more interested in raising Ned than getting autographs. Seeking the autograph is just an excuse for pulling the rough stuff. In several instances the police on hands have had to send in hurry calls for help.

The field day for the guild is when the Normandy or Queen Mary docks. These boats are bound to have a quota of celebrities aboard. The same thing is true when they depart. And the pier sheds become a screaming, howling crowd of toughs and roughs. Clothes are torn off victims and they are otherwise manhandled, and no reason at all save the same sadistic reason that a Hell's Kitchen gang beats up a cop. It is the meanest sort of hoodlumism and until a few are slapped in jail and kept there until their ardor cools there is not likely to be any cessation.

There was a time when there was an autograph market where a hunter could pick up a little extra change, and during the hard days of the depression celebrities were tolerant and gracious. But there is little market now save for enormously big names—such as Lindbergh, Garbo, etc. In the meantime those who gathered autographs as a pleasant hobby have almost entirely withdrawn from the endeavor. It is too strenuous.

There are not many more interesting-looking after-midnight crowds than those that gather at the midtown Automats. Few are the substantial citizens types at that hour, but they have color, animation—and laughter! They are mostly those who live rather lightly, cabaret girls and their beaux, the tin-horn sports and bell-coted lads who seem to divide their time between studying the racing forms and whispering sweet nothings to high blondes. Also the floating pick-thanks who have found that after midnight is the most productive period for putting across polite little flimflams.

The Count of Covadonga and Marta Rocafort. Refuse to linger longer. On Love's unhappy shore. But I don't give a snap For their amative scrap. For Marta Rocafort. And the Count of Covadonga To everyone's a bore Except the scandal monger.

Anyone who can think up an imaginary character and make him real and interesting on the radio does not have to worry about the next meal. Charlie McCarthy and Betty Lou are examples. And then there is the fellow who exists only in the mind of Lieutenant-Commander Frank V. Martinek and who has received 400,000 fan letters following his appearance on a sustaining program. Martinek created the character for his own amusement from his experience as a naval intelligence officer. Now he is reaping the profits from a nation-wide newspaper strip, a series of boys' fiction books, and such.

Another unpleasant aroma has arisen from the heavyweight prize fighting racket. And Mike Jacobs in his new role as the new Tex Rickard is not making a pretty picture. He has a five-year contract to control the fights of Joe Louis, and for Louis to lose his crown might mean a crash in Jacobs' house of cards. Thus the promoter is duking a fight between Louis and Schmeling. Schmeling is the logical contender for the role of successful challenger—in fact in most books he is the uncrowned world's champion. Until Schmeling is given another chance at the championship, Louis is going to be a very unpopular champ.

In a letter from an ex-judge: "I wonder how many grasp the significance of that 11 million dollar experiment with taxpayers' hard earned money called Tugwell Town? Be assured when opened for living that the new residents will be hand-picked New Dealers. But the hard part to swallow is naming it for Tugwell. Why wasn't it named for an illustrious American who is in sympathy with our constitution and ideals and not for one who strikes a smart blow for Zora N. Hurston, one of the better books of the early fall."

Perhaps it was the mood, but I found "Their Eyes Were Watching God," by Zora N. Hurston, one of the better books of the early fall. (Copyright, 1937, McNaught Syndicate)

KOREA—JAPAN'S FIRST PRIZE OF IMPERIALISM

LAND hungry, afraid of its expanding white neighbors, particularly Russia, Japan first reached out the long arm of imperialism more than 30 years before events were to reach the current stage of war in the Far East. Japan's grasp then settled on Korea.

Because of its policy of isolation, Korea, at the turn of the century, was known as the "Hermit Kingdom." She was, moreover, a constant bone of contention between China and Japan. Japan saw a dagger at her own throat in the event a hostile nation should conquer Korea.

Then Russia entered the scene, winning the Korean queen's favor and succeeding in breaking down the Korean isolation. Shortly thereafter, in 1895, the queen was murdered, an occurrence which the Koreans attributed to the Japanese. Result was the Chinese-Japanese war in 1895 and the Russo-Japanese conflict of a decade later.

Hardly had she defeated Russia when Japan proclaimed Korea a protectorate. Finally in 1910 formal annexation was declared. So Japan began her imperialist rule in the Far East. A Korean stamp used before annexation is shown here.

YOUR HEALTH

By Dr. Morris Fishbein

(Editor, Journal of the American Medical Association, and of Hygiene, the Health Magazine)

The main factors in the treatment of cancer today are surgery, radium and the X-ray. The X-ray has been tremendously improved in the last 20 years and much more has been learned about radium.

Long ago it was found that the tissues which make up a cancer are more sensitive to radium and the X-ray than are normal tissues.

A surgeon may remove a cancer by use of a knife or the electric cautery or by similar methods. When he removes the cancer, he tries also to remove all of the tissue near the cancer which may have been invaded and all of the swollen glands related in any way to the growth.

The radiologist is particularly concerned with cancer of the skin and cancer of the cervix and uterus, and these methods are used also in certain tumors of the mouth, throat and larynx.

Radium has really been found to be of rather limited use in cancer of the stomach, liver, gall-bladder, pancreas, kidney and intestines.

The dangerous methods of treatment include ointments, plasters or massage. Ointments containing caustic drugs may damage the neighboring tissues and make them more susceptible to cancer. Massage or any rough manipulation may help to spread a tumor throughout the body. Diets, drugs, glands, serums, colored lights and similar methods also have been used without any real success.

It has been rather well established that neither worry nor cheerfulness can control the cause or disappearance of a cancer in any way. It is not possible to cause a cancer to disappear by adopting a cheerful attitude toward it.

Chief danger of attempting to treat a serious condition by mental methods is the possibility of overlooking any possible chance that exists for treatment with well established scientific methods.

RATE REGULATION FOR RADIOS SOUGHT

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2.—(AP)—Frank McNinch, new chairman of the communication's commission, indicated today he would seek legislation to bring radio rates under commission regulation.

"I question the wisdom of any policy which would leave free from regulations charges made by public utilities," he told his first press conference in his new capacity.

Previously he had declared that radio was a public utility. McNinch asserted his policy would be one open at all times to the public.

"My own conscience and judgment shall be my only guide," he said. "I shall do what I can to prevent or break up any trafficking, if any, in broadcast licenses."

LEGION MEMBERS TO MEET MONDAY NIGHT

C. B. Braun, adjutant of the local American Legion post, yesterday announced a regular meeting of that organization for Monday night at 8 o'clock at the legion home in Forsythe park.

Final plans for the membership drive will be discussed and committees appointed to start the campaign at once. The drive will be continued until November 11, Adjutant Braun said.

Reports on the past national American Legion convention held in New York City will be made at the meeting.

The United States paid Panama $10,000,000 for the Canal Zone rights, but this does not include an annual rental of $250,000.

BEHIND THE SCENES IN WASHINGTON

By Rodney Dutcher

WASHINGTON—Members of the house, 435 of them, and 30-odd senators will be up for renomination and re-election next year. Most of them are home checking on their chances. Some have to worry as to where campaign cash is coming from and some do not. Millions of dollars presumably will be spent on primary and election expenses and a complete accounting of the money received and paid out—which never will be available—would provide a comprehensive and amazing inside picture of American politics.

This article pretends to shed no more than a small ray of light. The writer happened to be with a congressman of the more honest type who was musing over a batch of cancelled checks arising from his campaign for renomination in 1936. He had spent about $5,000 on getting renominated; re-election was no problem.

Legal Limits Seldom Bother

This congressman says legal expense limits seldom bother anyone in hot fights where special interests are putting up large sums for one man or the other. He spent mostly his own money, plus numerous contributions from friends. The regular party machine was against him.

The checks, he explained, were drawn under two or three names "so the banks wouldn't know too much."

There was a check of around $600 to the postmaster for postage stamps and one of $500 representing a gift to the state Democratic party such as was expected of congressmen who seemed the better part of wisdom. Checks amounted to about $125 for telephone service, including long distance calls. The congressman explained that there are "lots of things you have to say to people that can't be put on paper." And a contribution check of $200 to the Democratic national committee.

Then some $5 and $10 checks for "social clubs," similar organizations, dances, programs and things the congressman called "tricks."

Sweeten Ex-Servicemen

Tens of thousands of copies of the congressman's speeches from the government printing office in Washington went to $303.34. Other printing jobs—circulars, handbills, and the like—"at extra high rates for political stuff," grumbled the congressman—were paid for by checks amounting to $248.

About $150 was given to veterans' organizations and magazines to sweeten the ex-servicemen vote. Advertising in a Catholic newspaper cost $37, in a German language weekly $65, and an Italian newspaper $45. A labor newspaper got $100 and another foreign language newspaper $50. Regular newspaper advertising ran to $195.50. Stenographic and headquarters help cost $44.

The highest check was to the Democratic county chairman, required to help pay primary election costs. In many congressional districts, the congressman said, this considerable sum is "borrowed" by a favored candidate from public utility interests.

Not Too Many Checks

"Here's one for $75 to cash which I've forgotten about," the congressman went on. "And $29.76 to the telephone company and the checks show $450 for some 15-minute radio speeches. Here's $65 for an alleged precinct worker, partly a bribe to keep him from selling me out."

"Here's $500 which went for primary day incidentals, and I remember we used about $500 in cash at the same time. Here's another check that was to pay up various campaign debts—for $425, so we wouldn't have too many checks. Here's $300 to an independent political organization which I set up. And a lot of checks of $50 or so to my secretary so he could dispense cash."

"Here's one for $500 that you could say was for stealing or buying votes if you wanted to. It cost that much just to make sure that one election judge stayed honest. Then there are some checks for $125 to $175 to certain key political workers. My opponent was paying them $500 apiece, but they knew I didn't have much money."

Draw your own moral. This congressman has a good reputation for integrity, here and at home.

BLACK'S SPEECH FAILS TO CHECK

when the tribunal reconvenes Monday after its summer recess. Black was sworn in as a justice soon after his nomination was confirmed, but it was expected that Monday he would take another oath at the bench in keeping with the traditional formalities of seating a new justice.

While the Klan charge has provided the most spectacular phase of the fight on Black, yet another point is to be settled by the supreme court itself.

Claiming that the Alabama should be barred from serving because he was a member of the senate when the supreme court retirement act was passed, Albert Levitt, former federal judge in the Virgin Islands, has asked the court to refuse him a seat.

Levitt argues the retirement act increased the emoluments of supreme court members. Appointment of any congressman to an office whose emoluments were increased during his term is forbidden by the constitution.

The court may deny Levitt's petition, thereby killing it, or it may direct him to file a formal complaint, after which arguments would be heard and a decision rendered.

FRIEND SAYS BLACK HONEST AND SINCERE

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Oct. 2.—(AP)—Mrs. H. M. Beck, widow of a Jewish friend of Hugo Black, last night said "I'm glad he has had his say, and now he can rest."

Although he did not refer to Beck by name, Black said he had a Jewish friend who "stood so nearly in the place of a father to me that while in the army in 1918 I designated this trusted Jewish friend as sole executor of my will."

Reluctantly, Mrs. Beck told of the outstanding friendship between the two men that began when Black came here about 25 years ago to practice law.

She said Black, with others, including Federal Judge David J. Davis, former law partner of Black, had been treated as a son in the Beck home. She said Black was an "honest, sincere, loyal man."

Black died November 4, 1932. He was a business man and civic leader here, and followed Black, Mrs. Beck said, through every step of the latter's career.

'DANGERS OF THE MAIL'—A BARE POSSIBILITY

Here you can see why cynical critics have suggested that the mural "Dangers of the Mail" in the Postoffice building at Washington, D. C., should be called "Dangers of the Mail." Nude women sprawl on the ground beside the stagecoach returned by marauding Indians. The nudity is defended on historic grounds—the nude daughters of the governor of New Mexico were found hiding sheep after capture by Indians in a similar raid.

Freddie FALGOUT'S BODY REACHES HOME

RACELAND, La., Oct. 2.—(AP)—The body of Freddie J. Falgout, 21, young Louisiana sailor who was killed August 20 by a shell from an unidentified aerial bomber which struck the U. S. S. Augusta in Shanghai harbor, arrived home today.

A limited train from the west coast made an unscheduled stop at this village of 200 people, completing an 8,000-mile journey home for the boy who had written his sweetheart a few days before his death. "Only 24 months to go and then I return to Louisiana to be with you forever."

A full military mass will be held for him tomorrow at 11 a. m. at Little St. Mary's church. National guardsmen and representatives of veterans' organizations will be present.

Tonight a guard of honor watched over the bier. Pallbearers tomorrow will be from the United States navy recruiting office at New Orleans where young Falgout enlisted May 5, 1936.

Planters and fishermen from miles around are expected to attend the mass, at which 25 priests will assist.

'LITTLE CHICAGO' VOTERS EXCITED

uled for Tuesday, will far surpass the previous ones. With three tickets in the field, Kokinos is leading his old cohorts, the Super-plutoocrats, into battle. The other parties are the Acrobats and the Plutoocrats. Adams isn't a candidate this year. He is saving himself for the annual race in 1938. When suffrage is the issue with the Acrobats in favor of it, the Plutoocrats against it and the Super-plutoocrats indifferent.

In connection with the election, with the balloting taking place in a tent on the playground of "Little Chicago" (a section of the Illinois Central shopyard at Eighth and DeSiard streets), a carnival has been billed for two days, Monday and Tuesday. It, too, will be located on the playground.

Besides the carnival, two other events are scheduled for Monday, a parade through the business districts of Monroe and West Monroe at 4 p. m. and radio talks by the candidates from 7:30 to 8 p. m.

The election will be in progress, to the accompaniment of orchestra music most of the while, from 6 a. m. to 7 p. m. During the course of the day, the musicians will play "Chicago" ("Little Chicago") theme song, for the first time. Last-minute radio talks will be made by the candidates from 1:30 to 2 p. m., from 2:15 to 2:45 and from 5 to 5:30 p. m. Announcement of election returns over the radio will start at 7:30 p. m.

The parade will pass through the business districts of Monroe and West Monroe. The procession will include marching groups of the three parties, the Acrobats, the Plutoocrats and the Super-plutoocrats; "The March of Time," showing the various stages of the development of mankind; a 550-pound man, Thomas W. Wickman, a special representative of a brewing company; Adams, riding in an ambulance, a sick politician staging a comeback; three bands; those of Neville High, Ouachita Parish High and Louisiana Training institute; truck bicycled, several sound trucks; members of the Illinois Central Town City Boosters club; floats entered by merchants, and several equestrians.

Little Men And Big Things

An English aviator recently flew to a new altitude record of 53,937 feet. To a man standing on the face of the earth watching a plane diminish to a speck in the sky and then into nothingness, such a height above the earth is appalling. How small the earth must look from such a height!

But from a different perspective this conquest of man's wings is but an insect's leap into the air.

In the central lobby of the Pan-American Airways station in Miami there revolves a ten-foot globe representing the earth. Revolving with its lower part in a pit, the globe still tops the heads of men and women who pause to view it. It is a huge ball. If you know how wide ten feet is, you can picture it. The scale is one inch to sixty-four miles.

Lieutenant Adams' altitude achievement would take him, on a globe this size, less than one-quarter an inch off its surface.

The deepest place men know in the seven seas is east of the Philippines—34,218 feet of green salt water. On the ten-foot globe that depth would be only one-tenth of an inch below the surface of the ball.

Compared with the vast bulk of the earth, our great oceans are shallow puddles barely covering the submerged hills and dales. And men on this scale are incomprehensibly tiny. To the scale of a ten-foot globe, all the people in the world could be packed in a box less than one-hundredth of an inch in cubic size.

So men may be proud, and rightfully, of the things they have accomplished. We have harnessed the elements. One man has gone into the sea 2,200 feet below its surface. But that is only one hundred and fiftieth of an inch on a ten-foot globe.

It makes one humble to view the Pan-American globe and to ponder man in its proportions. It should make man ambitious in the same perspective to contemplate what yet may be done.

As each of us views his job on this ten-foot to eight-thousand-mile scale, each seems to be less than ant-like in his industry. For it seems impossible that such small creatures could ever cope with the prodigious enterprises that have grown from the activities of such beings and helped to advance a civilization that, far from perfect as it is, at least is the best that mankind has ever known.

HOME PROBLEM IN CRIME

Juvenile crime is usually blamed on thriller movies, magazines and novels. Usually this sounds a little less than convincing—for millions of boys have been exposed to such influences, year after year, without having their characters undermined.

But there does seem to be something in it, in the case of the 12-year-old Toledo boy who shot his school teacher. According to all accounts, this lad was steeped to the gills in the flamboyant lore of the underworld. Notes scribbled before the shooting leave little doubt that the youngster was dramatizing himself as a bold, bad gunman like those of screen, radio and magazine.

This being admitted, what is the answer—to remove all reference to crime from those media of entertainment? Perhaps—though that would be a trifle drastic. Problems like this are, after all, chiefly for individual parents. A father and mother can, if they will, see that their child retains his balance, even if he is getting a strong dose of two-gun melodrama.

A PRACTICAL MEMORIAL

Thirty years ago there was a bad interurban wreck at Elyria, O. Eight people were killed, and some of the deaths were attributed to the city's lack of hospital facilities.

Among the victims was the son of an Elyria business man named Edgar F. Allen. Allen bestirred himself to see that this tragic story be not repeated. He organized the Elyria Memorial Hospital association, campaigned to raise funds for it, gave liberally of his own money, and retired from business to become treasurer and manager of the new hospital which the association built.

In the year since then, this hospital has done a great work. And Allen, who died just the other day, left to the memory of his dead son a fine and valuable memorial of enduring usefulness and beauty.

PITY FOR CONVICTS

America has had a lot of prison disturbances in recent years. On investigation, a dismaying number of them proved to be society's fault. The prison was out of date, overcrowded, filthy; the management was lax, the guards were vengeful, the politicians had interfered too much. And so on.

The newest outbreak, at Alcatraz, seems to stand in a class by itself. None of the above-mentioned defects applies there. Indeed, the trouble seems chiefly due to the fact that Alcatraz contains the toughest and most vicious thugs in America who don't like the way society has put them down for the count.

Alcatraz is a hard-boiled place; it has to be. In this one prison, if in no other, an outbreak by the convicts will bring them less public sympathy, not more.

The more discriminating hitch-hikers will accept transportation only in a radio-equipped car.

CLOSED CARGO

The hold of this white boat on which we sail
Is filled with treasure, closed against the gale.

Upon the deck the sun lays golden patches,
But wealth hides in the dark beneath the hatches.

Your heart has its closed cargo . . . I can see
The evidence of deep tranquillity.

Faith and affection . . . all the cherished gold
Of life, and every truth a heart can hold!

GROWLING DICTATORS

By BRUCE CATTON

The look of things in Europe is more war-like and threatening, these days, than at any time since the World war. Yet a betting man might very well feel inclined to gamble that there won't really be another world war, after all. The situation probably looks darker than it really is.

The most encouraging factor is that underneath their bluster and big talk, the statesmen of Europe are scared to death.

For one thing, the memory of 1914 is too close. The jar that sent the world sliding into war in that year was actually much less severe than some of the shocks Europe has had lately; but while today's statesmen may play with the word, "War," he knows from actual experience what the word really means—something which his predecessors of 23 years ago did not know. It makes a world of difference.

The Europe of 1914 had not seen a large-scale war for more than 40 years. There had been time for a romantic and unreal idea about war to be built up. The horrible calamity that war brings had grown hazy and indistinct in men's minds. Europe slid into war easily because no one really knew just what war was going to mean.

It's different now. The dictators may fume and bluster and strut, their massed troops may be cheered to the echo by hysterical throngs—but down underneath all of them know precisely what is involved. Not while the World war generation are still alive will any European nation go to war as blithely and irresponsibly as the nations went in 1914.

There is another thing—the specter of revolt, which has a way of materializing out of the smoke and darkness of a long war. No dictator wants that specter raised; no dictator can forget that war is likely to raise it. Kings and emperors lost their crowns because of the World war; would dictators be apt to fare any better in another world war? They would not—and they know it.

And if that thought holds back the dictatorships, it also holds back the democracies. For democracy, like monarchy, showed a tendency to collapse during and after the last war. It might survive another such strain and it might not. No democracy is likely to take the risk if it can possibly avoid it.

On the surface, these fears do not seem to have much effect. The Japanese are involved in war in China, and the Germans, Russians, and Italians are playing with fire in Spain. The Mediterranean "anti-piracy" naval program offers innumerable chances for war-making accidents and collisions. Warlike talk was never more common.

But down underneath there are these restraining influences—unseen but powerful. They explain why the momentous events of the last two or three years, which looked so much like war, did not actually bring war. And they give one reasonable grounds for hoping that what is happening now will not actually mean war either.

Europe simply cannot afford another war. And Europe knows it.

A BOOK REVIEW

CONFUSING, AMUSING, THIS MYSTERY TALE

Richard Hull is one writer who believes in being flippant about murder. The result is a series of mystery stories that are funny as well as puzzling; and the newest one—"The Murderers of Monty"—is one of the best of the lot.

Mr. Hull tells how three Englishmen, for a gag, form an elaborate conspiracy to pretend to murder a young chap named Monty. They let Monty in on it and he plays his part zestfully. One of the trio is to poison him, the second is to stab him, the third is to shoot him; it all looks like good, harmless fun.

But when the chosen night comes, and the three pranksters go through their appointed motions, poor Monty actually does get killed. He gets killed three times, in fact; he is poisoned, stabbed and shot. Which, of course, leaves the three conspirators in a rare fix, and leads to a neat, well-handled story of detection which will keep you guessing furiously.

Another good mystery in which murder gets flippant treatment is "The Search for My Great Uncle's Head," by Peter Coffin. In this one somebody detaches and conceals the head of a rich old curmudgeon who has invited his relatives in to hear him read his will. The will vanishes along with the head, and a bookish college professor finds himself playing the leading role. It's a good story, guaranteed to amuse as well as mystify.

"Murder of a Professor," by John Miller, is strictly serious—and somewhat pedestrian. A university professor is mysteriously slain and another professor, suspected of the deed, has to go ahead and solve it. The noteworthy part of this book is the fact that the author has discovered a brand-new way to commit murder.

PARADE OF INVISIBLE MEN

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

By O. O. MCINTYRE

Autograph pests are getting out of bounds again. For a while they seemed to have lost interest but of a sudden the craze spread with the speed of fire in dry grass. The autographists used to be gentle and politely worshipping folk, old, middle-aged and young. But now they are mostly packs of hoodlums more interested in raising Ned than getting autographs. Seeking the autograph is just an excuse for pulling the rough stuff. In several instances the police on hands have had to send in hurry calls for help.

The field day for the guild is when the Normandie or Queen Mary docks. These boats are bound to have a quota of celebrities aboard. The same thing is true when they depart. And the pier sheds become a screaming, howling crowd of toughs and roughs. Clothes are torn off victims and they are otherwise manhandled, for no reason at all save the same sadistic reason that a Hell's Kitchen gang beats up a cop. It is the meanest sort of hoodlumism and until a few are slapped in jail and kept there until their ardor cools there is not likely to be any cessation.

There was a time when there was an autograph market where a hunter could pick up a little extra change, and during the hard days of the depression celebrities were tolerant and gracious. But there is little market now save for enormously big names—such as Lindbergh, Garbo, etc. In the meantime those who gathered autographs as a pleasant hobby have all been entirely withdrawn from the endeavor. It is too strenuous.

There are not many more interesting-looking after-midnight crowds than those that gather at the midtown Automats. Few are the substantial citizens types at that hour, but they have color, animation—and laughter. They are mostly those who live rather lightly, cabaret girls and their beaux, the in-horn sports and belt-coated lads who seem to divide their time between studying the racing forms and whispering sweet nothings to high blondes. Also the floating pick-thanks who have found that after midnight is the most productive period for putting across polite little flimflams.

The Count of Covadonga and Marta Rocafort. Refuse to linger longer. On Love's unhappy shore. But I don't give a snap For their amative scrap. For Marta Rocafort. And the Count of Covadonga To everyone's bore Except the scandal monger.

Anyone who can think up an imaginary character and make him real and interesting on the radio does not have to worry about the next meal. Charlie McCarthy and Betty Lou are examples. And then there is the fellow who exists only in the mind of Lieutenant-Commander Frank V. Martinek and who has received 400,000 fan letters following his appearance on a sustaining program. Martinek first created a character for his own amusement from his experience as a naval intelligence officer. Now he is reaping the profits from a nation-wide newspaper strip, a series of boys' fiction books, and such.

Another unpleasant aroma has arisen from the heavyweight prize fighting racket. And Mike Jacobs in his new role as the new Tex Rickard is not making a pretty picture. He has a five-year contract to control the fights of Joe Louis, and for Louis to lose his crown might mean a crash in Jacobs' house of cards. Thus the promoter is duking a fight between Louis and Schmeling. Schmeling is the logical contender for the role of successful challenger—in fact in most books he is the uncrowned world's champion. Until Schmeling is given another chance at the championship, Louis is going to be a very unpopular champ.

Newly elected officers and teachers of the Sunday school of the West Monroe First Methodist church will be installed during the sermon hour beginning at 11 o'clock today.

The congregation will participate in a communion service during the morning sermon hour. The pastor, Rev. Martin Hebert, will speak on the subject, "Every Man in His Place." His sermon topic for the evening service will be "Some Questions I Would Like to Ask the Congregation."

YOUR HEALTH

By Dr. Morris Fishbein
(Editor, Journal of the American Medical Association, and of Hygiene, the Health Magazine)

The main factors in the treatment of cancer today are surgery, radium and the X-ray. The X-ray has been tremendously improved in the last 20 years and much more has been learned about radium.

Long ago it was found that the tissues which make up a cancer are more sensitive to radium and the X-ray than are normal tissues.

A surgeon may remove a cancer by use of a knife or the electric cautery or by similar methods. When he removes the cancer, he tries also to remove all of the tissue near the cancer which may have been invaded and all of the swollen glands related in any way to the growth.

The radiologist is particularly concerned with cancer of the skin and cancer of the cervix and uterus, and these methods are used also in certain tumors of the mouth, throat and larynx.

Radium has really been found to be of rather limited value in cancer of the stomach, liver, gall-bladder, pancreas, kidney and intestines.

The dangerous methods of treatment include ointments, plasters or massage. Ointments containing caustic drugs may damage the neighboring tissues and make them more susceptible to cancer. Massage or any rough manipulation may help to spread a tumor throughout the body. Diets, drugs, glances, serums, colored lights and similar methods also have been used without any real success.

It has been rather well established that neither worry nor cheerfulness can control the cause or disappearance of a cancer in any way. It is not possible to cause a cancer to disappear by adopting a cheerful attitude toward it.

Chief danger of attempting to treat a serious condition by mental methods is the possibility of overlooking any possible chance that exists for treatment with well established scientific methods.

RATE REGULATION FOR RADIOS SOUGHT

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2.—(P)—Frank McNinch, new chairman of the communications commission, indicated today he would seek legislation to bring radio rates under commission regulation.

"I question the wisdom of any policy which would leave free from regulations charges made by public utilities," he told his first press conference in his new capacity.

Previously he had declared that radio was a public utility.

McNinch asserted his policy would be one open at all times to the public.

"My own conscience and judgment shall be my only guide," he said. "I shall do what I can to prevent or break up any trafficking, if any, in broadcast licenses."

LEGION MEMBERS TO MEET MONDAY NIGHT

C. B. Braun, adjutant of the local American Legion post, yesterday announced a regular meeting of that organization for Monday night at 8 o'clock at the legion home in Forsythe park.

Final plans for the membership drive will be discussed and committees appointed to start the campaign at once. The drive will be continued until November 11, Adjutant Braun said.

Reports on the past national American Legion convention held in New York City will be made at the meeting.

The United States paid Panama $10,000,000 for the Canal Zone rights, but this does not include an annual rental of $250,000.

BEHIND THE SCENES IN WASHINGTON

By Rodney Dutcher

WASHINGTON—Members of the house, 435 of them, and 30-odd senators will be up for renomination and reelection next year. Most of them are home checking on their chances. Some have to worry as to where campaign cash is coming from and some do not.

Millions of dollars presumably will be spent on primary and election expenses and a complete accounting of the money received and paid out—while never will be available—would provide a comprehensive and amazing inside picture of American politics.

This article pretends to shed no more than a small ray of light. The writer happened to be with a congressman of the more honest type who was musing over a batch of cancelled checks arising from his campaign for renomination in 1936. He had spent about $5,000 on getting renominated; re-election was no problem.

Legal Limits Seldom Bother

This congressman says legal expense limits seldom bother anyone in hot fights where special interests are putting up large sums for one man or the other. He spent mostly his own money, plus numerous contributions from friends. The regular party machine was against him.

The checks, he explained, were drawn under two or three names "so the banks wouldn't know too much." There was a check of around $600 to the postmaster for postage stamps and one of $500 representing a gift to the state Democratic party such was expected of congressmen as seemed the better part of wisdom.

Checks amounted to about $125 in telephone service, including long distance calls. The congressman explained that there are "lots of things you have to say to people that can't be put on paper." And a contribution check of $200 to the Democratic national committee.

Then some $5 and $10 checks for "social clubs," similar organizations, dances, programs and things the congressman called "rackets."

Sweeten Ex-Servicemen Vote

Tens of thousands of copies of the congressman's speeches from the government printing office in Washington ran to $303.34. Other printing jobs—circulars, handbills, and the like—"at extra high rates for political stuff," grumbled the congressman—were paid for by checks amounting to $80.

About $150 was given to veterans' organizations and magazines to sweeten the ex-servicemen vote. Advertising in a Catholic newspaper cost $37, in a German language weekly $65, and an Italian newspaper $45. A labor newspaper got $100 and another foreign paper $50. There was $50 for newspaper advertising run to $195.50. Stenographic and headquarters help cost $44.

The biggest check was to the Democratic county chairman, required to help pay primary election costs. In many congressional districts, the congressman, says, this is considerable sum "shortly" by a favored candidate from public utility interests.

Not Too Many Checks

"Here's one for $75 to cash which I've forgotten about," the congressman went on. "And $29.56 to the telephone company and the checks show $450 for some 15-minute radio speeches. Here's $65 for an alleged precinct worker, really a bribe to keep him from selling me out."

Here's $550 which went for primary day incidentals, and I remember we used about $500 in cash at the same time. Here's another check that was to pay up various campaign debts—$125, so we wouldn't have too many checks. Here's $500 to an independent political organization which I set up. And a lot of checks of $50 or so to my secretary so he could disburse cash.

"Here's one for $500 that you could say was for stealing or buying votes if you wanted to. It cost that much just to make sure that one election judge stayed honest. Then there are some checks for $125 to certain key political workers. My opponent was paying them $500 apiece, but they knew I didn't have much money. Draw your own moral. This congressman has a good reputation for integrity, here and at home."

DISTRICT BAPTIST MEETING ATTENDED BY 250 DELEGATES

CLARKS, La., Oct. 2.—(Special)—C. C. Sheppard, president and general manager of the Louisiana Central Lumber company, yesterday addressed the delegates at the opening session of the eleventh meeting of the Caldwell Baptist association, held at the Clark's Baptist church. The response was made by Dr. J. V. Tinnin, editor of "The Baptist Message."

More than 250 persons were present as representatives from the following Baptist churches: Antioch, Bethany, Columbia, Cross Roads, Cypress, Fellowship, Grayson, Kelly, Little Star, Mount Pleasant, New Church, Palestine and Clarke.

Officers elected to preside during the meetings were: E. B. Cottingham, moderator, to succeed the Rev. Paul Jones of Clarke; G. W. Wall, vice-moderator; C. C. Wilson, clerk and treasurer; and C. W. Williams, secretary of the executive board.

In addition to the address of welcome and the response, other addresses were: "Christian Education," Dr. Claybrook Cottingham, president of Louisiana college; "Christian Literature," Dr. J. V. Tinnin, editor of "The Baptist Message"; "The One Hundred Thousand club," C. W. Williams; "Brotherhood," J. W. James of Columbia; "The Children's Home," B. F. Wallace of Monroe; "Temperance and Social Service," E. M. Daffin of Olla; "Every Member a Candidate," J. D. Kitchenham of Columbia; "Our Hospitals," Mrs. E. M. Daffin; "Our Obligations," J. A. Warner of Grayson; and "Missionary Sermon," Dr. A. E. Prience and Dr. John Hooks.

L. S. U. SCORES 9-0 VICTORY OVER TEXAS TEAM

The PAYOFF

Joe McCarthy likes fried chicken, black cigars, detective stories, magicians, a pint of ice cream in bed at night, and victory.

The boss man of the Yankees is the only man ever to manage pennant-winning teams in both major leagues. And he's one of the few ever to get into college without first going through the formality of a high school course.

Joe got as far as the eighth grade back home in the Germantown, Pa., parochial school, worked on an ice wagon, dug some ditches for the next couple of years, and then suddenly turned up at Niagara university. . . . "I don't know how it happened," says Joe, "but there I was in college."

At the university, Joe was an apt pupil of penmanship, clock-winding, and the ukulele. He had no trouble at all winning his varsity degree at second base.

Music And Stage
Joe will be 30 next April 21, but he doesn't look it. He's Irish on both sides of the family and most certainly does look it. He has black hair, flashing brown eyes, a mouth that can be both kind and harsh, and a jutting jaw.

His hobbies are music, the theater, movies, ice skating, and vaudeville. He and the missus go skating every morning while wintering at their home in Buffalo.

He knows the names and routines of most of the vaudeville boys and girls. He has a good tenor voice and likes to sing informally. His best friend is George M. Cohan, of whom you may have heard.

George, by the way, committed heresy in taking up with McCarthy. You see, for 25 years or more, George had been the "Giant" No. 1 fan. But when McGraw went and McCarthy came Cohan crossed the creek from the Polo Grounds to the Yankee stadium.

Served Seven Minors
The Yankee boss played his first game of baseball 36 years ago when he was 14. The story is a section of the historic Revolutionary war battle-field at Germantown.

He played with seven minor league teams. In the winter of 1915 he signed with the Brooklyn of the Federal league but the outfit loop blew up. That was the closest McCarthy got to playing in the big leagues. He just couldn't hit hard enough, nor field well enough, although he tried himself at second, third, short, and in the outfield.

But his shrewdness and managerial talents were recognized early and as long ago as 1913 he was manager as well as second baseman of the Wilkes-Barre team in the New York State league.

McCarthy is no Prussian officer type of manager but he does expect his players to take orders and keep in shape. "You can have a drink, or two, or three," says McCarthy, "but don't ever let your conduct off the field be a matter of interest to me, or concern to the ball club, or discussion among the fans."

Wise, and well-said. . . .

He's Great Worrier
He has an uncanny ability to size up men and figure out how's best to handle each. . . . one man must be treated roughly, one must be given sympathy, one must be laughed at, and one must be fired.

He never bawls a player out in public. He prefers to wait until the next day at noon when the players begin to gather at the park and take the errand fellow aside and talk to him privately. Tempers have cooled then and you won't be so liable to blurt out things you'll regret later on.

He's a great worrier. He likes victory by huge margins. A lead is never too big. Perhaps he is still living that horrible inning when, as manager of the Chicago Cubs, he saw the Philadelphia Athletics score 10 runs in the seventh inning of the last game of the 1929 world series to win 10-8.

Joe takes the ball game home to bed with him at night. After a bad game, he doesn't go to sleep until dawn peeps. Some of his important decisions are made at 4 and 5 a. m.

He's a great one for playing hunches. He's cordial but rather close-mouthed to newspapermen and doesn't like the spotlight. He has saved his money until he's rated the wealthiest manager—aside from Connie Mack, in the game.

And unquestionably, he's the most unappreciated manager in baseball.

KENTUCKY SCORES CLOSE WIN OVER XAVIER, 6 TO 0

CINCINNATI, Oct. 2.—(AP)—Scoring the only touchdown of the game in the final quarter, on a 27-yard pass after repeated futile attempts, the University of Kentucky Wildcats defeated the Xavier university Musketeers 6 to 0 here today.

Bob Davis hurled a long pass to Robinson for the counter with a few minutes to play.

Kentucky was all but over the line when the game ended. The march through Musketeer territory started when Hodge ran for a 13-yard gain at left tackle and another plunge to the 17-yard line for a first down. Bob Davis then went through center to the nine yard stripe and a Xavier penalty brought the ball to the four-yard line. D. Davis brought the ball within one yard of another counter but Hodge failed to put it over on the fourth down.

Xavier was repeatedly penalized for holding and calling time out, being set back 17 yards while Kentucky was penalized 40 yards.

CHOUDRANT AGGIES WIN FROM HICO ELEVEN, 26-0

CHOUDRANT, La., Oct. 2.—(Special)—The Choudrant Aggies won their second game of the season Friday when they defeated the Hico eleven, 26 to 0. Last week the Aggies played Haughton here and won, 26 to 6. Coach Willis has another good team and is well pleased with the work of the Aggies so far this season.

MEMPHIS HOST TO U. S. WOMEN'S GOLF TOURNAMENT

Field Of 136 Entries To Seek Crown In 'Wide Open' Battle For Title

By Kenneth Gregory

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Oct. 2.—(AP)—America's fairway queens, ranging from girls in the teens to a galaxy of veteran links stars, invaded "Memphis on the Mississippi" today for the southland's first National Golf championship.

In this southern atmosphere the field of 136 entries representing 32 states and Ireland will trek to the starting tee Monday morning. Among the favored players are several southern threats who will seek to give Dixie its first crown since Atlanta's Alexa Stirling won her third title in a row in 1920.

The outlook for sunshine following a drizzle Saturday night that held down practice rounds was expected to provide a fine setting for the start of the 41st annual tournament. Speculation was rife as to the eventual survivor of the six rounds of match play.

The immediate object of the field was to survive the gruelling "card and pencil" qualifying test of 18 holes over the deceptive 6,440-yard layout of the Memphis country club. The low 64 scores make up the championship list for match play.

"Why I don't believe I ever saw a field so wide open," suggested Mrs. Willard P. Sullivan of Ashland, Va., national chairman. "The gate is wide open to a dozen or more. It's hard to say who will win it. I like Marion Miley of Cincinnati. She's played well on this course."

A defending champion will be lacking since Fan Barton, the attractive British girl who won both the domestic and Great Britain crowns a year ago, failed to enter. She lost her homeland title recently.

The 64 low scores will graduate in an opening round of 32 duels. There were guesses that there would be a playoff at scores of 89 to determine some of the championship places. Veterans forecast a par round of 79 would win medalist honors, annexed last year at Canoe Brook, N. J., with a 78 by Mrs. Estelle Lawson Page of Chapel Hill, N. C.

Mrs. Glenna Collett Vare of Philadelphia, six times former champion, who insisted she was playing "just for the fun of it," and Marion Hollister of Santa Cruz, Calif., made up the list of former winners who will seek the big cup in a field glistening with America's youthful forces.

The women have played well in warm-up rounds, especially Miss Miley who holds the course record at 78, and Clara Callender of Del Monte, Calif., who fired a neat 74 Friday afternoon.

Other notables entered include Patty Berg, the freckle-faced "kid" from Minneapolis who was beaten in the finals two years ago by Mrs. Vare; Dorothy Kirby, 17-year-old Southern champion from Atlanta; Mrs. Opal Hill of Kansas City; Mrs. Page, runner-up in the Southern; Maureen Orcutt, who was beaten by Miss Barton in the finals last year; Kathryn Hemphill of Columbia, S. C., a 1936 semi-finalist, and Clarrie Tierman, Irish and Jersey State champion.

Some observers emphatically suggested the player to watch is Beatrice (Beat) Barrett, the long-knocking threat from Minnetonka Beach, Minn. The Minnetonka reached the fourth round a year ago, losing to Miss Barton.

Betty Jameson of Dallas, Tex., Mrs. Jane Cochran Jameson of Greenville, S. C., Mrs. William E. Shephard of Los Angeles, Mrs. Dan Chandler of Dallas, Jean Bauer of East Providence, R. I., and Dorothy Traugott of San Francisco, Calif., are among other potential threats.

DIXIE SERIES RESUMED AT FORT WORTH TODAY

FORT WORTH, Tex., Oct. 2.—(AP)—The Dixie series moves into Fort Worth tomorrow and a reception awaited it that was reminiscent of the "good old days" when the Cats ruled the Texas league with monotonous regularity and won seven of their eight encounters with the champions of the Southern association.

The Texas league champions squared the series at one game each last night in Little Rock when Ed Selway hurled them to a five-hit, 3-0 triumph. Little Rock had knocked out Jackie Reid, and Clyde Smoll in the opener to win by 10-0.

The first game shellacking apparently did not hurt the Cats. They came back last night to play sparkling ball.

SECOND QUARTER BREAK WINS FOR VISITING ELEVEN

Darling Fumbles Ball And Is Tackled Behind Goal Line For Only Score

By George V. Lofton

TECH STADIUM, RUSTON, La., Oct. 2.—Playing on a field that had been soaked by 12 hours of rain, Louisiana Tech dropped a heart-breaking 2-0 decision to Illinois Wesleyan here today before a homecoming crowd that braved the element to watch the Bulldogs attempt to score their third victory over the Titan eleven.

Instead, they saw Don Darling fumble a pass from center while standing in his end zone in the second quarter. Darling picked up the ball and made a valiant effort to reach the playing field but two Wesleyan players stopped him, and the Titans scored a safety, enough to win the ball game then and there.

The slippery ball, as well as the slippery going underfoot, made straight football the only safe method of attack. Tech tried 11 passes and completed three but three were intercepted to halt what might have been a Bulldog scoring threat. Wesleyan attempted only six passes, completed two and had one intercepted.

The wet ball, however, didn't seem to handicap the kickers. Don Wiley and Darling, for Tech, and Kaska for Wesleyan waged a stirring punting duel, with honors about even. Wiley yardage had the edge early in the game but Kaska got just a bit more yardage than Darling. Of course, there were a few poor boots but as a rule the kickers got exceptional yardage, considering the weather conditions.

There were few scoring threats, other than that caused by the one "break" of the game. The teams were evenly matched on the wet field and it should have been a scoreless draw. Tech was outplayed in the second

TULANE-AUBURN GAME POSTPONED

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 2.—(AP)—Almost unprecedented rainfall caused the postponement of the scheduled Tulane-Auburn football game here today. It was the first time in many years that conditions warranted such action.

The playing field was nearly three feet under water and after hurried conferences between officials of the two schools it was decided to put the game over until 2:30 p.m. Monday. Jack Meagher, coach of Auburn, after consulting with Dr. L. D. Duncan, president of Alabama Polytechnic, agreed to hold his players over.

Extra pumps will be put into operation if necessary to get the water off the field in time for the game, Tulane officials announced.

Sheets of water falling throughout the night and morning turned the up-town section in the vicinity of the stadium into ponds and tides of water that blocked approach from all sides. Coaches and athletic officials held consultations throughout the morning with the weather man and the city sewerage and water board but could obtain little relief that the field could be gotten into condition to play.

Coach Meagher conferred with Dr. Smith and agreed to hold his team over in New Orleans to play the game on Monday, if necessary, and finally it was agreed to definitely defer the game.

It was the first postponement of a football game because of the weather that New Orleans remembered in recent years.

The wet ball, however, didn't seem to handicap the kickers. Don Wiley and Darling, for Tech, and Kaska for Wesleyan waged a stirring punting duel, with honors about even. Wiley yardage had the edge early in the game but Kaska got just a bit more yardage than Darling. CENTENARY NOSES OUT S. M. U., 7-6

Mustangs Miss Several Opportunities To Score And Gents Win

DALLAS, Oct. 2.—(AP)—Centenary's Gentlemen showed the Southern Methodist Mustangs about the Cotton Bowl today, winning 7 to 6 over a team which dozed through several opportunities.

The invaders from Shreveport had the advantage throughout the contest which was drab until the early part of the third period.

In that period Bynum hurled a long aerial to Huddleston on the S. M. U. 43. Two plays carried to the 7 and Stone, a replacement, went over through the line. Clark kicked the extra point that proved the victory margin.

Midway of the fourth S. M. U.'s air attack finally clicked. Crouch took Jack Morrison's short pass on the enemy 20 and eased over untouched.

Encouraged by visions of victory, the Mustangs fired steadily from above but the long heaves of Morrison, son of Ray Morrison, former S. M. U. coach, were batted down by opponents. Four went incomplete just as the game ended.

ROHM RACES 59 YARDS FOR ONLY SCORE OF GAME

Tigers Add Safety In Third Period To Beat Longhorns In Muddy Battle

By Norman Walker

BATON ROUGE, La., Oct. 2.—(AP)—Louisiana State university sloshed a great football team through the mud tonight to wreak revenge on the University of Texas, 9 to 0.

The victory more than counter-balanced last season's 7-1 tie—only blot on an otherwise perfect collegiate record.

Rain held the Longhorn speed down like a motor governor and Louisiana State outpowered Texas with a crushing attack.

The game's only touchdown came near the end of the first period, when Charlie Hiss punted, sensationally from behind his goal to the L. S. U. 41-yard line where "Pinky" Rohm took in the ball and dashed down the sidelines through the entire Longhorn team for the score. Milner kicked the extra point after Texas was offside on a first attempt.

L. S. U. gained an additional two points in the third quarter when Bryan, substitute "Texas" halfback, fumbled a pass from center behind his goal for an automatic safety.

Inspired defensively and blocking with unexpected precision, Louisiana State turned in a brilliant game that put Texas on the defensive during most of the play.

Fumbles were frequent on the rain-soaked field. The downpour came in sheets at the opening kickoff but tapered off to a drizzle during the second half.

Three times Texas came within scoring distance only to be held for downs. The Longhorns' most serious scoring threat came just before the final whistle after Peterson, who turned in a splendid defensive game, blocked an L. S. U. punt on the Tigers' 26. The Texas attack bogged down and they gave up the ball on downs with lost ground.

Rohm and Bryan gave a dazzling punting exhibition considering the

L. S. U. SCORES 9-0 VICTORY OVER TEXAS TEAM

The PAYOFF

Joe McCarthy likes fried chicken, black cigars, detective stories, magicians, a pint of ice cream in bed at night, and victory.

The boss man of the Yankees is the only man ever to manage pennant-winning teams in both major leagues. And he's one of the few ever to get into college without first going through the formality of a high school course.

Joe got as far as the eighth grade back home in the Germantown, Pa., parochial school, worked on an ice wagon, dug some ditches for the next couple of years, and then suddenly turned up at Niagara university. "I don't know how it happened," says Joe, "but there I was in college."

At the university, Joe was an apt pupil of penmanship, clock-winding, and the ukulele. He had no trouble at all winning his varsity degree at second base.

Music And Stage
Joe will be 50, come next April 21, but he doesn't look it. He's a fish on both sides of the family and most certainly does not look it. He has black hair, flashing brown eyes, a mouth that can be both kind and harsh, and a jutting jaw.

His hobbies are music, the theater, movies, ice skating, and vaudeville. He and the missus go skating every morning while wintering at their home in Buffalo.

He knows the names and routines of most of the vaudeville boys and girls. He has a good tenor voice and likes to sing informally. His best friend is George M. Cohan, of whom you may have heard.

George, by the way, committed heresy in taking up with McCarthy. You see, for 25 years or more, George had been the Giants' No. 1 fan. But when McGraw went and McCarthy came Cohan crossed the creek from the Polo Grounds to the Yankee stadium.

Served Seven Minors
The Yankee boss played his first game of baseball 36 years ago when he was 14. The site was a section of the historic Revolutionary war battlefield at Germantown.

He played in seven minor league teams. In the winter of 1915 he signed with the Brooklyn Dodgers of the Federal league but the deal blew up. That was the closest McCarthy got to playing in the big leagues. He just couldn't hit hard enough, nor field well enough, although he tried himself at second, third, short, and in the outfield.

But his shrewdness and managerial talents were recognized early on as long ago as 1913 he was manager as well as second baseman of the Wilkes-Barre team in the New York State league.

McCarthy is no Prussian officer type of manager but he does expect his players to take order, and keep in shape. "You can't be a drink, or two, or three," says McCarthy, "but don't ever let your conduct off the field be a matter of interest to me, or concern to the ball club, or discussion among the fans."

Wise, and well-said. . .

He's Great Worrier
He has an uncanny ability to size up men and figure out how's best to handle each. . . one man must be treated roughly, one must be given sympathy, one must be laughed at—and one must be fired.

He never bawls a player out in public. He prefers to wait until the next day at noon when the players begin to gather at the park and take the errand fellow aside and talk to him privately. Tempers have cooled then and you won't be so liable to blurt out things you'll regret later on.

Joe takes the ball game home to bed with him at night. After a bad game, he deems it his duty to sleep until dawn. Some of his important decisions are made at 4 and 5 a. m.

He's a great one for playing hunches. Is cordial but rather close-mouthed to newspapermen, doesn't like the spotlight, has saved his money until he's rated the wealthiest manager—aside from Connie Mack, in the game.

And unquestionably, he's the most unappreciated manager in baseball.

KENTUCKY SCORES CLOSE WIN OVER XAVIER, 6 TO 0

CINCINNATI, Oct. 2.—(AP)—Scoring the only touchdown of the game in the final quarter, on a 27-yard pass after repeated futile attempts, the University of Kentucky Wildcats defeated the Xavier university Musketeers 6 to 0 here today.

Bob Davis hurled a long pass to Robinson for the counter with a few minutes to play.

Kentucky was all but over the line when the game ended. The march through Musketeer territory started when Hodge ran for a 15-yard gain at left tackle and another plunge to the 17-yard line for a first down. Bob Davis then went through center to the nine yard stripe and a Xavier penalty brought the ball to the four-yard line. D. Davis brought the ball within one yard of another counter but Hodge failed to put it over on the fourth down.

Xavier was repeatedly penalized for holding and calling time out, being set back 77 yards while Kentucky was penalized 40 yards.

MEMPHIS HOST TO U. S. WOMEN'S GOLF TOURNAMENT

By Kenneth Gregory
MEMPHIS, Tenn., Oct. 2.—(AP)—America's fairway queens, ranging from girls in the 'teens to a galaxy of veteran links stars, invaded "Memphis on the Mississippi" today for the southland's first National Golf championship.

In this southern atmosphere the field of 136 entries representing 32 states and Ireland will trek to the starting tee Monday morning. Among the favored players are several southern threats who will seek to give Dixie its first crown since Atlanta's Alexa Stirling won her third title in a row in 1920.

The outlook for sunshine following a drizzling Saturday rain that held down practice rounds was expected to provide a fine setting for the start of the first annual tournament. Speculation was rife as to the eventual survivor of the six rounds of match play.

The immediate object of the field was to survive the grueling "card and pencil" qualifying test of 18 holes over the deceptive 6,400-yard layout of the Memphis Country club. The low 64 scores make up the championship list for match play.

"Why I don't believe I ever saw a field so wide open," suggested Mrs. Willard P. Sullivan of Ashland, Va., national chairman. "The gate is wide open to a dozen or more. It's hard to say who will win it. I like Marion Miley of Cincinnati. She's played well on this course."

A defending champion will be lacking since Pan Barton, the attractive British girl who won both the domestic and Great Britain crowns a year ago, failed to enter. She lost her home title recently.

The 64 low scores will graduate in an opening round of 32 duels. There were guesses that there would be a playoff at scores of 89 to determine some of the championship places. Veterans forecast a par round of 79 would win medalist honors, annexed last year at Canoe Brook, N. J., with a 78 by Mrs. Estelle Lawson Page of Chapel Hill, N. C.

Mrs. Glenna Collett Vare of Philadelphia, six times former champion, who insisted she was playing "just for the fun of it," and Marion Hollins of Santa Cruz, Calif., made up the list of former winners who will seek the big cup in a field glistening with America's youthful forces.

The women have played well in warm-up rounds, especially Miss Miley who holds the course record at 78, and Clara Callender of Del Monte, Calif., who fired a neat 74 Friday afternoon.

Other notables entered include Patty Berg, the freckle-faced "kid" from Minneapolis who was beaten in the finals two years ago by Mrs. Vare; Dorothy Kirby, 17-year-old Southern champion from Atlanta; Mrs. Opal Hill of Kansas City; Mrs. Page, runner-up in the Southern; Maureen Orcutt, who was beaten by Miss Barton in the finals last year; Kathryn Hemphill of Columbia, S. C., a 1936 semi-finalist; and Clara Hixson, Irish and Jersey State champion.

Some observers emphatically suggested the player to watch is Beatrice (Bea) Barrett, the long-knocking threat from Minnetonka Beach, Minn. The Minnetonka reached the fourth round a year ago, losing to Miss Barton.

Betty Jackson of Dallas, Tex., Mrs. Jane Cothran Jameson of Greenville, S. C., Mrs. William E. Shepherd of Los Angeles, Mrs. Dan Chandler of Dallas, Jean Bauer of East Providence, R. I., and Doroth Traugott of San Francisco, Calif., are among other potential threats.

DIXIE SERIES RESUMED AT FORT WORTH TODAY

FORT WORTH, Tex., Oct. 2.—(AP)—The Dixie series moves into Fort Worth tomorrow and a reception awaited it that was reminiscent of the "good old days," when the Cats ruled the Texas league with monotonous regularity and won seven of their eight encounters with the champions of the Southern association.

The Texas league champions squared the series at one game each last night in Little Rock when Ed Selway hurled them to a five-hit, 3-0 triumph. Little Rock had knocked out Jackie Reid, and Clyde Smoll in the opener to win by 10-0.

The first game shelling apparently did not hurt the Cats. They came back last night to play sparkling ball.

SECOND QUARTER BREAK WINS FOR VISITING ELEVEN

Darling Fumbles Ball And Is Tackled Behind Goal Line For Only Score

By George V. Lofton
(Sports Editor of The World)
TECH STADIUM, RUSTON, La., Oct. 2.—Playing on a field that had been soaked by 12 hours of rain, Louisiana Tech dropped a heart-breaking 2-0 decision to Illinois Wesleyan here today before a homecoming crowd that braved the element to watch the Bulldogs attempt to score their third victory over the Titan eleven.

Instead, they saw Don Darling fumble a pass from center while standing in his end zone in the second quarter. Darling picked up the ball and made a valiant effort to reach the playing field but two Wesleyan players stopped him, and the Titans scored a safety, enough to win the ball game then and there.

The slippery ball, as well as the slippery going underfoot, made straight football the only safe method of attack. Tech tried 11 passes and completed three but three were intercepted to halt what might have been a Bulldog scoring threat. Wesleyan attempted only six passes, completed two and had one intercepted.

The wet ball, however, didn't seem to handicap the kickers. Don Wiley and Darling, for Tech, and Kaska for Wesleyan waged a stirring punting duel, with honors about even. Wiley perhaps had the edge early in the game but Kaska got just a bit more yardage than Darling. Of course, there were a few poor boots but as a rule the kickers got exceptional yardage, considering the weather conditions.

There were few scoring threats, other than that caused by the one "break" of the game. The teams were evenly matched on the wet field and it should have been a scoreless draw. Tech was outplayed in the second quarter.

SEWANEE BACK SUFFERS SEVERE BRAIN INJURY

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Oct. 2.—(AP)—Hospital attaches said tonight M. F. Jackson, 165-pound Sewanee halfback, was suffering concussion of the brain after being injured in the second quarter of the Alabama-Sewanee football game here.

He was carried from the field unconscious and regained consciousness in the hospital.

Jackson was injured when he tackled Gene Gregory, Alabama end, as the latter returned a punt.

TULANE-AUBURN GAME POSTPONED

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 2.—(AP)—Almost unprecedented rainfall caused the postponement of the scheduled Tulane-Auburn football game here today. It was the first time in many years that conditions warranted such action.

The playing field was nearly three feet under water and after hurried conferences between officials of the two schools it was decided to put the game over until 2:30 p.m. Monday.

Jack Meagher, coach of Auburn, after consulting with Dr. L. D. Duncan, president of Alabama Polytechnic, agreed to hold his players over.

Extra pumps will be put into operation if necessary to get the water off the field in time for the game, Tulane officials announced.

Sheets of water falling throughout the right and morning turned the up-town section in the vicinity of the stadium into ponds and tides of water that blocked approach from all sides.

Coaches and athletic officials held consultations throughout the morning with the weather man and the city sewerage and water board but could obtain little relief that the field could be gotten into condition to play.

Coch Meagher conferred with Dr. Smith and agreed to hold his team over in New Orleans to play the game on Monday, if necessary, and finally it was agreed to definitely defer the game.

It was the first postponement of a football game because of the weather that New Orleans remembered in recent years.

Mustangs Miss Several Opportunities To Score And Gents Win

DALLAS, Oct. 2.—(AP)—Centenary's Gentlemen showed the Southern Methodist Mustangs about the Cotton Bowl today, winning 7 to 6 over a team which dozed through several opportunities.

The invaders from Shreveport had the advantage throughout the contest which was drab until the early part of the third period.

In that period Bynum hurled a long aerial to Huddleston on the S. M. U. 43. Two plays carried to the 7 and Stone, a replacement, went over through the line. Clark kicked the extra point that proved the victory margin.

Midway of the fourth S. M. U.'s air attack finally clicked. Crouch took Jack Morrison's short pass on the enemy 20 and eased over untouched.

Encouraged by visions of victory, the Mustangs fired steadily from above but the long heaves of Morrison, son of Ray Morrison, former S. M. U. coach, were batted down by opponents. Four went incomplete just as the game ended.

Tigers Add Safety In Third Period To Beat Longhorns In Muddy Battle

By Norman Walker
BATON ROUGE, La., Oct. 2.—(AP)—Louisiana State university sloshed a great football team through the mud tonight to wrack revenge on the University of Texas, 9 to 0.

The victory more than counter-balanced last season's 1-7 tie-only blot on an otherwise perfect collegiate record.

Rain held the Longhorn speed down like a motor governor and Louisiana State outpowered Texas with a crushing attack.

The game's only touchdown came near the end of the first period, Texas' Charlie Hoas punted sensationally from behind his goal to the L. S. U. 43-yard line where "Pinkie" Rohm took in the ball and dashed down the sidelines through the entire Longhorn team for the score. Milner kicked the extra point after Texas was offside on a first attempt.

L. S. U. gained an additional two points in the third quarter when Bryan, substitute Texas halfback, fumbled a pass from center behind his goal for an automatic safety.

Inspired defensively and blocking with unexpected precision, Louisiana State turned in a brilliant game that put Texas on the defensive during most of the play.

Fumbles were frequent on the rain-soaked field. The downpour came in sheets at the opening kickoff by Texas and turned off to a drizzle during the second half.

Three times Texas came within scoring distance only to be held to downs. The Longhorns' most serious scoring threat came just before the final whistle after Peterson, who turned in a splendid defensive game blocked an L. S. U. punt on the 16 yard line. The Texas attack bogged down and they gave up the ball on downs with last ground.

Rohm and Bryan gave a dazzling punting exhibition considering the conditions.

NEBRASKA'S WIN HOLDS SPOTLIGHT IN GRID WARFARE

Ohio State's First Big Ten Victory, Washington's Triumph Outstanding

By Herbert W. Barker
NEW YORK, Oct. 2.—(AP)—Nebraska's football team, which defeated Minnesota's mighty football team today as Cornell re-emphasized its smashing comeback in the east, Ohio State vaulted its first Big Ten hurdle and Washington nipped Southern California's hopes of a Pacific Coast title before they got past the line of scrimmage.

Odyssey favorite to steam-roller the Cornhuskers into submission, Minnesota's Gophers were toppled in a bruising game with DePaul, as sharp-shooting Harris Andrews fired a touchdown pass to "Wild Bill" Calahan in the fourth quarter for the winning margin.

There have been few, if any, greater surprises in recent football history. Boasting what appeared to be greatest crew of backs in the country, Minnesota looked like a "cinch" over a Nebraska outfit lacking Sam Francis and Lloyd Cardwell and operating under a new coach, Lawrence (Biff) Jones.

Cornell amazed the football world with a 40-7 conquest of Colgate's Red Raiders. It was the worst defeat Colgate had suffered since the advent in 1920 of Head Coach Andy Kerr. Brud Holland, negro end, scored three touchdowns, all in the final quarter.

Ohio State, continuing its "safe and sure" offensive tactics, simply played too much fundamental football for Purdue and won, 13-0. Intercepted passes led to both Buckeye touchdowns.

Capitalizing on a Southern California fumble in the opening period, Washington's Huskies, 1936 champions of the Pacific coast, hung on thereafter to win, 7-0, before a crowd of 65,000.

There were few other surprises on the day's program although Bob Zuppke's Illinois outfit, with Notre Dame next on the list, got no better than a scoreless draw with DePaul, Arkansas, defending Southwest champion, was deadlocked at 7-7 by Texas Christian, Southern Methodist was nosed out by Centenary, 7-6, and Stanford, with several of its outstanding axes still out with injuries, bowed to Oregon by the same count.

Notre Dame, with the Irish, for once, in the starting roles, got away to an auspicious start with a 21-0 conquest of Drake. The day's biggest crowd, 71,300, saw Michigan's Wolverines drop a thrill-packed decision to Michigan State, 19-14, as the Spartan passing combination of Johnny Pingel and Ole Nelson clicked twice.

Wisconsin, well on the road back toward the top, tripped Marquette, 21-0, while Northwestern romped through Iowa State, 33-0. Kentucky barely got past Xavier of Cincinnati, 6-0.

The east finished with a big edge in intercollegiate play for the day. Manhattan dropped a 14-7 decision to Texas A. and M.; Boston college outplayed Kansas State, 21-7; Army turned back Clemson, 21-6; Princeton's inexperienced array outpointed Virginia, 26-0; Catholic earned a 14-0 verdict over Loyola of New Orleans; Penn turned in a 28-21 victory over Maryland; Navy came with a second-half rush to trounce Citadel, 32-0, and Rutgers whipped Hampden-Sydney, 20-0.

There wasn't the semblance of an upset in the south as Duke won from Davidson, 34-6; North Carolina whipped North Carolina State, 20-0; Vanderbilt tripped Chicago, 18-0; Georgia nipped South Carolina, 13-7, and Tennessee romped through Virginia Tech, 27-0.

Oklahoma gave the Big Six an unexpected triumph by stopping Rice, 6-0, but Missouri disappointed in a 14-8 defeat by Colorado at Boulder. California's Golden Bears crushed Oregon State, 24-0, and looked like the team the rest of the coast conference will have to beat. Washington State turned back Idaho, 13-0.

According to the Government Health Bulletin No. E-28, at least 50% of the adult population of the United States are being attacked by the disease known as Athlete's Foot.

Usually the disease starts between the toes. Little watery blisters form, and the skin cracks and peels. After a while, the itching becomes intense, and you feel as though you would like to scratch off all the skin.

VANDY TROUNCES CHICAGO, 18 TO 0

Commodores Use Straight Running Attack To Trim Sluggish Maroons

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Oct. 2.—(AP)—Vanderbilt university, using a straight running attack and scarcely any passes, breezed through the University of Chicago, 18 to 0, this afternoon on rain-drenched Dudley field before 5,000 spectators.

The Chicago team, playing its first game of the season, lacked the precision and manpower to equal the Commodore ground game and the downpour in which the engagement was played annulled whatever chances the Maroons might have had in the air.

Bert Marshall, sophomore quarterback who grabbed the spotlight in the Vandy opener last week, gave way today to senior field general, Jimmy Huggins, who scored twice and was a constant threat to the Maroons with his hip-swinging runs.

Huggins gave Vanderbilt its first score midway in the opening period after Fitzgerald, Chicago end, had punted out of bounds on his own 38-yard line.

Plunkett picked up nine yards over left tackle and Ford added another for a first down on the 28. Huggins rammed through left tackle and cut back behind murderous blocking and ran across the goal line untouched.

In the second period when Marshall was in for Huggins he started another touchdown drive with a 22-yard run to the 10-yard line. Marshall slipped around right end for the score. Ray's placekick was low.

The final score came in the third period when Huggins again in the spotlight. Little Jimmy and Hardy Housman, sophomore fullback, carried the ball seven times for a total of 56 yards. Huggins stepping across the double stripes on a 9-yard trip through right tackle. Housman's placekick never got off the ground.

The Maroons, showing the usual sluggishness of any team in its first game, threatened seldom. In the first period Fitzgerald punted to the Vandy 24 where clipping was called on a Commodore ball going to the visitors at that point.

But a pass and three running plays failed to dent the Vandy defense and the ball went over. Later in the game the Maroons drove to around mid-field several times but could progress little further.

COLUMBIA ELEVEN WINS FROM FERRIDAY, 13 TO 6

COLUMBIA, La., Oct. 2.—(Special)—Columbia's Crimson Tide defeated the Ferriday Bulldogs, 13 to 6, here yesterday to win their first battle of the season in their Class B conference campaign. The Tide will rest this week with an open date for the coming week-end.

Joe May, Columbia back, accounted for both Tide touchdowns, one in the second period and another in the third.

Beware of It Spreading
Often the disease travels all over the bottom of the feet. The soles of your feet become red and swollen. The skin also cracks and peels, and the itching becomes worse and worse.
Get rid of this disease as quickly as possible, because it is very contagious, and it may go to your hands or even to the under arm or crotch of the legs.
Most people who have Athlete's Foot have tried all kinds of remedies to cure it without success. The itching is so bad that you can't sleep, and the skin is so sore that you can't wear shoes or stockings without it hurting.

Here's How to Treat It

The germ that causes the disease is known as Trichophyton. It buries itself deep in the tissues of the skin and is very hard to kill. A test made shows it takes 20 minutes of boiling to kill the germ; so you can see why the ordinary remedies are unsuccessful.
H. F. was developed solely for the purpose of treating Athlete's Foot. It is a liquid that penetrates and dries quickly. You just paint the affected parts. It peels off the tissue of the skin where the germ breeds.

Itching Stops Immediately
As soon as you apply H. F. you will find that the itching stops immediately. You should paint the infected part with H. F. night and morning until your feet are well. Usually this takes from three to ten days, although in severe cases it may take longer or in mild cases less time.

H. F. will leave the skin soft and smooth. You will be amazed at the quick way it brings you relief; especially if you are one of those who have tried for years to get rid of Athlete's Foot without success.

SASSE'S MAROONS WALLOP HOWARD

Mississippi State Runs Roughshod Over Bulldogs For 38-0 Victory

STATE COLLEGE, Miss., Oct. 2.—(AP)—Thirty of Colonel Ralph Sasse's silver helmeted gridiron warriors marched roughshod in the rain here today to a 38-0 triumph over Howard's Bulldogs from Birmingham.

Employing little but straight football, and using only one lateral all afternoon, the Mississippi State Maroons scored once in the opening period, three times in the second, once in the third and again in the final. It was only in the latter stages that State unleashed a successful aerial attack, completing 12 tosses of 21 attempts.

Longest touchdown run of the day was registered by Jack Nix, substitute halfback, on a thirty-three yard gallop around Howard's left end.

The second period saw the heaviest bombardment, the Sassemen playing headup football and capitalizing on enemy errors throughout. A recovered fumble on Howard's 10 led to an early second quarter score. Scott's aerial to Cagide being good for 5 yards and Scott's plunge through tackle carrying the rest of the way. Minutes later, Price's fluke kickoff was dropped on the Howard 37 by the receiver, State's Ralph Meigs recovering. A pass, Dixon to Topp to Hardison, State's only razzle-dazzle attempt of the day, placed the ball into scoring position. Halfback Hayden scored on three attempts from inside the 10 yard stripe.

Most sensational play of the day followed in the second frame when Guard Theyer Lynch of Plattsburg, N. Y., blocked Little's kick on the Howard 40, scooped it up and ran unmolested for a touchdown.

PELICANS MEET GRAYSON FRIDAY

Louisiana Training Institute Makes Home Debut Under David Pace

The Louisiana Training Institute's Pelicans will tangle with the Grayson High school eleven here Friday afternoon at 3 o'clock on the L. T. I. field. It was announced last night by Coach David Pace, graduate of Tulane university, who is beginning his first year as a grid coach.

The Pelicans lost a hard fought game to Wisner's Bulldogs, 7 to 6, Friday, and lost one of their most outstanding backs, Norman Davis, as a result of the game. Davis suffered a shoulder injury early in the third period and was removed from the battle shortly before the Bulldogs made the winning touchdown. It is uncertain when he will be able to play again, Coach Pace said.

The local team has been working hard and, despite their lack of weight, they form a scrappy and hard-fighting team, as was shown against Wisner. Ferguson Spann and "Lefty" Stewart are developing into stellar backfield performers. Other backs are Dupuis, Strawn, Muner, Hamilton and Allen. Dupuis will probably start in Davis' place against Grayson.

The local line is composed of Hopkins and McHaffey, ends; Beard and Money, tackles; Orr and Egbert or Johnson, guards, and George, center. Other linemen are Peavy, Murphy, LeBoeuf, Hodges, Phillips and Jemison.

Blocking and tackling will feature the workouts this week, Coach Pace said, with some time to be spent developing a passing attack and polishing up on their present plays.

Other games on the Pel schedule were announced as follows: Hico, here October 15; Columbia, there October 22; October 29, open; Waterproof, there November 5; November 12, open; Choudrant, here November 19, and Gilbert, here November 24.

Officials: Referee, Bell (Vanderbilt); umpire, Jones (Tulsa); head lineman, Price (Austin); field judge; Bushman, Missouri Wesleyan.

BUDGE ADVANCES IN BERKELEY TOURNEY

BERKELEY, Calif., Oct. 2.—(AP)—Donald Budge moved today toward a likely fifth meeting this year with Baron Gottfried von Cramm of Germany by downing Frank Kovacs in a semi-final match of the Pacific Coast Tennis championships.

Kovacs, junior star from Berkeley, gave Budge a tough workout and the Oakland red-head dropped the second set before taking the match, 6-4, 5-7, 7-5, 7-2.

Budge will meet the winner of tomorrow's other semi-final singles match bringing together Bobby Riggs, Los Angeles ace, and von Cramm. The German has lost to Budge in the European Davis Cup finals, the Wimbledon championships, the National championships and the recent Pacific Southwest tournament in Los Angeles.

Margot Lumbe of England moved into the semi-finals of the women's singles by defeating Sylvia Henrotin of France, 6-3, 3-6, 9-7.

Gerald Stratford, San Francisco, and Kay Stammers, English southpaw ace, defeated Jiro Yamagishi, Japan, and Anita Lizana, Chile, American singles champion, in a mixed doubles semi-final match, 6-2, 6-2.

Budge returned to pair with Wayne Sabin of Portland, Ore., and reach the finals of the men's doubles by downing the English Davis Cup team of George Hughes and Charles Hare, 6-4, 6-4, 12-10.

NEGRO ALL-STARS PLAY HERE TODAY

Weather Permitting, A Double Header Will Be Played At Casino Park

A three-game series for the negro national all-star baseball championship will open with a double header here this afternoon at Casino park, weather permitting, when the South All-Stars tangle with the North All-Stars. The first game will get underway at 2 o'clock.

The third game of the series will be played tomorrow night, beginning at 8 o'clock.

Monroe, home of the old Monroe Monarchs, for years a power in national negro baseball, was selected for the series because of the following several of the negro players have here, especially members of the old Monarch team who are scattered over the north and south playing for other negro "big league" clubs.

Rogan, a former Monarch hurler, is on the pitching staff of the Northern aggregation, and Kranton, another old Monarch, is scheduled to do some hurling for the South. The all-star teams are the pick of performers from negro ball clubs throughout the nation.

The probable starting lineups: South—Davenport, center field; Lyons or Taylor, first base; Nat Rogers, right field; Morney, short stop; Longley, second base; Curry, left field; Maxwell or O'Neil, third base; Ratcliff, catcher; and Kranton or Wilson pitcher. Else is expected to catch the second game with Caloson or Madison pitching.

ALABAMA TROUNCES SEWANE TEAM, 65-0

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Oct. 2.—(AP)—Alabama's thundering Crimson Tide ran roughshod over Little Sewanee, 65 to 0, here today despite a sloppy field and intermittent showers which held attendance to 6,000.

The visitors used all available men, 35 of them, and the third stringers ran with almost as great success as the regulars.

Joe Kilgore, Charley Holm and Herk Haskins were the leaders in the assaults on Sewanee's shattered defense, with sophomore Moseley leading in the yardage department, clipping off 168 yards in eight efforts.

Alabama amassed 542 yards on running plays and picked up 65 more on passes. Sewanee made a single first down, and showed a net advance of 25 yards by passing and rushing.

So potent was the Crimson attack that only once did Alabama resort to a punt, and Sewanee never was able to hold the victors for downs.

Kilgore began the slaughter when he cut through tackle for 17 yards and a touchdown on the eighth Alabama play. Other touchdowns came rapidly, four being added in the second period alone.

WARREN EASTON BATTLES BATON ROUGE TO 0-0 TIE

ATLANTA, Oct. 2.—(AP)—Georgia Tech struck early along a sudden turf storm after Hunk Wessley had made another first down when Chittum got loose for 12 yards around his left end.

After an exchange of punts at the start of the third period, Jackie Hanna ran 18 yards for a first down, fumbled and recovered for the first run of the second half. The run placed the ball on Tech's 41. Westbrook kicked up eight and Hanna hit the middle for three yards and another first down. Hanna again sifed through tackle for 11 yards and another first, placing the ball on Wesleyan's 38 yard line. Wesleyan stiffened, however, and with a yard and a half to go, the Bulldogs elected to kick on fourth down and Wiley's boot went into the end zone, Illinois taking over the ball on their 20. Wesleyan kicked right back, the ball being kicked on the 50. Westbrook picked up nine yards on a reverse. Wiley was smothered but Hanna made four at right tackle for a first down. The first penalty of the game came on the next play, Wesleyan being offside and Tech profiting for five yards. Two line thrusts and an incomplete pass gained but three yards and then a Tech punt was blocked, Wesleyan taking the ball on their own 44 yard line. An exchange of punts ended the third quarter. Kaska kicked to the one foot line and it was killed as the fourth quarter started.

A pass was incomplete and then Darling kicked to the 35 and it was returned to Tech's 20. However, a line thrust and three incomplete passes gained the Titans nothing and Tech took charge on their own 25. After an exchange of punts, Rasmussen inter-quarter but came back to out-gain the Titans in the third and fourth periods. The Bulldogs made nine first downs to six for Wesleyan, the Illinois club failing to make a first down in the second half. Tech made but one first down in the first half.

Because it was a struggle between two fine defensive teams, the outstanding performers were the players who were best in that department. The offenses had little opportunity to show their wares. Beaumont, until he was carried off the field with a leg injury in the second quarter; Whitman, Giddens, Wyss, Westbrook and Sumral were best for Tech. Offensively, Jackie Hanna stood out, as well as Westbrook and the two kickers, Wiley and Darling. For Wesleyan, Rasmussen, Edgort and Oliver were best in the line, with Chittum, Kaska and Folk outstanding in the back-field.

The first quarter was largely a punting duel, with Don Wiley, for Tech, getting off several beautiful punts. One of his boots traveled 75 yards. Midway of the quarter, Wesleyan chalked up two first downs when Chittum, their "Little All-American" halfback, got loose for 12 yards, making the gain after he apparently had been smothered on an attempt to kick out from deep in his own territory. After he found he couldn't get off the kick, he eluded three Tech tacklers and skirted his left end for 12 yards. Chittum got away again for eight and Folk picked up four for another first down but the Illinois attack was stopped cold at that point. With two minutes to go in the first period and Wesleyan in possession of the ball on their five, as a result of another beautiful Wiley punt, Kaska kicked out to the 40 and Hanna made a great return on the slippery field to the Wesleyan 21. Coach McLane sent in three substitutes and Eager and LaBue, who were sent to the Tech backfield, lost nine yards on two attempted end runs and Wiley was forced to kick after the first pass of the game fell incomplete. Just before the first period ended, Chittum picked up nine and a half yards around his left end and Folk added five more through the middle for a first down on their own 38 yard line. Wesleyan scored three first downs to none for Tech in the scoreless quarter. Tech was kicking on third down and Wiley had quite an edge over Kaska in the punting duel.

As the second quarter opened, Chittum picked up eight yards through right tackle and Folk added four more for a first down. The drive was stopped, however, and Kaska kicked out of bounds on Tech's 15 yard line. Darling, who had replaced Wiley, kicked right back and the punting duel with the slippery ball was on again. After two exchanges, Tech made its first first down when Westbrook made a 15 yard gain on a pass from Darling. Tech immediately kicked, Darling booting beautifully to Wesleyan's 11 and Giddens stopping Chittum on the 15. Kaska kicked right back, getting off a tremendous punt that rolled to Tech's five yard line, putting the Bulldogs in a hole for the first time. However, a Wesleyan player fell on the ball, fumbling it over the Tech goal line and the ball was placed in play on the 20. Darling immediately kicked out of danger, booting to Wesleyan's 40. Chittum got loose on the next play, going wide around his left end for a 28 yard gain before he was stopped by Darling on the Tech 32.

A pass from Chittum to Tipton gained seven yards. Johnny Wyss stopped Folk on the next two plays with no gain and Wyss again got in there to stop the Wesleyan back for a two-yard gain at the middle, and Tech took possession on their 21. Darling immediately kicking out of the hole, Giddens stopping Chittum on the 10, and Kaska kicking to Tech's 45 with a return of but two yards on the punt.

A moment later Kaska kicked right into the coffin corner and the ball was killed on the Tech three yard line. Darling fumbled the pass from center, picked it up but couldn't reach the white stripe, and he was downed for a safety for Wesleyan, and the score was 2 to 0 for Illinois.

The second quarter ended a moment later after Hunk Wessley had made another first down when Chittum got loose for 12 yards around his left end.

After an exchange of punts at the start of the third period, Jackie Hanna ran 18 yards for a first down, fumbled and recovered for the first run of the second half. CATHOLIC BEATS LOYOLA, 14 TO 0

Washington Eleven Mixes Power And Passes To Beat Orleans Team

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2.—(AP)—Catholic university used power and forward passing today to beat Loyola of New Orleans, 14 to 0. A hot sun slowed up the intercollegiate contest, played before an estimated 6,000 fans.

John Kasunic, end, caught the first C. U. scoring pass in the opening quarter. Shortly afterward Halfback Maurice Carroll grabbed the second touchdown throw. Carlo placekicked both conversion points.

The outwitted Loyola eleven's only scoring threat came in the second period. After a penalty gave the southerners a first down, Antonini and Galiano caught successive forward passes for two more first downs. Loyola's advance was halted on Catholic U's 27-yard line and they were never dangerous again.

Loyola made three first downs, Catholic U. 14, including four on passes.

NATCHEZ PLAYS VIDALIA

NATCHEZ, Miss., Oct. 2.—(Special)—The age-old test between a good right-hander and an equally good southpaw will be reenacted Sunday afternoon at Liberty park when Manager Mike Ohlsen of the Vidalia Tigers sends his ace Jammie Holmes of Alexandria, on the mound against youthful Lefty Woodrow George, Crosby, Miss., strikeout artist, who will essay to stop the Bengals for Harold Case's Natचे Indians. Manager Case has signed George to pitch for the Redskins and has also obtained the services of his catcher, "Dutch" Ezelle, also of Crosby, and of "Red" McCurley, slugging first baseman of the Lumbajacks, for the game Sunday.

George, who was such a sensation for the past two seasons with the Crosby club, has been given a contract by the St. Louis Cardinals of the National league.

Red Wins 20th Victory As New Yorkers Play Like Champions Again

By Charles Dunkley

NEW YORK, Oct. 2.—(AP)—Looking like American league champions for the first time in weeks, the Yankees walloped the Red Sox, 11 to 3, today with an attack featuring four homers.

Red Ruffing, surviving one bad inning, the third, when he gave up three runs and five hits, became the American league's second 20-game pitching winner of the year with a pitching performance that makes him a cinch to start the second game of the world series, after Lefty Gomez goes in the first.

WEST MONROE ANGLER HOOKS BIG STURGEON

Sidney Joiner, of West Monroe, while fishing the Mississippi river near Vicksburg, Friday, caught a sturgeon, two feet and four inches long, that was quite an attraction to his friends in West Monroe yesterday.

The odd looking sturgeon, unlike any fish caught in waters of the Monroe vicinity, had a spoon like bill with the mouth far back under the bill and his scaly body tapered off into horny like spines down the back and along each side. It weighed about 3

The game was slated to be one of the biggest high school games here this season, but inability to secure the Northeast Center of L. S. U. stadium to be transferred to Lake Charles.

By Charles Dunkley

The Ouachita Parish High school

Bears, home from a 26 to 6 defeat at the hands of the powerful Camden,

Ark., Panthers, will meet the Tallulah

High school Trojans here Thursday night at Brown field.

The Lions are expecting a hard-fought battle with the class A Trojans who held them to a 7 to 0 victory last year.

Tallulah boasts two stellar backfield performers in Louis Notter and Haddell, who also make a good passing combination. While the Lions have won their first two battles, winning

Udon, Mass. 26 to 6 and beating New-Orleans 14 to 7.

The Lions battled the Camden Panthers in a crippled condition with

Flood Van suffering a sprained ankle

and Maurice Latham regular back-out with a shoulder injury. Four reserves, Earl Richards, Sam Williams,

VANDY TROUNCES
CHICAGO, 18 TO 0Commodores Use Straight
Running Attack To Trim
Sluggish Maroons

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Oct. 2.—(AP)—Vanderbilt University, using a straight running attack and scarcely any passes, breezed through the University of Chicago, 18 to 0, this afternoon on rain-drenched Dudley field before 3,000 spectators.

The Chicago team, playing its first game of the season, lacked the precision and manpower to equal the Commodore ground game and the downpour in which the engagement was played annulled whatever chances the Maroons might have had in the air.

Bert Marshall, sophomore quarterback who grabbed the spotlight in the Vandy opener last week, gave way today to senior field general, Jimmy Huggins, who scored twice and was a constant threat to the Maroons with his hip-swinging runs.

Huggins gave Vanderbilt its first score midway in the opening period after Fitzgerald, Chicago end, had punted out of bounds on his own 38-yard line.

Plunkett picked up nine yards over left tackle and Ford added another for a first down on the 28. Huggins rammed through left tackle and cut back behind murderous blocking and ran across the goal line untouched. Plunkett's dropkick was wide.

In the second period when Marshall was in the game, Huggins started another touchdown drive with a 22-yard run to the 10-yard line. Marshall slipped around right end for the score. Ray's placekick was low.

The final score came in the third period with Huggins again in the spotlight. Little Jimmy and Hardy Housman, sophomore fullback, carried the ball seven times for a total of 55 yards. Huggins stepping across the double strike of a 9-yard trip through right tackle. Housman's placekick never got off the ground.

The Maroons, showing the usual sluggishness of any team in its first game, threatened seldom. In the first period Fitzgerald punted to the Vandy 24 where clipping was called on a Commodore, the ball going to the visitors at that point.

But a pass and three running plays failed to dent the Vandy defense and the ball went over. Later in the game the Maroons drove to around mid-field several times but could progress little further.

COLUMBIA ELEVEN WINS
FROM FERRIDAY, 13 TO 6

COLUMBIA, La., Oct. 2.—(Special)—Columbia College's first defeat of the Ferriday Bulldogs, 13 to 6, here yesterday to win their first battle of the season in their Class B conference campaign. The Tide will rest this week with an open date for the coming week-end.

Joe May, Columbia back, accounted for both Tide touchdowns, one in the second period and another in the third.

Beware of It Spreading
Often the disease travels all over the bottom of the foot. The skin is cracked and peels, and the itching becomes worse and worse.

Get rid of this disease as quickly as possible, because it is very contagious, and it may go to your hands or even to the under arm or crotch of the leg.

Most people who have Athlete's Foot have tried all kinds of remedies to cure it without success. Ordinary germicides, antiseptics, salves or ointments seldom do any good.

Here's How to Treat It
The germ that causes the disease is known as Trichophyton. It buries itself deep in the tissues of the skin and is very hard to kill. A test made shows it takes 20 minutes of boiling to kill the germ; so you can see why the ordinary remedies are unsuccessful.

BLACKSTOCK TO
IN MAIN EVENTPromoters Plan 'Little Chicago' Show For Opening Of Fall Programs

Wrestling will be revived here next Tuesday night when Marshall Blackstock, famed roughhouse artist from Texas, tangles with Hardy Kruskamp, latest sensation from Ohio, in the main event, and Angelo Cistoldi, the Boston villain, meets Frank Schroll, of Massachusetts, in the semi-final match.

The card has been arranged in honor of Little Chicago's election, and several candidates for office, principally among them "Mayor" Gus Cistoldi, who is seeking re-election, will speak at the stadium.

It will be the first card of the fall program being arranged by the promoters, and Matchmaker Charlie Brusato said last night that he expects the opener to pack plenty of thrills for the fans who turn out for the bill.

Blackstock is one of the better grapplers in the business. Rated among the first 15 performers in the nation, the big fellow is a real showman who usually gives the bugs a man for their money. He's as tough as they make 'em and undoubtedly will put on quite a show for the Tuesday crowd.

Kruskamp and Schroll are newcomers here. Kruskamp weighs 235 pounds and six feet one inch tall. He's a college graduate, having finished his schooling at Ohio State university. He played football and was a member of the wrestling squad. Kruskamp relies chiefly on scientific holds and the flying tackle is his strong point, as is usually the case with former football stars. He is said to be the greatest blocking half-back ever turned out in the Big Ten conference. He comes to this territory from the Pacific coast, where he has been a sensation in his matches with Lopez, the ruling grappler of that domain. He has wrestled in South America, New Zealand, France, England and Australia and has built up quite a reputation.

Schroll doesn't have quite as impressive a record but he is said to be a clean-cut wrestler who is capable of giving Cistoldi a real battle. Angelo, of course, is well known here as one of the roughest and toughest grapplers who ever performed in the Twin City arena.

Both matches will be best two out of three falls, with the main event and the semi-final limited to one hour. Officials for the show have not been selected.

ARKANSAS TIES
T. C. U., 7 TO 7

Pass-Crazy Clubs Battle To Draw In Game That Produces Plenty Of Thrills

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark., Oct. 2.—(AP)—Two pass crazy football teams, Texas Christian university and Arkansas, pitched through four frantic periods to a 7-7 draw, that left a sellout crowd exhausted here today.

Sixty-one passes of every description sailed through the air. One was good for 75 yards and Arkansas' touchdown. The aerial magic played a big part in the Texas Christian score but it was Dedeley Davey O'Brien, the 147-pound Christian sniper, who finally plucked over. Every period was an invitation to heart disease but the second period packed the biggest punch and all the scoring plays.

Long Jack Robbins, Arkansas' handsome triple threat, stood back on his own 23 and fired a bolt which Jim Benton, end, snatched on the 45. Three T. C. U. tacklers shelled him, but on the way down he spied big Ray Hamilton, his fellow end, laterated and Hamilton tore out 35 yards for a touchdown. Owen's place kick was perfect.

Johnny Hall, 180-pound halfback who looms as the greatest running back the Southwest conference has seen since the days of Joe Hunt, ran the kickoff to his 43 and then took turns with O'Brien in slicing off tackle for first down.

O'Brien paused long enough to whip a 24-yard pass to Soph Don Looney, end, and then went back to running plays that carried to the five. There the little quarter backed the line four times himself and finally dove over.

BUDGE ADVANCES IN BERKELEY TOURNEY

NEGRO ALL-STARS
PLAY HERE TODAY

Weather Permitting, A Double Header Will Be Played
At Casino Park

A three-game series for the negro national all-star baseball championship will open with a double header this afternoon at Casino park, weather permitting, when the South All-Stars tangle with the North All-Stars. The first game will get underway at 2 o'clock.

The third game of the series will be played tomorrow night, beginning at 8 o'clock.

Monroe, home of the old Monroe Monarchs, for years a power in the national negro baseball, was selected for the series because of the following several of the negro players have here, especially members of the old Monarch team who are scattered over the north and south playing for other negro "big league" clubs.

Rogan, a former Monarch hurler, is on the pitching staff of the Northern aggregation, and Kramston, another old Monarch, is scheduled to do some hurling for the South. The all-star teams are the pick of performers from negro ball clubs throughout the nation.

The probable starting lineups: South—Davenport, center field; Lyons or Taylor, first base; Nat Rogers, right field; Morney, short stop; Longwell, second base; Curry, left field; Maxwell or O'Neil, third base; Ratcliff, catcher; and Kramston or Wilson, pitcher. Else is expected to catch the second game with Calhoun or Madison pitching.

SEWANEET TEAM, 65-0

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Oct. 2.—(AP)—Alabama's thundering Crimson Tide ran roughshod over little Sewanee, 65 to 0, here today despite a sloppy play and intermittent showers which held attendance to 6,000.

The visitors used all available men. 35 of them, and the third stringers ran with almost as great success as the regulars.

Joe Kilgore, Charley Holm and Herky Moseley were the leaders in the results. Sewanee's shattered defense, with sophomore Moseley leading in the yardage department, clipping off 163 yards in eight efforts.

Alabama amassed 542 yards on running plays and picked up 65 more on passes. Sewanee made a single first down, and showed a net advance of 23 yards by passing and rushing.

So potent was the Crimson attack that only once did Alabama resort to a punt, and Sewanee never was able to hold the visitors for downs.

Kilgore began the slaughter when he cut through tackle for 17 yards and a touchdown on the eighth Alabama play. Other touchdowns came rapidly, four being added in the second period alone.

WARREN EASTON BATTLES
BATON ROUGE TO 0-0 TIE

ATLANTA, Oct. 2.—(AP)—Georgia Tech struck early along a sodden turf and through the air today to defeat Mercer, 28-0 and strengthen its South as a dark horse contender for Southern conference honors.

Tech's first liners dominated play completely in the first half, scoring two touchdowns in each quarter while smashing Mercer's running game into a net loss of 11 yards. In the last half the Bears made a battle of it against the Engineers' reserves but never were able to advance farther than the Yellow Jackets' 27.

quarter but came back to out-gain the Titans in the third and fourth periods. The Bulldogs made nine first downs to six for Wesleyan, the Illinois club failing to make a first down in the second half. Tech made but one first down in the first half.

Because it was a struggle between two fine defensive teams, the outstanding performers were the players who were best in that department. The offenses had little opportunity to show their wares. Beaumont, until he was carried off the field with a leg injury in the second quarter, Whitman, Giddens, Wyss, Westbrook and Sumrell were best for Tech. Offensively, Jackie Hanna stood out, as well as Westbrook and the two kickers, Wiley and Darling. For Wesleyan, Rasmussen, Eskold and Oliver were best in the line, with Chittum, Kaska and Folk outstanding in the backfield.

The first quarter was largely a punting duel, with Don Wiley for Tech, getting off several beautiful punts. One of his boots traveled 75 yards. Midway of the quarter, Wesleyan chalked up two first downs when Chittum, their "Little All-American" halfback got loose for 12 yards, making the game after he apparently had been smothered on an attempt to kick out from deep in his own territory. After he had been smothered get off the kick, he eluded three Tech tacklers and skirted his left end for 12 yards. Chittum got away again for eight and Folk picked up four for another first down but the Illinois attack was stopped cold at that point.

With two minutes to go in the first period and Wesleyan in possession of the ball on their five, as a result of another beautiful Wiley punt, Kaska kicked out to the 40 and Hanna made a great return on the slippery field to the Wesleyan 21. Coach McLane sent in three substitutes and Eager and LaBue, who went into the Tech backfield, lost nine yards on two attempted end runs and Wiley was forced to kick after the first pass of the game fell incomplete. Just before the first period ended, Chittum picked up nine and a half yards around his left end and Folk added five more through the middle for a first down on their own 38 yard line. Wesleyan scored their first three to none for Tech in the scoreless quarter. Tech was kicking on third down and Wiley had quite an edge over Kaska in the punting duel.

As the second quarter opened, Chittum picked up eight yards through right tackle and Folk added four more for a first down. The drive was stopped, however, and Kaska kicked out of bounds on Tech's 15 yard line. Darling, who had replaced Wiley, kicked right back and the punting duel with the slippery ball was on again. After two exchanges, Tech made its first first down when Westbrook made a 15 yard gain on a pass from Darling. Tech immediately kicked, Darling booting beautifully to Wesleyan's 11 and Giddens stopping Chittum on the 15. Kaska kicked right back, getting off a tremendous punt that rolled to Tech's five yard line, putting the Bulldogs in a hole for the first time. However, a Wesleyan play on the ball, fumbling it over the Tech goal line and the ball was placed in play on the 20. Darling immediately kicked out of danger, booting to Wesleyan's 40. Chittum got loose on the next play, going wide around his left end for a 28 yard gain before he was stopped by Darling on the Tech 32.

A pass from Chittum to Tipton gained seven yards. Johnny Wyss stopped Folk on the next two plays with no gain and Wyss again got in there to stop the Wesleyan back for a two-yard gain at the middle, and Tech took possession on their 21, Darling immediately kicking out of the hole. Giddens stopping Chittum on Wesleyan's 45 with a return of but two yards on the punt.

A moment later Kaska kicked right into the coffin corner and the ball was killed on the Tech three yard line. Darling fumbled the pass from center, picked it up but couldn't reach the white stripe, and he was downed for a safety for Wesleyan, and the score was 2 to 0 for Illinois.

The second quarter ended a moment later after Illinois Wesleyan had made another first down when Chittum got loose for 12 yards around his left end.

After an exchange of punts at the start of the third period, Jackie Hanna ran 18 yards for a first down, fumbled and recovered for the first first down of the second half. The run placed the ball on Tech's 41. Westbrook picked up eight and Hanna hit the middle for three yards and another first down. Hanna againuffed through tackle for 11 yards and another first, placing the ball on Wesleyan's 38 yard line. Wesleyan stiffened, however, and with a yard and a half to go, the Bulldogs elected to kick on fourth down and Wiley's boot went into the end zone, Illinois taking over the ball on their 20. Wesleyan kicked right back, the ball being kicked off the 50. Westbrook picked up nine yards on a reverse. Wiley was smothered but Hanna made four at right tackle for a first down. The first penalty of the game came on the next play, Wesleyan being offside and Tech profiting for five yards. Two line thrusts and an incomplete pass gained but three yards and then a Tech punt was blocked, Wesleyan taking the ball on their own 44 yard line. An exchange of punts ended the third quarter. Kaska kicked to the one foot line and it was killed as the fourth quarter started.

A pass was incomplete and then Darling kicked to the 35 and it was returned to Tech's 20. However, a line thrust and three incomplete passes gained the Titans nothing at Tech took charge on their own 25. After an exchange of punts, Rasmussen intercepted a Tech pass on his 30 and returned to the 18. However, two line thrusts were stopped cold and then an Illinois pass was intercepted by Don Wiley in his end zone and he returned it to the 14 yard line. Carroll picked up nine yards and added two more for a first down on the 25. However, the Bulldogs' hopes were spiked a moment later when Folk intercepted a pass on Tech's 35 and was downed.

Wesleyan wasn't able to gain, and Kaska kicked out of bounds on Tech's ten. Eager made a first down around his left end and a pass from Eager to LaBue made another first down in a 12-yard gain but again Wesleyan intercepted a Tech pass, taking the ball in on the 48 and returning to the 44. Two thrusts at the line failed to gain and a Wesleyan fumble was recovered by Tech on their 41. Tech then opened up with a desperate passing attack and after two passes were incomplete, one clicked from Eager to Whitman for 11 yards but the game ended after that play with Wesleyan winning, 2 to 0.

COTTON GROWERS OPEN DISCUSSION

Informal Meeting Designed To Sound Out Reaction To Wallace's Program

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Oct. 2.—(AP)—Southern members of the American Farm Bureau federation and agricultural leaders of the cotton-growing states moved into this cotton center today for a "round table" discussion as Secretary of Agriculture Wallace left after an address here yesterday.

Their meeting was "informal" and designed to sound out the reaction to Wallace's proposal for a middle course cotton program between rigid curtailment and unlimited production.

Edward A. O'Neal of Chicago, president of the federation, attended the meeting which originally called for an address by Senator John Bankhead, Democrat, Alabama. The senator could not be present because of illness.

President J. Frank Porter of the Tennessee farm bureau expressed belief the meeting would consider Wallace's remarks "earnestly" pointing out that the federation "championed the agricultural adjustment act of 1937 along with some other administration farm measures."

Wallace outlined a six-point permanent cotton program and urged his $300 farmer and farm leader listeners to seek a new farm bill "that will serve the long-time welfare of agriculture and the nation."

He suggested that the solution of the cotton problem lies in "moderate adjustment of production" to preserve fertility of soil and "still allow production of at least as much cotton as the markets of this and other countries have been accustomed to take."

The program should be carried out, he said, by supplementing the market price with payments to co-operating farmers on an allotted cotton production goal, probably financed by a "moderate" processing tax to avoid the difficulty of getting "large subsidies from the general treasury year after year."

TRY THIS WAY TO QUICKLY RELIEVE ECZEMA ITCHING

If your skin is broken out with "fery" or "weeping" eczema, you want to relieve the intolerable itching and burning as quickly as possible. Resinol Ointment does this and also combats the irritation caused by eczema—its oily base being ideal for penetrating the outer layers of the skin and securing deeper action.

Wash the affected parts with warm water and Resinol Soap. It is especially suited to tender skin—soaps containing too much alkali may irritate. After washing off scales and crusts, pat dry with a soft cloth. Do not rub.

Apply a thin layer of Resinol Ointment, letting it remain for several hours. Apply again liberally at bedtime leaving on all night. The longer Resinol is in contact with the skin, the more good it does.

SHREVEPORT COURT CONVICTS ATTORNEY

SHREVEPORT, La., Oct. 2.—(AP)—W. J. Kemp, St. Louis attorney, was found guilty in Caddo parish district criminal court today on a charge of careless and reckless driving. Judge J. H. Stevens stated that he intended imposing a jail sentence on the defendant, who requested that sentence not be passed until Monday. Meantime Kemp was released on $250 bond.

Kemp was tried on a charge of drunken driving, the case being strongly contested in court, but the court ruled that evidence did not show that Kemp was drunk, although he had been drinking with friends, whom he had in the car with him, and in his apparent spirit of conviviality he became careless and reckless in the handling of his automobile, resulting in the accident.

FEW CLAIM SOCIAL SECURITY MONEY

BATON ROUGE, La., Oct. 2.—(AP)—Wayman E. Register has some cash he wants to distribute but there are few takers.

The acting director of the social security board field office here said only three or more than 300 persons eligible to receive lump-sum social security benefits have filed claims.

Register attributed failure of beneficiaries to apply to a general lack of knowledge of the lump-sum benefit provisions.

There are two types of beneficiaries eligible—participating employees over 65 years of age and estates of deceased participating employees. Either type may receive 3 1/2 per cent of the participating employee's total wages since December 31, 1936.

SET DATE FOR FAIR CHOUDRANT, La., Oct. 2.—(Special)—Tuesday, October 12, has been set as the date for the annual Choudrant fair sponsored by the agricultural department of Choudrant High school. During the day a "Cotton Queen" will be selected and crowned.

SEVERAL ARAB LEADERS SPIRITED AWAY

Secret Transfer At Sea Believed Made As Guns Keep Order Ashore

JERUSALEM, Oct. 2.—(AP)—British warships were reported today to have spirited four high Arab leaders toward Seychelles island in the Indian ocean after a secret transfer at sea while motorized troops and police kept the Holy Land quiet at machine gun point.

The cruiser Sussex which left Haifa at dawn with Dr. Hussein Khalidi and three others ordered deported returned later and it was believed the four had been transferred to another vessel that steamed directly to island of banishment.

At the same time Jacob Hussein, leader of the Arab youth organization, who was previously thought to have fled Palestine, was arrested.

The grand mufti of Jerusalem, another object of the British drive, clung to the protective holy walls of the mosque of Omar, protected by a grim life guard of 200 Arabs sworn to defend the Moslem spiritual leader to the death.

British mandate authorities apparently hesitated to storm the mosque and seize him, in the fear that such a trespass upon the Arabian holy ground might stir up disorder even greater than the terrorism they sought to stamp out.

Several Arab leaders were arrested in the swift drive yesterday, precipitated by last Sunday's assassination of the British commissioner of Galilee and his bodyguard.

The mufti, Amin El Hussein, descendant of the prophet Mohammed, was stripped of his office as president of the supreme Moslem council which controls Moslem religious affairs, an appointive office under the British mandate.

The Arab higher committee was accused of being the "brains" behind recurrent waves of terrorism that have plagued authorities since four months ago when Britain proposed partitioning of Palestine.

At the same time Jacob Hussein, leader of the Arab youth organization, who was previously thought to have fled Palestine, was arrested.

The grand mufti of Jerusalem, another object of the British drive, clung to the protective holy walls of the mosque of Omar, protected by a grim life guard of 200 Arabs sworn to defend the Moslem spiritual leader to the death.

British mandate authorities apparently hesitated to storm the mosque and seize him, in the fear that such a trespass upon the Arabian holy ground might stir up disorder even greater than the terrorism they sought to stamp out.

Several Arab leaders were arrested in the swift drive yesterday, precipitated by last Sunday's assassination of the British commissioner of Galilee and his bodyguard.

The mufti, Amin El Hussein, descendant of the prophet Mohammed, was stripped of his office as president of the supreme Moslem council which controls Moslem religious affairs, an appointive office under the British mandate.

The Arab higher committee was accused of being the "brains" behind recurrent waves of terrorism that have plagued authorities since four months ago when Britain proposed partitioning of Palestine.

FILM ACTRESS' SUIT VIEWED AS 'SILLY'

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 2.—(AP)—Film Actress Judith Allen's $2,000,000 suit over the love of Jack Doyle is "silly, preposterous and absolutely without foundation" to Dolphine Dodge Cromwell Baker Godde, and, she said today, "I intend to fight it to the last."

Doyle, curly-haired, singing prizefighter, upon whose love Miss Allen put the seven-figured value, is "most distressed."

"But it won't make any difference in the plans of my fiancée and myself," said Doyle from the depths of a flowered green robe, red muffer and pipe "We'll be married in April, 1938."

That will be after his divorce from Miss Allen becomes final and Mrs. Godde obtains one in England.

"Dolphine is wealthy, of course," he continued, "sometimes I wish she were not. But I have $25,000 from the King Levisky fight."

Miss Allen, who accuses Mrs. Godde of luring Doyle away "with expensive gifts and promises of a life of ease, said:

"During our two years of marriage, I sold all my valuables and spent all of my salary to support him. He wrote me many letters while away, pleading for a reconciliation and vowing his love. But I doubted his sincerity."

"I only filed the divorce suit to shock him into appreciation of what he was doing to me."

HOMER WILSON HURT ON HEAD WITH BEER GLASS

Freeman was arrested by officers of the Monroe police department and charged with fighting and with drawing and displaying a dangerous weapon. Freeman and Wilson are said to have been fighting in a saloon on the corner of Hall and DeSiard streets, at the time Wilson was injured.

COTTON

New Orleans
NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 2.—(AP)—Cotton prices dropped 50 to 75 cents a bale here today under week-end liquidation and hedge selling.

Support was lacking in spite of heavy rains in the eastern and central sections of the growing region and official warnings of a disturbance in the gulf.

Trading was limited to professional activity but the short interests appeared to be well covered and trade buying was in small volume.

October closed at 8.28 bid, December 8.26, January 8.17 bid, March 8.22, May 8.25-26, July 8.30, or 10 to 15 points net lower.

The week summary of the Texas crop by the Dallas Daily News said almost perfect weather hastened the harvest although temperatures were too low for a general top crop. The large yield, the summary added, was making heavy demands on pickers and many counties were in need of more hands.

Exports totaled 34,064 bales.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Oct. 2.—(AP)—Southern members of the American Farm Bureau federation and agricultural leaders of the cotton-growing states moved into this cotton center today for a "round table" discussion as Secretary of Agriculture Wallace left after an address here yesterday.

Their meeting was "informal" and designed to sound out the reaction to Wallace's proposal for a middle course cotton program between rigid curtailment and unlimited production.

Edward A. O'Neal of Chicago, president of the federation, attended the meeting which originally called for an address by Senator John Bankhead, Democrat, Alabama. The senator could not be present because of illness.

President J. Frank Porter of the Tennessee farm bureau expressed belief the meeting would consider Wallace's remarks "earnestly" pointing out that the federation "championed the agricultural adjustment act of 1937 along with some other administration farm measures."

Wallace outlined a six-point permanent cotton program and urged his 3,000 farmer and farm leader listeners to seek a new farm bill "that will serve the long-time welfare of agriculture and the nation."

He suggested that the solution of the cotton problem lies in "moderate adjustment of production" to preserve fertility of soil and "still allow production of at least as much cotton as the markets of this and other countries have been accustomed to take."

The program should be carried out, he said, by supplementing the market price with payments to co-operating farmers on an allotted cotton production goal, probably financed by a "moderate" processing tax to avoid the difficulty of getting "large subsidies from the general treasury year after year."

TRY THIS WAY TO QUICKLY RELIEVE ECZEMA ITCHING

If your skin is broken out with "fery" or "weeping" eczema, you want to relieve the intolerable itching and burning as quickly as possible. Resinol Ointment does this and also combats the irritation caused by eczema—its oily base being ideal for penetrating the outer layers of the skin and securing deeper action.

Wash the affected parts with warm water and Resinol Soap. It is especially suited to tender skin—soaps containing too much alkali may irritate. After washing off scales and crusty pat dry with a soft cloth. Do not rub.

Apply a thin layer of Resinol Ointment, letting it remain for several hours. Apply again liberally at bedtime leaving on all night. The longer Resinol is in contact with the skin, the more good it does.

4 ARAB LEADERS SPIRITED AWAY

Secret Transfer At Sea Believed Made As Guns Keep Order Ashore

JERUSALEM, Oct. 2.—(AP)—British warships were reported today to have spirited four high Arab leaders toward Seychelles island in the Indian ocean after a secret transfer at sea while motorized troops and police kept the Holy Land quiet at machine gun point.

The cruiser Sussex which left Haifa at dawn with Dr. Hussein Khalidi and three others ordered deported returned later and it was believed the four had been transferred to another vessel that steamed directly to island of banishment.

At the same time Jacob Hussein, leader of the Arab youth organization, who was previously thought to have fled Palestine, was arrested.

The grand mufti of Jerusalem, another object of the British drive, clung to the protective holy walls of the mosque of Omar, protected by a grim life-guard of 200 Arabs sworn to defend the Moslem spiritual leader to the death.

British mandate authorities apparently hesitated to storm the mosque and seize him, in the Arab belief that such a trespass upon the Arabian holy ground might stir up disorder even greater than the terrorism they sought to stamp out.

Several Arab leaders were arrested in the swift drive yesterday, precipitated by last Sunday's assassination of the British commissioner of Galilee and his bodyguard.

The mufti, Amin El Hussein, descendant of the prophet Mohammed, was stripped of his office as president of the supreme Moslem council which controls Moslem religious affairs, an appointive office under the British mandate.

The Arab higher committee was accused of being the "brains" behind recurrent waves of terrorism that have plagued authorities since four months ago when Britain proposed partitioning of Palestine.

FILM ACTRESS' SUIT VIEWED AS 'SILLY'

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 2.—(AP)—Film Actress Judith Allen's $20,000 suit over the love of Jack Doyle is "silly, preposterous and absolutely without foundation" to Delphine Dodge Cromwell Baker Godde, and, she said today, "I intend to fight it to the last."

Doyle, curly-haired, singing prizefighter, upon whose love Miss Allen put the seven-figured value, is "most distressed."

"But it won't make any difference in the plans of my fiancée and myself," said Doyle from the depths of a flowered green robe, red muffler and pipe "We'll be married in April, 1938."

That will be after his divorce from Miss Allen becomes final and Mrs. Godde obtains one in England.

"Delphine is wealthy, of course," he continued, "sometimes I wish she were not. But I have $25,000 from the King Levinsky fight."

Miss Allen, who accuses Mrs. Godde of luring Doyle away "with expensive gifts and promises of a life of ease, said:

"During our two years of marriage, I sold all my valuables and spent all of my salary to support him. He wrote me many letters while away, pleading for a reconciliation and vowing his love. But I doubted his sincerity."

"I only filed the divorce suit to shock him into appreciation of what he was doing to me."

HOMER WILSON HURT ON HEAD WITH BEER GLASS

Homer Wilson, 29, employed by the Keystone Decorating company, is in St. Francis sanitarium where he was taken yesterday afternoon for treatment in connection with injuries received when he was allegedly struck on the left side of the head with a beer glass reputedly in the hands of Jack Freeman, who lives near West Monroe.

Freeman was arrested by officers of the Monroe police department and charged with fighting and with drawing and displaying a dangerous weapon. Freeman and Wilson are said to have been fighting in a saloon on the corner of Hall and DeSiard streets, at the time Wilson was injured.

Fall Season, With Football As Major Interest, Welcomed By Local Society

Barbecue Enjoyed At White Residence

Mrs. Ethel Kaufman Charming Guest In Home Of Mrs. Meyer; Sororities Busy

By Eve Bradford
STEEPED in the glamour of October's golden haze, every vestige of summer has flown. Tans have faded to a pale cream and freckles so popular a few short weeks ago, have now lost their authority. Life now takes on a new design with the rah-rah-rah of football fans taking the place of the swing music of the summer. We are risking a guess this morning that many a lad and lassie waked up with a hoarse voice after the exciting game at Brown field Friday night. Every football fan, apparently, was at the game, eager to crack a bottle of college spirits over the head of the 1937 football season and christen it in great style.

In the grandstand Layton Lamkin, Mary Black and Suzanne Kellogg, modishly attired, received the dope from their husbands as to who would win the game and why! Out on the field Referee (Dr.) William Bendel was in the thick of the fray, giving to his exuberance over the arrival of the football season. The balmy night air fanned the brows of the Northeast Center huskies who simply walked away with the game. Fletcher Ashcraft and his three-year-old son, Wyche, cheered as lustily as the best of them. It is not surprising to see young Wyche, wide-awake and at night games, as his father is one of the most ardent out-of-door sport devotees we know of.

Out in front of the grandstand the cheer leaders leaped like whirling dervishes, cheering the home team on to victory. Friday night's game was by no means the most outstanding of the year, but it will be a long time before a more enthusiastic crowd assembled in the grandstand.

Well, so much for King Football and his loyal minions. Let's reverse our field and pass our eye over a few events of last week. In the Roger Whites' rear gardens the air was permeated with the appetizing odor of barbecued steaks Saturday night. Roger and Murray Hudson hosted a barbecue supper for 30 or more. These hosts made history last night insofar as hospitality is concerned.

Edith Meyer, with her charming house guest, Ethel Kaufman, in tow, went blithely on her way last week, while friend husband was in the northern wilds trying to scare up a grizzly or a moose. Cut off from the world, no word will be received from the hunting party of which Walter Meyer and P. M. Atkins are members, until they come back to civilization next week. Let's hope when they are all wrapped up in their sleeping bags a snowdrift does not cover them up like babes in the woods. By the way, Edith's guest has a perfectly gorgeous mezzo-soprano voice and responds most graciously and generously when urged to sing.

Pedestrians hurrying to work the other morning gazed in pity at a forlorn figure in bedraggled red evening dress standing on the curb near the Central Savings bank. Frowny hair and a general air of dejection told a story louder than words to all who hurried by. We were curious, however, and discovered that things were not what they seemed. The girl was a freshman and definitely on the spot. To become a member of the charmed circle it was necessary to be put through the paces, including the mortifying experience of wearing a discarded evening dress to school. What a price we pay for the things we desire. It is always stimulating, however, to think of the satisfaction derived when another year arrives and the pleasure of initiating freshmen will be yours.

The pledges of sororities are the ones to be envied these days. Never in their collegiate careers will they receive as much attention as they are getting right now. With rushing week to the fore, the pledges are the lionesses of every social function in sorority circles. "What price glory!" Soon they will be relegated to performing chores and other menial jobs but right now they are riding on the crest of the wave.

Hats are on the rampage again. They are shooting into the air and perch on one side of the head like the leaning tower of Pisa. Saw Ann (Mrs. Clyde) Brown placing a lofty hat on her well coiffed head in one of the shops the other day. It really looked lovely on her, but then it would be quite impossible to mar her classic beauty.

Ruth Atkins is another who wears the new hats to perfection. She is wearing at the moment, a brown, high crowned, off-the-face hat with a yard of veiling and a hint of gold in the costume she wears with it. So weary is Betty Isaacman with globe-trotting and wearing tailored clothes she has donned white flannel slacks and soft flannel shirts for morning wear and she looks lovely in them. Violet Meyer is another who is forever packing her duds and racing off to some distant point. Spring in South America, summer in the east and the late fall at home, she is getting restless again, and any day now we can expect to hear of her leaving. Violet is another who effects white flannel slacks and soft wool shirts. They are especially becoming to her willowy grace.

Jean Graves has been selected assistant drum major of the Neville High school band. You can expect to see her goose-stepping down the avenue any day now in her white, gold-braided suit and towering white-plumed hat. It was Jean who wrote home from summer camp requesting a complete new wardrobe as she had accepted an invitation to visit a girl friend in Nashville. The women of Nashville, so she heard, were wonderful dressers and she would have to have smart clothes.

Annette Duchain Will Open Lectures Oct. 5

Book Circle Group To Meet At Frances Hotel; First Open To Everybody Without Obligation

An invitation is extended the women of Monroe and West Monroe to attend the opening lecture of the L. S. U. book circle at the Frances hotel, Friday, October 5, at which time Miss Annette Duchain will give the first of a series of lectures on books for the general extension division.

The first lecture is open to anyone desiring to attend without further obligation. Lectures will be given after-noon and evening, at 2 and 7:30 o'clock. Miss Duchain has arranged 36 classes in 30 towns of the state and is anticipating an enrollment of 3,000 members.

The lectures will be given once monthly in Monroe from October through May. Twenty-five books, current best sellers from fiction and non-fiction lists, will be distributed among the members at each lecture. Miss Duchain believes that members can read a minimum of two books monthly through this service. The books to be reviewed are announced at the previous lecture. Through this service 200 books will be circulated in each community. These volumes are supplied by the university and the Louisiana state library commission.

"The work of the L. S. U. book circle has been so successful that we are pressed for dates," Miss Duchain announced. "I therefore urge the women in the towns and cities where the work is scheduled to come, and justify their choice as centers for the circle."

The work is given in lecture form, Miss Duchain explained, and no questions are asked or papers required. Members are privileged to attend any section of the circle at any time. This year's group of talks marks the third series of book lectures offered to the women of the state by the general extension division. The first classes were begun in October, 1935, with weekly meetings in eight towns. The October, 1936, classes were extended to 26 towns with approximately 2,500 women attending. Miss Duchain offered as an added attraction, Miss Gwen Bristow, the popular author of the Louisiana novel, "Deep Summer."

This year's work will include reviews of "Northwest Passage," "American Dream," "The Outward Room," "Life With Mother," and "And So—Victoria," "Children of Strangers," and many other current best-sellers from the fiction and non-fiction lists.

Classes will be extended to Alexandria, Leesville, DeRidder, Lake Charles, Jennings, Abbeville, Crowley, New Iberia, Franklinton, Houma, Thibodaux, Natchitoches, Winfield, Mandeville, Coushatta, Shreveport, Minden, Haynesville, Ruston, Monroe, Bastrop, Columbia, Covington, Bogalusa, Franklin, Amite, Hammond, and Baton Rouge.

5th District P.-T.A. News

P.-T. A. Unit Plans Membership Drive
The Georgia-Tucker P.-T. A. met Thursday in the school auditorium. There were about fifty members present, including several grandmothers.

The new president, Mrs. Thomas Sandridge, presided. Mrs. W. M. Harper read a creed from the Louisiana Bulletin which was most interesting.

Business followed in the usual order and all officers reported. An intensive drive will be conducted next week for members and subscriptions to the P.-T. A. magazine. Considerable enthusiasm is manifested and the chairman expects to "go over the top" with both drives.

The program chairman, Mrs. M. M. Cragon, explained fully the program plans for the year, and stated that A. E. Phillips of the L. P. I. training school in Ruston, La., would be the guest speaker at the October meeting. The topic "Curriculum Revision in the Grammar Grades" will be most interesting and worth while and a large attendance is anticipated.

The president, Mrs. Sandridge, named her chairman and committees for the year as follows: Membership, Mrs. Gordon Cummings; program, Mrs. M. Cragon; publicity, Mrs. T. E. Ewing; hospitality, Mrs. C. Strauss; finance, Mrs. E. Richards; publications, Mrs. C. Oliver; social service, Mrs. F. C. Bennett; health, Mrs. James Phelps; safety, Mrs. V. Garnett; motion pictures, Mrs. F. L. Smith.

Miss Rodgers greeted the members and visitors and explained the purpose of her five-minute chats. She told of the aim of the teachers and school in the new undertakings and urged a continued cooperation of parents.

Curriculum was explained and the work being done by the state and the P.-T. A. was described in detail. Miss Rodgers had the honor of receiving an invitation to the P.-T. A. institute this past summer, owing to the high standard of work conducted in Georgia-Tucker school under her guidance.

She reminded her audience that Louisiana did not rank as high as other states in this new work and she asked that all members drill on fundamentals, and also the many fine things of progressive education.

Central Grammar P.-T. A. Meets
The Central Grammar school held its first P.-T. A. meeting of the new school year Thursday, when plans were formulated for the drive for underprivileged children which will take place Saturday, May 9.

At that time members will be stationed on downtown street corners with milk bottle containers and will solicit funds for this needy cause. It is hoped to realize a good-sized sum as the need will be possibly greater than ever this fall and winter, it is said.

During the week starting October 3 and ending October 9, a campaign for new P.-T. A. members will be conducted and all mothers and fathers as well are urged to enroll.

The meeting was presided over by Mrs. H. S. Chilton, president. Minutes of the last meeting were read by the secretary, Mrs. W. R. Mosely.

Miss Katie Key, principal, explained the purposes of the school election that will be held later this month, and which it is vitally needed to be carried at the polls to insure the proper and complete functioning of the schools of the city of Monroe.

Mrs. John Bishop Johnston's room won the attendance contest with the largest number of parents in attendance.

Old Winter Clothes Lose Their Glamor
Do you remember saying when you folded up your winter clothes for storage, "These garments will come in handy next fall?"

This past week, no doubt, you fled home in embarrassment in your summer hat and shoes and went straight to the clothes closet, flung open the door and began fumbling about for your last winter's treasures.

Every woman knows what you found. It is inconceivable, of course, how last year's garments can change when left to their own devices in a darkened closet for three or four months. They take on an unfamiliar appearance, assuming irregular lines and odd shapes, growing larger or smaller while the colors either subside or become more dazzling. You made a vain attempt, of course, to recapture some of the glamour of the outmoded wardrobe by trying on the traitorous outfits before the lights and mirrors.

That beige suit you wore with so much pride seemed unusually drab and you wondered how you and the suit ever harmonized in the first place. Even a new blouse and darker dyeing wouldn't disguise the last year's lines, a rip nor a tear in it, but the least style-conscious woman would never make the mistake of being caught in it when everything is being made up in the new solid color combinations for fall.

There was that green velveteen suit number, too, with the high collar and gold buttons down the front. It was very militaristic, but quite impossible this year even though there is a war in China. The brown crepe failed you by being too snug and although you accused it of shrinking you resolved secretly to cut down on the starches and perhaps do a mile or two occasionally.

The biggest shock came when you lifted last year's hat from the tissue wrapping which guarded so lovingly the bonnet you hoped to wear again this year. The flat crown looked so ridiculous in comparison with the towering hats of today; you hastened to put it out of your sight forever.

So now you are going shopping and will continue to look for that exclusive creation which one never really achieves in a lifetime; that in-between-season-all-purpose-garment which will be the very thing for street wear in the morning, the ideal dress for bridge in the afternoon, changing into an alluring dinner gown in the evening. But in the meantime you wonder what you will wear while you shop.

Sterlington P.-T. A. Begins Fall Work
The first fall meeting of the Sterlington P.-T. A. was held Thursday. Work for the year was discussed and a new president, vice-president and treasurer were elected. The officers for the year are: H. D. Watkins, president; Mrs. Joe Miller, vice-president; Mrs. A. G. Miller, secretary; Mrs. C. H. Young, treasurer.

Fairbanks P.-T. A. Holds Program Meet
A regular monthly meeting of the Fairbanks P.-T. A. was held Thursday afternoon. The president, Mrs. G. B. Wilson, presided.

Members and visitors were made welcome at the door by the hospitality chairman, Mrs. Billie Hewitt.

After the committee reports were made, the meeting was turned over to the program chairman, Mrs. O. C. Roddey, who presented the following: Scripture reading by Mrs. Kate Perkins; talk, "The Importance of Adult Education," by Mrs. Spurgeon Welch; song by children of third and fourth grades; readings, "The Red-Headed Girl," by Mary Francis Wilson and "Express Yourself," by Mrs. B. Bradley; resume of kindergarten, by Mrs. Deryl Rhodes, kindergarten teacher; song, "Louisiana," by Mrs. Vane Brazil, music chairman.

Mrs. Rhodes in her address said, in part: "This institution was devised by Friedrich Froebel in Blankenberge, Germany, in 1837, to meet the needs of children below school age, and to furnish a natural basis for their later education. The name, which signifies a garden of children implies that education is primarily a process of development, rather than mere learning."

The room prize went to first and second grade for having the most mothers present. The door prize was won by Mrs. Roy Boyd.

It was urged that all members attend the district meeting to be held at Bastrop on Saturday, October 30.

Jonesboro P.-T. A. Begins New Year
JONESBORO, La., Oct. 2.—(Special)—The Parent-Teacher association of the Jonesboro school held its first meeting of the new scholastic year, with Mrs. E. L. Thompson presiding and making the opening address.

Miss Leila Poole served as secretary and read the minutes of the last meeting of last spring. Dr. T. A. Dekle, a local physician, gave an address on "Child Welfare." W. C. Rundell, principal of the elementary school, gave an address on the condition of the school. A short business session was held and the treasurer's report was given.

A count of the mothers present was taken, and Mrs. Jack Fallon's room won the prize for having the greatest number present.

The following committees were appointed for the year: Program committee, Mrs. G. S. Wyatt; Mrs. Jack Fallon, Mrs. Henry Stovall; hospitality committee, Mrs. Tom Callaway, Mrs. W. C. McDonald, Mrs. Paul Stinson; publicity committee, Mrs. Ralph Wheat, Mrs. V. L. Brumfield, Miss Leila Poole; membership committee, Mrs. L. J. Allen, Mrs. Jack Meek, Mrs. W. S. McDonald.

Weddings And Engagements Continue To Claim Interest Of Monroe Society

Eleanor Bennett And Otha M. Cagle Marry

Miss Lou Mae Odum Of Farmerville Weds T. G. Burch; Miss Hickman To Become Bride Soon

Weddings and engagement announcements continue to intrigue society.

Of paramount interest today is the announcement made by Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Bennett of the marriage of their daughter, Miss Eleanor Bennett, to Mr. Otha Milton Cagle, son of Mr. and Mrs. O. T. Cagle of El Dorado, Ark., September 29 at the Baptist parsonage with Rev. L. T. Hastings, pastor, officiating.

Mr. and Mrs. Cagle left immediately following the ceremony for a brief honeymoon. They will be at home later in the month in Bernice, La. Mrs. Cagle traveled in a smart black tulle costume suit with black accessories.

Mrs. Cagle is one of Monroe's outstanding young musicians and has been a prominent figure in musical circles for the past several years. She is a member of the Junior Musical Coterie and took a prominent part in a recital during the spring. Her role of Juliet was one of the highlights of the event. She is a graduate of Northeast Center of L. S. U.

Mr. Cagle attended the Louisiana State university at Baton Rouge and is now associated with the Magnolia Oil company.

Claiming the interest of friends is the announcement of the marriage of Miss Lou Mae Odum, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Mitchell Odum of Farmerville, and Mr. T. G. Burch of Fulton, Miss., at the home of Rev. McKee, pastor of the Baptist church of Homer, Wednesday, September 8.

Mrs. Burch attended Louisiana Tech and Louisiana State university. She is a member of the Union parish school system.

Mrs. Burch is a graduate of the University of Mississippi and is instructor of agriculture in the Spearsville High school.

Of interest to friends in this section of the south is the announcement made by Mr. and Mrs. William Webster Hickman of Warren, Ark., of the engagement and approaching marriage of their youngest daughter, Miss Helen Mae Hickman to Mr. Troy Womack Jarratt, son of Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas A. Mrs. Ethel Kaufman Charming Guest In Home Of Mrs. Meyer; Sororities Busy

By Eve Bradford
STEEPED in the glamour of October's golden haze, every vestige of summer has flown. Tans have faded to a pale cream and freckles so popular a few short weeks ago, have now lost their authority. Life now takes on a new design with the rah-rah-rah of football fans taking the place of the swing music of the summer. We are risking a guess this morning that many a lad and lassie waked up with a hoarse voice after the exciting game at Brown field Friday night. Every football fan, apparently, was at the game, eager to crack a bottle of college spirits over the head of the 1937 football season and christen it in great style.

In the grandstand Layton Lamkin, Mary Black and Suzanne Kellogg, modishly attired, received the dope from their husbands as to who would win the game and why. Out on the field, Referee (Dr.) William Bendel was in the thick of the fray, giving vent to his exuberance over the arrival of the football season. The balmy night air fanned the brows of the Northeast Center huskies who simply walked away with the game. Fletcher Ashcraft and his three-year-old son, Wyche, cheered as lustily as the best of them. It is not surprising to see young Wyche, wide-awake and at night games, as his father is one of the most ardent out-of-door sport devotees we know of.

Out in front of the grandstand the cheer leaders leaped like whirling dervishes, cheering the home team on to victory. Friday night's game was by no means the most outstanding of the year, but it will be a long time before a more enthusiastic crowd assembled in the grandstand. Well, so much for King Football and his loyal minions. Let's reverse our field and pass our eye over a few events of last week. In the Roger Whites' rear garden the air was per-

An invitation is extended the women of Monroe and West Monroe to attend the opening lecture of the L. S. U. book circle at the Frances hotel, Friday, October 5, at which time Miss Annette Duchein will give the first of a series of lectures on books for the general extension division. The first lecture is open to anyone desiring to attend without further obligation. Lectures will be given after-noon and evening, at 2 and 7:30 o'clock. Miss Duchein has arranged 36 classes in 30 towns of the state and is anticipating an enrollment of 3,000 members.

Twenty-five books, current best sellers from fiction and non-fiction lists, will be distributed among the members at each lecture. Miss Duchein believes that members can read a minimum of two books monthly through this service. The books to be reviewed are announced at the previous lecture. P.-T. A. Unit Plans Membership Drive

The Georgia-Tucker P.-T. A. met Thursday in the school auditorium. There were about fifty members present, including several grandmothers. The new president, Mrs. Thomas Sandridge, presided. Mrs. W. M. Harper read a creed from the Louisiana Bulletin which was most interesting. Business followed in the usual order and all officers reported.

An intensive drive will be conducted next week for members and subscriptions to the P.-T. A. magazine. Considerable enthusiasm is manifested and the chairman expects to "go over the top" with both drives. The program chairman, Mrs. M. M. Cragon, explained fully the program plans for the year, and stated that A. E. Phillips of the L. P. I. training school in Ruston, La., would be the guest speaker at the October meeting. The topic: "Curriculum Revision in the Grammar Grades" will be most interesting and worth while, and a large attendance is anticipated.

Fairbanks P.-T. A. Holds Program Meet

A regular monthly meeting of the Fairbanks P.-T. A. was held Thursday afternoon. The president, Mrs. G. B. Wilson, presided. Members and visitors were made welcome at the door by the hospitality chairman, Mrs. Billie Hewitt. After the committee reports were made, the meeting was turned over to the program chairman, Mrs. O. C. Boddy, who presented the following: Scripture reading by Mrs. Kate Perkins; talk, "The Importance of Adult Education," by Mrs. Spurgeon Welch; song by children of third and fourth grades; readings, "The Red-Headed Girl," by Mary Francis Wilson, and "Express Yourself," by Mrs. B. Bradley; resume of kindergarten, by Mrs. Deryl Rhodes, kindergarten teacher; song, "Louisiana," by Mrs. Vane Brazil, music chairman. Mrs. Rhodes in her address said, in part: "This institution was devised by Friedrich Froebel in Blankenberge, Germany, in 1837, to meet the needs of children below school age, and to furnish a natural basis for their later education. The name, which signifies a garden of children implies that education is primarily a process of development, rather than mere learning."

The room prize went to first and second grade for having the most mothers present. The door prize was won by Mrs. Roy Boyd. It was urged that all members attend the district meeting to be held at Bastrop on Saturday, October 30.

Central Grammar P.-T. A. Meets

The Central Grammar school held its first P.-T. A. meeting of the new school year Thursday, when plans were formulated for the drive for underprivileged children which will take place Saturday, May 9. At that time members will be stationed on downtown street corners with milk bottle containers and will solicit funds for this needy cause. It is hoped to realize a good-sized sum as the need will be possibly greater than ever this fall and winter, it is said. During the week starting October 3 and ending October 9, a campaign for new P.-T. A. members will be conducted and all mothers and fathers as well are urged to enroll. The meeting was presided over by Mrs. H. S. Chilton, president. Minutes of the last meeting were read by the secretary, Mrs. W. R. Mosely. Miss Katie Key, principal, explained the purposes of the school election that will be held later this month, and which it is vitally needed to be carried at the polls to insure the proper and complete functioning of the schools of the city of Monroe. Old Winter Clothes Lose Their Glamor

Do you remember saying when you folded up your winter clothes for summer storing, "These garments will come in handy next fall?" This past week, no doubt, you fled home in embarrassment in your summer hat and shoes and went straight to the clothes closet, flung open the door and began rummaging about for your last winter's treasures. Every woman knows what you found. It is inconceivable, of course, how last year's garments can change when left to their own devices in a darkened closet for three or four months. They take on an unfamiliar appearance, assuming irregular lines and odd shapes, growing larger or smaller while the colors either subside or become more dazzling. You made a vain attempt, of course, to recapture some of the glamour of the outmoded wardrobe by trying on the traitorous outfits before the lights and mirrors.

That beige suit you wore with so much pride seemed unusually drab and you wondered how you and the suit ever harmonized in the first place. Even a new house and darker dyeing wouldn't disguise the last year's lines. And that striking print creation! Not a rip nor a tear in it, but the least style-conscious woman would never make the mistake of being caught in it when everything is being made up in the new solid color combinations for fall.

There was that green velvet suit number, too, with the high collar and gold buttons down the front. It was very militaristic, but quite impossible this year even though there is a war in China. The brown crepe failed you by being too snug, and although you accused it of shrinking you resolved secretly to cut down on the starches and perhaps do a mile or two occasionally.

The biggest shock came when you lifted last year's hat from the tissue wrapping which guarded so lovingly the bonnet you hoped to wear again this year. The flat crown looked so ridiculous in comparison with the towering hats of today, you hastened to put it out of your sight forever. So now you are going shopping and will continue to look for that exclusive creation which one never really achieves in a lifetime; that in-between-season-all-purpose-garment which will be the very thing for street wear in the morning, the ideal dress for bridge in the afternoon, changing into an alluring dinner gown in the evening. But in the meantime you wonder what you will wear while you shop.

Students Desiring to become members of the Kappa Players are requested to be present at this time.

The annual banquet Monday night on the Cherokee terrace of the Frances Tallulah will bring officers and team captains together around the festive board with Mr. Clarkson, toastmaster. The occasion promises to be unusually brilliant as elaborate plans have been made by the general chairman, Mrs. J. Norman Coon, and the chairman on decorations, Mrs. Elmer Slagle.

Adding luster to the occasion will be the presence of Mayor Arnold Bernstein, Mr. Joseph Marx, president of the chamber of commerce, and Dean C. C. Colvert of Northeast Center of L. S. U. The soloist of the evening will be Mr. Elbert Haskins, dean of music at Louisiana Tech.

Other guests at the banquet will be members of various groups invited by the team captains to assist them in the drive during the week ending October 11. At the close of the membership drive, the enrollment will be closed for the year. No more members will be accepted after this time.

At least three concerts will be presented during the winter with such famous artists as Kreisler, Melchior, Gladys Swarthout, Ruchmanoff, Glinnini, Pina, Zimbalist, Paderewski, Flagstad, John McCormack, Rethberg and Schnabel, to choose from.

"Take your time. That is the most important thing in gaining poise, as valuable a quality as a woman can have," according to Ruth Millett, feature writer. She says: "A woman who hurries into a room seldom seems poised—and no wonder. Her feet may stumble, but her mind is almost certain to once she finds herself suddenly in the center of a situation she knows nothing about."

"The time to take stock of a situation is before you become a part of it. A momentary pause at the threshold of a room and glance around gives you a chance to see what people are there and what they are doing the way a motorist looks both ways before pulling into a stream of traffic. That one moment often accounts for the difference between the awkward, blundering woman, and the one who walks into a room apparently calm, collected, and very much at ease."

"If you are going to take your time, you will have to allow for it beforehand. Otherwise, you will very likely be using minutes that belong to someone else, and while that may be all the same so far as your poise is concerned, it certainly won't put the other person in the frame of mind to appreciate it."

"Always give yourself a few more minutes than you think you will need. They will take care of the unexpected—the telephone that has to be answered, the search for gloves you would have sworn were in the right hand drawer, the struggle with a slip that seems determined to show."

"If you are going across town to keep an appointment, the extra minutes will take care of the traffic lights that always seem to be against you, the suddenly remembered errand, or the unexpected encounter with an old friend."

"Those few minutes, always thoughtfully set aside for mishaps, will give you the freedom from hurry that is necessary to poise. They will allow for your going about looking a lady of leisure, unhurried and self-assured, instead of the Miss Jitters who always feels she has been 'thrown together' usually looks it and is about as poised as Humpty Dumpty before he took his great fall."

Being a chronicle of the things she saw and the things she bought on a shopping tour with the merchants of the Twin Cities yesterday.

I RAN RIGHT INTO a big surprise Saturday . . . and here it is, Mrs. Francis Blazier, corner Mill and North Fifth streets, West Monroe, has answered the request of her many friends and has opened a full big size Grocery and Market right in her back yard. Such a brand new clean spotless building, all new fixtures and simply stocked full of nationally-advertised brands of good food. A tempting counter of garden fresh vegetables and fruits was most inviting. A first class grocery store located like this one is good news to these busy housewives who must get up in a hurry . . . and just can't be bothered about a dab of paint and powder . . . and maybe not her hosiery. . . . But can go in all easy to do her marketing, with no fear of being embarrassed for not presenting herself as a "fashion plate."

I found the counter full of already planned menus and fine recipes that every housewife enjoys reading. I found several of Monroe's thrifty women doing their week-end shopping with Mrs. Blazier. Don't forget the location, corner Mill and North Fifth streets, and they maintain a FREE FAST DELIVERY SERVICE. Phone 1325.

RUTH SHOPS . . . has a most interesting item in the hosiery line. The new MOJUD hosiery (worn by all the Warner Bros. movie stars and designed by the very famous Orry-Kelley) are now in this interesting store in every fall shade imaginable. A simple beautiful two thread chiffon hosiery. You know, hosiery, like dresses, are beautiful and flatter only when right for the occasion. The Mojud is made for every occasion. For evening . . . for street . . . for business, etc. That very clever hosiery manager can help in a great way to plan your hosiery wardrobe and . . . listen . . . here is a tip on their cost. . . . One pair sheer hose, $1.00 or three pair to the box for $2.85. . . . Now isn't that nice? . . . And should you prefer knee lengths, they're only 79c. Still better the crepe number is only $1.19. Get the right slant on this lovely hosiery . . . look smarter. . . . Let's wear what the movie stars wear—MOJUD! Exclusive at Ruth Shops.

SCHOOL GIRLS . . . The shades of the forest are dominating at Mangle's . . . in dresses . . . in knit suits . . . in skirts . . . blouses . . . sweaters and coats. You will simply rave over them and especially the skirts with their gay cheerful plaids and stripes, or solids if you prefer, which sell at $1.98. . . . Sweaters go along with them for a smart ensemble. Twin sets . . . single sweaters . . . barrel sweaters . . . shirts. . . . Selling for $1.00 and $2.98. Soft silk blouses $1.00 and $1.98. The knit suits . . . Oh! they are honey! at $1.98. Soft knits . . . from fitting and such lovely styles. The smart black ones made an instant hit with me. Many of those happy (rigged up) school students were buying them yesterday. . . . I think they said something about a football game Thursday night. Of course just such apparel is the costume for football games. Go to Mangle's for your outfit.

I HAD an opportunity to visit a new home in Monroe this week which was completely furnished throughout with that lovely furniture at DURETT'S . . . selected from the WILLIAMSBURG GALLERIES. This home was lovely beyond dreams and I am so sorry you could not come along with me to see it. However . . . DURETT'S has a complete display for every room in the home and of particular interest are the furnishings of the Elizabeth Carter Alcove, the Wren Room, the Gloucester and the Dixon Room, the Berkeley and Raleigh Room, the Alice Page and Suzanne Allen Bedrooms. The Williamsburg Galleries on Durrett's third floor is a permanent display and the public is cordially invited to visit these galleries at any time.

O COURSE . . . you'll be doing some kodaking at school and at the games this season. . . . GRIFFIN'S received a supply of kodaks and movie cameras this week that will give you almost any type picture you could wish for. . . . Don't you enjoy those home movies . . . really that is the new and smart way to entertain your friends new . . . to call them in for a feast and afterwards . . . treat them to a movie in your own home . . . with a possible picture of their very own self which you made at an opportune time when they least expected it. . . . If you have not already started this hobby . . . you are missing out on the most fun of 1937 . . . Go to Griffin's today . . . see the cameras and make your selection. A small down payment and the balance on a pay-plan that is easily afforded.

FOR THE FIRST time in Monroe . . . I saw those swanky Wilson Bros. "SKIPPER" sweaters that I hear the men folks raving so much about. A new shipment at FINK'S (Wilson Bros. sports wear is exclusive with FINK) . . . There was a specially attractive one of dull grey wool gabardine with knitted sleeves and trim of Dubonnet. Leather buttons. Other colors combinations were beige and brown, grey and blue. This particular sweater sells for $5.00 and men will be daffy about them because they fit so well under the coat and look swell without a coat. Another brush wool number featured the sport back with leather buttons or zipper fastening. Solid backs and sleeves with plaid fronts. Sells for $3.50. Fink has a very smart line of the new things for men and boys . . . so treat yourself to the newest at FINK'S.

REALLY . . . I don't mean to say you ladies can't cook biscuits but I have found some at Jiney Jungle, North Fourth street store, that you don't have to worry about whether you can cook or not. They are Ballard's Old Fashioned Southern Buttermilk Biscuits, 12 in a can . . . all ready to put in the oven and bake. . . . Made with flour, buttermilk, vegetable shortening, soda, sugar and phosphate. . . . Try them hot with butter. . . . Really, with Log Cabin syrup there is nothing better. Another nice discovery at this store was pure Pork Cocktail sausages in cans. Small . . . not over an inch and a quarter long and look so nice on the sandwich tray. I found lots of new things here Saturday.

Monroe Club Women's Activities Increase With Extremely Busy Year Ahead

Twentieth Century Unit Meets At Larche Home

Mrs. Judson Smith Reviews 'Parnell'; Business And Professional Women Progressive Group

Monroe women's clubs are growing up. Gone is the allay that a woman's club is only a rampant group of reformers. In its stead is the convincing knowledge that the 937 clubs lead in education, social, philanthropic and civic affairs.

They are in the fore in all community betterment and care indeed is the smart woman who does not have affiliation with her favorite organization. Scarce, too, is the man who still clings to the horse-and-buggy thinking that women's clubs are humbug. Business and government are alert to their force and power in the land.

Claiming prominence among the any literary societies in which Monroe now abounds is the Twentieth Century Book club. This club was organized 38 years ago and has congealed 38 years after with many of the charter members still taking an active part.

In those days, "when only a queer woman wore hobbied hair; when legs were quite private and well concealed by walking dresses that touched the floor and style was measured by the skill with which the stiffly starched shirt waists were worn, formality reigned supreme. Today, these women, with their sleek bobbed heads, smart ensembles and progressive-mindedness, are far removed from the stilted life of 38 years ago.

Last week's meeting of the Twentieth Century Book club, in the beautiful gardens of Mrs. L. N. Larche's home, was characteristic of the present day mode of living. Members in their smart fall attire sat in comfortable garden chairs while Mrs. Judson Smith reviewed one of the popular novels of the year, "Parnell," by Joan Harlip. Mrs. Louis Hullum talked on "current events." Luscious food was served and tea poured, English fashion, by the hostess.

Last week witnessed the launching of the year's program by a progressive group of women, members of the Business and Professional Women's club. In their handsome, roomy clubhouse. The purchase of this home by a group of club women was a distinct step forward and definite proof of

Embarking upon a program which involves the study of each town in which a Business and Professional Women's club is located, the Federation of B. and P. W. Clubs will endeavor to interpret the national federation theme for the year, "Our Business."

Mrs. R. N. Slater, local program chairman, says:

"Developing this program will enable us to invite the men's and women's organizations of a community to unite in a study of 'Our Town's Business' with the object of analyzing and improving living and working conditions."

"We will know the town and see its strength and weakness. It is through knowledge that our citizens can improve business conditions. By improving them in our own town we will improve them in our states and our nation, and we will be able to see the reasons for uniting with other nations in working to improve world affairs."

"On our town's business depends the happiness and well being of not only ourselves, but of thousands. With this consideration in mind, the unique program of community self-study outlined has been approved by the board of directors of the National Federation of B. and P. W. Clubs, as the national program for 1937-38."

"Our members are women with a strong urge to stress human values. They will ask what effect business as operated today has on people, on men and women and children. They will want to know if it serves the good of all, what changes, if any, are needed."

Programs developed around "How We Get a Living," will include research work to determine the basic industries of our communities. How they came to be and why, which are most important to the town, which are thriving and why? Club members will ask what proportion of the population is engaged in these industries.

GLY-CAS GAVE HIM NEW HOPE
Now His Eating Is A Pleasure, Headaches, Dizziness Ended; Mr. Dore Like A Different Man Since He Began The Gly-Cas.
"Gly-Cas did more for me in a few weeks than all other medicines had ever accomplished," said Mr. Lazine Dore, 312 Clay street, Lafayette, La.

MR. LAZINE DORE
"I had been badly constipated, gas would form in abundance in my stomach after every meal, often crowding my heart until palpitation was awful. I would become dizzy and so short of breath I could hardly breathe. I suffered with terrible headaches and became awfully nervous and got but little sleep or rest. As medicine after medicine failed in my case I became very much discouraged over my condition and began to think all medicines were alike—until I began Gly-Cas. "To my happy surprise Gly-Cas went to the very source of my health troubles," continued Mr. Dore. "My bowels were regulated in a most natural way, liver became active and soon the poisons were eliminated from my system. I began to get natural sleep and I soon felt refreshed and full of energy. I am now enjoying doing my daily work feeling as I do, headaches are in the past and I really feel like a new man. Too much praise cannot be given Gly-Cas—it has REAL MERIT and all sufferers should realize it and profit by it."
Gly-Cas is sold by Phoenix Drug company, 348 DeSiard street, this city, and by all the leading drug stores in surrounding towns. —Adv.

Civic Music Association Prepares To Start Annual Drive

Banquet Monday Night Will Launch Campaign

Plans Made For One Of Most Successful Seasons In History Of Monroe Cultural Group

Music of the sublime type, brought through the medium of the Monroe Civic Music association, will be enjoyed this winter if the drive to be undertaken next week is successful. There is little doubt as to its success, however, as the possibility of bringing to Monroe the world's celebrated artists, is intriguing every culturist in the city and community.

The Monroe Civic Music association is one of the chief cultural and civic forces in this community and is heartily endorsed by such prominent, civic spirited citizens as, Mr. E. C. Gibson, Rabbi F. K. Hirsch, Dr. E. F. Hayward, Mr. Albert Horuff, Mr. W. J. Quigley, Father M. F. Walsh, Mr. A. B. Clarkson, Mayor Arnold Bernstein, Dean C. C. Colvert, Mr. Dallas Goss and a host of others.

Mr. Gibson, one of the most ardent enthusiasts and supporters of the association, has again assumed the leadership of this year's drive in the capacity of president. He will be assisted by a group of vice-presidents, a secretary, a treasurer and thirty team captains who represent the cultural world of this city.

They are: Mrs. Florence Zeigler Allbritton, Mrs. F. V. Allison, Mrs. V. S. Garnett, Mrs. Charles Gaushe, Mr. Dallas Goss, Miss Clara Hall, Mr. W. R. Hammond, Mrs. E. F. Hayward, Mrs. H. M. James, Mrs. Louis Hullum, Mr. E. L. Jefferson, Mrs. Henry Mayo, Mrs. George Moffett, Mrs. C. L. Moore, Jr., Mrs. P. L. Perot, Mrs. Harry Newhall, Mrs. A. N. Robinson, Mrs. Elmer Slagle, Mrs. L. V. Tarver, Mrs. Fred Thatcher, Mrs. Wayne Wamsley, Mrs. C. V. Sanders, Mrs. H. L. Johns, Mrs. Julius Kugler, Mr. S. A. Moss, Miss Myrtle Rodgers, Miss Mary Grace Lawn, Mrs. Dean Selig, Mrs. Irvin Shlenker and Miss Rosalia Kusun.

The annual banquet Monday night on the Cherokee terrace of the Frances hotel will bring officers and team captains together around the festive board with Mr. Clarkson, toastmaster. The occasion promises to be unusually brilliant as elaborate plans have been made by the general chairman, Mrs. J. Norman Coon, and the chairman on decorations, Mrs. Elmer Slagle.

Adding luster to the occasion will be the presence of Mayor Arnold Bernstein, Mr. Joseph Marx, president of the chamber of commerce, and Dean C. C. Colvert of Northeast Center of L. S. U. The soloist of the evening will be Mr. Elbert Haskins, dean of music at Louisiana Tech.

Other guests at the banquet will be members of various groups invited by the team captains to assist them in the drive during the week ending October 11. At the close of the membership drive, the enrollment will be closed for the year. No more members will be accepted after this time.

At least three concerts will be presented during the winter with such famous artists as Kreisler, Melchior Gladys Swarthout, Rachmaninoff, Giannini, Pinza, Zimbalist, Paderewski, Flagstad, John McCormack, Rethberg and Schnabel, to choose from.

"Take your time. That is the most important thing in gaining poise, as valuable a quality as a woman can have," according to Ruth Millett, feature writer. She says: "A woman who hurries into a room seldom seems poised—and no wonder. Her feet may stumble, but her mind is almost certain to once she finds herself suddenly in the center of a situation she knows nothing about."

"The time to take stock of a situation is before you become a part of it. A momentary pause at the threshold of a room and glance around gives you a chance to see what people are there and what they are doing the way a motorist looks both ways before pulling into a stream of traffic. That one moment often accounts for the difference between the awkward, blundering woman, and the one who walks into a room apparently calm, collected, and very much at ease."

"If you are going to take your time, you will have to allow for it beforehand. Otherwise, you will very likely be using minutes that belong to someone else; and while that may be all the same so far as your poise is concerned, it certainly won't put the other person in the frame of mind to appreciate it."

"Always give yourself a few more minutes than you think you will need. They will take care of the unexpected—the telephone that has to be answered, the search for gloves you would have sworn were in the right hand drawer, the struggle with a slip that seems determined to show."

"If you are going across town to keep an appointment, the extra minutes will take care of the traffic lights that always seem to be against you, the suddenly remembered errand, or the unexpected encounter with an old friend."

"Those few minutes, always thoughtfully set aside for mishaps, will give you the freedom from hurry that is necessary to poise. They will account for your going about looking a lady of leisure, unhurried and self-assured, instead of the Miss Jitters who always feels she has been 'thrown together' usually looks it and is about as poised as Humpty Dumpty before he took his great fall."

Phone - goes a-Shopping

Being a chronicle of the things she saw and the things she bought on a shopping tour with the merchants of the Twin Cities yesterday.

I RAN RIGHT INTO a big surprise Saturday . . . and here it is. Mrs. Francis Blazier, corner Mill and North Fifth streets, West Monroe, has answered the request of her many friends and has opened a full big size Grocery and Market right in her back yard. Such a brand new clean spotless building, all new fixtures and simply stocked full of nationally-advertised brands of good food. A tempting counter of garden fresh vegetables and fruits was most inviting. A first class grocery store located like this one is good news to these busy housewives who must get up in a hurry . . . and just can't be bothered about a dab of paint and powder . . . and maybe not her hostess. But can go in all easy to do her marketing, with no fear of being embarrassed for not presenting herself as a "fashion plate."

I found the counter full of already planned menus and fine recipes that every housewife enjoys reading. I found several of "Monroe's" thrifty women doing their week-end shopping with Mrs. Blazier. Don't forget the location, corner Mill and North Fifth streets, and they maintain a FREE FAST DELIVERY SERVICE. Phone 1325.

RUTH SHOPS . . . has a most interesting item in the hosiery line. The new MOJUD hosiery (worn by all the Warner Bros. movie stars and designed by the very famous Orry-Kelley) are now in this interesting store in every fall shade imaginable. A simple beautiful two thread chiffon hosiery. You know, hosiery, like dresses, are beautiful and flattering only when right for the occasion. The Mojud is made for every occasion. For evening . . . for street . . . for business, etc. That very clever hosiery manager can help in a great way to plan your hosiery wardrobe and . . . listen . . . here is a tip on their cost. . . One pair sheer hose, $1.00 or three pair to the box for $2.55. . . Now isn't that nice? . . . And isn't that perfect knee lengths, they're only 75c. Still better the crepe number is only $1.19. Get the right slant on this lovely hosiery . . . look smarter. . . Let's wear what the movie stars wear—MOJUD! Exclusive at Ruth Shops.

SCHOOL GIRLS . . . The shades of the forest are dominating at Mangle's . . . in dresses . . . in knit suits . . . in skirts . . . in sweaters and coats. You will simply rave over them and especially the skirts with their gay cheerful plaids and stripes, or solids if you prefer, which sell at $1.98. . . Sweaters go along with them for a smart ensemble. Twin sets . . . single sweaters . . . barrel sweaters . . . shirts. Selling for $1.00 and $2.98. Soft silk blouses $1.00 and $1.98. The knit suits . . . Oh! they are heneys! at $1.98. Soft knits . . . form fitting and such lovely styles. The smart black ones made an instant hit with me. Many of those happy (rigged up) school students were buying them yesterday. . . I think they said something about a football game Thursday night. Of course just such apparel is the costume for football games. Go to Mangle's for your outfit.

I HAD an opportunity to visit a new home in Monroe this week which was completely furnished throughout with that lovely furniture at DURRETT'S . . . selected from the WILLIAMSBURG GALLERIES. This home was lovely beyond dreams and I am so sorry you could not come along with me to see it. However, DURRETT'S has a complete display for every room in the home and of particular interest are the furnishings of the Elizabeth Carter Alcove, the Wren Room, the Gloucester and the Dixon Room, the Berkley and Raleigh Room, the Alice Page and Suzanne Allen Bedrooms. The Williamsburg Galleries on Durrett's third floor is a permanent display and the public is cordially invited to visit these galleries at any time.

OF COURSE . . . you'll be doing some kodaking at school and at the games this season. . . GRIFFIN'S received a supply of kodaks and movie cameras this week that will give you almost any type picture you could wish for. . . Don't you enjoy those home movies . . . really that is the new and smart way to entertain your friends now . . . to call them in for a feast and afterwards . . . treat them to a movie in your own home . . . with a possible picture of their very own self which you made at an opportunity when they least expected it. . . If you have not already started this hobby . . . you are missing out on the most fun of 1937 . . . Go to Griffin's today . . . see the cameras and make your selection. A small down payment and the balance on a pay-plan that is easily afforded.

Don't you long for your home to be a little more cozy? . . . an odd piece now and then . . . here and there . . . a mirror to brighten this corner and make the room look larger. A new rug maybe . . . any way . . . what about that old gas heater that almost freezes you to look at it? . . . DIXIE BEDDING & FURNITURE COMPANY can fix everything for you. . . They received so much new furniture this week. . . And they say that they actually save you 35 per cent on the purchase of your furniture and will sell at practically your own terms. Free delivery within 100 miles of Monroe.

EFFICIENT TO USE . . . and delightful to see . . . that is what all the women are saying who pass the window of Sherwin-Williams this week. There is a certain bathroom idea in this window this week that is taking the eye of everyone who sees it. Have you seen it? . . . Oh . . . Please do. It is a diagram with color of a delightful powder blue bathroom of the week which was with us, as described over the national look-up radio program. The well known Sherwin-Williams decorator, Miss Betty Wood assembled this pleasing color combination as a particular perfect suggestion for a bathroom . . . efficient to use and delightful to see.

EVERY WEEK I seem to find something interesting to tell you about the York Linen Shops. This week I saw the most beautiful fine quality hand initiated pillow cases . . . full sized selling at only $1.00. Many new arrivals this week at York's makes it hard to decide what item to buy . . . especially when you can use so many of the smart new linens that this shop brings to Monroe. Tuscan Lace Chair Backs at 49c, come with tassels at 79c. Hand made Tugany Scarfs in many sizes at 89c. Another item was pure linen dresser or table scarfs, 36-inch size, 25c, and 45-inch size for 35c. A shipment of very beautiful bed spreads imported from the far off lands was a honey! Made of heavy rope silk cord with silk embroidery in the colors of rose, blue, gold, orchid and white. Really, they're most as heavy as a quilt and sell at only $3.95. (Cost you $5.95 elsewhere.) Fifty little baby sweater sets of pure soft wool in pastel shades consist of sweaters, booties and cap. Only $1.49.

SQUIRREL season opened Friday. . . . What a break for those who like hunting. . . . Listen wifery . . . in case hubby doesn't read this . . . tell him about the offer the SEARS has for the hunters. Here goes . . . With every $5.95 or more rifle that is bought SEARS is giving 10 boxes of .22 caliber short cartridges absolutely FREE. No red tape . . . buy your gun and get 10 boxes of ammunition FREE. I noticed several hunters getting all rigged up in warm sweaters, hunting coats, boots, hats, gloves and pants. Believe me that store was full of business yesterday . . . but I was not surprised because after shopping in every floor . . . I found values that were hard to turn down.

FOR THE FIRST time in Mon-roé . . . I saw those swanky Wilson Bros. "KIPPER" sweaters that I hear the men folks rave so much about. A new shipment at FINK'S (Wilson Bros. sports wear is exclusive with FINK) . . . There was a specially attractive one of dull grey wool gabardine with knitted sleeves and trim of Dubonnet. Leather buttons. Other colors or combinations were beige and brown, hunter's green and brown, grey and blue. This particular sweater sells for $5.00 and men will be diffy about them because they fit so well under the coat and look swell without a coat. Another brush wool number featured the sport back with leather buttons or zipper fastening. Solid backs and sleeves with plaid fronts. Sells for $3.50. Fink has a very smart line of the new things for men and boys . . . so treat yourself to the newest at FINK'S.

REALLY . . . I don't mean to say you ladies can't cook biscuits but I have found some at Jitney Jungle, North Fourth street store, that you don't have to worry about whether you can cook or not. They are Ballard's Old Fashioned Southern Buttermilk Biscuits, 12 in a can . . . all ready to put in the oven and bake. . . . Made with flour, buttermilk, vegetable shortening, soda, sugar and phosphate. . . . Try them hot with butter. . . . Really, with Low Carb syrup there is nothing better. Another nice discovery at this store was pure Pork Cocktail sausages in cans. Small . . . not over an inch and a quarter long and look so nice on the sandwich tray. I found lots of new things here Saturday.

L. S. U. EXTENSION COURSES OFFERED

Organizer To Remain Here Next Week; To Form Speech Class Thursday

A. A. Sibley of the general extension division of Louisiana State university, who was here during the past week for the purpose of contacting persons desiring to enroll in extension courses for the winter months, will remain here this week to further the organization plans for the courses, it was learned yesterday from C. C. Colvert, dean of Northeast Center of L. S. U.

Mr. Sibley is making his headquarters here at the Northeast Center of offices, and persons desiring information relative to the courses to be offered are requested to communicate with the offices.

The nature of the courses to be offered depends entirely upon the requests received from the public. Provided that the demand is sufficient, virtually any extension course will be given. For this reason, it is desired that persons interested in enrolling in one or more courses register their preferences with the Center offices at their earliest convenience.

Dean Colvert said that no charge will be made for attendance at the first meeting, or organization meeting, of any course. All adults interested in attending one or more of the courses may do so, as it is not necessary for them to be college or university graduates, or to be pursuing the studies for the purpose of advancing themselves toward receiving a degree. Students eligible to receive university credit from the extension courses, however will receive it.

Requests for courses already registered at the Center offices indicate that physical education classes for men and women, and a speech class will be among the most popular. An organization meeting of persons desiring to enroll in the speech class will be held Thursday night at 7 o'clock on the second floor of the Ouachita parish courthouse.

Among other courses which are expected to receive the greatest demand are English and business English, elementary and intermediate accounting, history, economics, sociology and theoretical music.

Most of the instructors of the extension courses will be Northeast Center instructors. Generally, the classes will meet once each week for 16 weeks.

ONLY 1,141 VOTERS SIGN POLL BOOKS

Out of a total of 16,400 voters in Ouachita parish, only 1,141 had signed the poll tax books at the courthouse up to yesterday, according to a report made by Chief Deputy C. D. Meredith. Ouachita parish voters were urged by Mr. Meredith to sign the poll tax books and receive their receipts in order to qualify in elections during the next two years. Poll tax receipts are issued without cost and voters must have their receipts before they can cast their ballots in forthcoming elections.

Poll tax books will remain open until December 31, and voters are asked to sign up as soon as possible so as to avoid a last minute rush.

NEW AND EXCITING SERIAL STORY ROMANCE

CHAPTER 13

Margit sat in her office. She was trying to pull herself together. Keough stood in front of her. At his side were two suitcases. He was totally unrecognizable due to the fact that he wore tinted spectacles, a grey mustache and a full grey beard.

Margit eyed him. "You mustn't let them out of your sight for a minute."

"No, Miss Agnew."

"Report to me as often as possible by telephone."

"Yes, Madam."

Keough replied with dignity, "I'm an expert at jujitsu."

"All right, Keough. Go ahead."

Felice entered the office. "Mrs. Bly,"

she said.

Margit shook. "Tell her to go away. Tell her to jump out a window!"

Suddenly she was seized by an opposite impulse. Mrs. Bly was closer to being a friend than anyone else in the world. "Tell her to come in!"

Mrs. Bly was wearing a maroon army coat and carrying a muff. She came into the room like a schooner under full sail and stopped as if someone had dropped all her anchors simultaneously. "Margit Agnew! You've been crying."

"I am crying," Margit replied miserably.

Mrs. Bly sat down. "I've had jolts in my life," she said boisterously.

"Little ones, middle-sized ones and whoppers! But this is the biggest one of all! What in the deuce can happen on this planet that can bring tears in your eyes?"

"Irene has run away with a man," said Margit.

Mrs. Bly dropped her muff. "Wald?"

"No, it wouldn't be Wald."

She stared at the beautiful but discomfited executive. "What sort of a man?"

A crooner? The trumpet player in an orchestra? I seem to meet a good many women whose daughters are running off with trumpet players these days."

"He's an artist," Margit said glumly.

"Good looking?"

Margit drew a quivering breath through her teeth. "In a sort of dissipated animal way."

"Animals don't dissipate," said Mrs. Bly.

"Anyway, that has nothing to do with it."

"On the contrary," the older woman responded, "if the man's good looking that has everything to do with it."

"He's cheap," Margit said bitterly.

"He's conceited. He's cruel. He makes his living drawing peoples' pictures on the street! He's—"

"He lives in a trailer. He spends his life bumping all over the world. And he's—"

"She was barely able to enunciate the words, 'he's even married already.'"

Mrs. Bly walked around her desk and patted her on her shoulder.

"There, there. These things don't amount to much. Your little Irene will come back sadder but wiser. What's the cluck's name, anyway?"

"Charlie Jones," said Margit miserably.

Mrs. Bly was standing behind Margit's back so that her expression was unobserved. It was an extremely complex expression. In it could be discovered astonishment, mirth, incredulity and a sort of fawning delight.

The expression lightened her rugged features for some moments, and then she forced it to disappear.

She began patting Margit's back once more. "Charlie Jones," she murmured.

"A bum who makes his living drawing pictures on the sidewalks. Good looking in a sort of dissipated, animal way. It does rather fit Charlie—Mr. Jones."

Margit wheeled around. "Do you know him?"

"Slightly," Mrs. Bly answered. "Just slightly. He drew my portrait in a cafe in Paris once. Made me look like a fish-faced old termagant, too. I remember. Yes, yes—I understand how you feel. It's a bit of a shock to have Charlie Jones land in the middle of your family."

"I can't see why his wife doesn't stop him from behaving the way he does."

"Evelyn?" Mrs. Bly caught herself up again. "I've met his wife, too, dear," she said casually. "Evelyn's a little—well, eccentric, herself. She made a rather appalling couple. She was in Paris at the same time. I'll never forget the week-end when they hired a private train and took everybody who happened to be sitting on the terrace of the Cafe Beau down to Biarritz for the week-end. Funny! I laughed so hard it threw my front plate thirty feet. Charlie measured the distance."

Margit interrupted angrily. "There's no sense in trying to kid me about this. Maybe we're thinking of different people. The Charlie Jones I knew could no more hire a private train than he could hire the Brooklyn Bridge."

Mrs. Bly sat down in her chair again. She seemed to be in an extraordinarily good humor. "Well—his wife had a little money of her own. Squandered it. And once in a while Charlie made a pretty nice chunk of mazzuma from the sale of one of his pictures. He always blew it in as soon as he got it. Charlie Jones! Well I never. Just what was your own reaction to Mr. Jones?" she asked quietly.

"I despise him."

"Curious," said Mrs. Bly.

"What's curious about that?"

"It's been my experience—my personal experience and also my general observation—that when a girl insists that a man looks dissipated—or maintains that he is handsome in an animal sort of way—when, I may say, a girl over-insists that she despises a man and in addition to that that you're in a state of hysterical tears—well—why don't you tell the truth? You found Mr. Jones fascinating and you're jealous of Irene. Right or wrong?"

"I shouldn't have said anything about it at all," Margit replied hotly.

"You've been very kind to me, Mrs. Bly. For some reason I don't understand, my mother had a great deal of confidence in you. I have appreciated your help, but I'm afraid that in ethical matters you and I are at the opposite ends of the earth. Your assumptions are silly and senile. I have found Mr. Jones despicable to a degree. Her voice rose very close to a hysterical pitch. "Irene's whole future is in dreadful danger at this moment and you sit and tell me how far you laughed your false teeth!"

The telephone rang.

Margit answered it.

"This is Keough," said Keough's voice.

"Yes," said Margit tensely.

"We're just about to leave the parking yard. Miss Irene is sitting in the front seat of the car. She is wearing her pale blue hat and her blue cloak. I lingered near an ash can pretending to be looking for re-sellable bottles and overheard her say that this was the first time that she had ever been happy in her life."

"Go ahead," Margit murmured, choking a sob.

"I'm telephoning from a booth in the city store across from the parking yard. I see that Mr. Jones is just putting away that gun on his trailer preparatory to locking the rear door. My own car is ready for the journey. I shall probably next report when we stop at supper time. They're ready to start. Goodbye, Miss Agnew."

Felice came into the room. Margit looked at her blankly.

"Mr. Beaver has just asked me to have lunch with him," said Felice.

"Will it be all right?"

"Yes, it will be all right."

"Will it be all right?"

"Yes, it will be all right."

Twentieth Century Unit Meets At Larche Home

Mrs. Judson Smith Reviews 'Parnell'; Business And Professional Women Progressive Group

Monroe women's clubs are growing up. Gone is the allay that a woman's club is only a rampant group of reformers. In its stead is the convincing knowledge that the 937 clubs lead in education, social, philanthropic and civic affairs.

They are in the fore in all community betterment and care indeed is the smart woman who does not have affiliation with her favorite organization. Scarce, too, is the man who still clings to the horse-and-buggy thinking that women's clubs are humbug. Business and government are alert to their force and power in the land.

Claiming prominence among the many literary societies in which Monroe now abounds is the Twentieth Century Book club. This club was organized 38 years ago and has continued year after year with many of its charter members still taking an active part.

In those days, "when only a queer woman wore hobbed hair; when legs were quite private and well concealed by walking dresses that touched the floor and style was measured by the skill with which the stiffly starched skirt waists were worn, formality reigned supreme. Today, these women, with their sleek bobbed heads, smart ensembles and progressive-mindedness, are far removed from the stilted life of 38 years ago.

Last week's meeting of the Twentieth Century Book club, in the beautiful gardens of Mrs. L. N. Larche's home, was characteristic of the present day mode of living. Members in their smart fall attire sat in comfortable garden chairs while Mrs. Judson Smith reviewed one of the popular novels of the year, "Parnell," by Joan Harlip. Mrs. Louis Hullum talked on "current events." Luscious food was served and tea poured, English fashion, by the hostess.

Last week witnessed the launching of the year's program by a progressive group of women, members of the Business and Professional Women's club, in their handsome, roomy clubhouse. The purchase of this home by a group of club women was a distinct step forward and definite proof of women's place in the civic life of this city.

Embarking upon a program which involves the study of each town in which a Business and Professional Women's club is located, the Federation of B. and P. W. Clubs will endeavor to interpret the national federation theme for the year, "Our Business."

Mrs. R. N. Slater, local program chairman, says:

"Developing this program will enable us to invite the men's and women's organizations of a community to unite in a study of 'Our Town's Business' with the object of analyzing and improving living and working conditions."

"We will know the town and see its strength and weakness. It is through knowledge that our citizens can improve business conditions. By improving them in our own town we will improve them in our states and our nation, and we will be able to see the reasons for uniting with other nations in working to improve world affairs."

"On our town's business depends the happiness and well being of not only ourselves, but of thousands. With this consideration in mind, the unique program of community self-study outlined has been approved by the board of directors of the National Federation of B. and P. W. Clubs, as the national program for 1937-38."

"Our members are women with a strong urge to stress human values. They will ask what effect business as operated today has on people, on men and women and children. They will want to know if it serves the good of all, what changes, if any, are needed."

"Programs developed around 'How We Get a Living' will include research work to determine the basic industries of our communities. How they came to be and why, which are most important to the town, which are thriving and why? Club members will ask what proportion of the population is engaged in these industries."

"Other topics for study will include 'Other Enterprises in Our Community,' 'What Controls Business,' 'What We Buy and Sell in the United States' and 'What We Get for Our Money.'"

"The national federation hopes by pioneering in this community study to inspire other groups of women to do likewise. The more we know about our own communities the better able we shall be to help in an emergency. In this case, familiarity will bring about greater interest in our own surroundings."

GLY-CAS GAVE HIM NEW HOPE

Now His Eating Is A Pleasure, Head-aches, Dizziness Ended; Mr. Dore Like A Different Man Since He Began The Gly-Cas.

"Gly-Cas did more for me in a few weeks than all other medicines had ever accomplished," said Mr. Lazine Dore, 312 Clay street, Lafayette, La.

"I had been badly constipated, gas would form in abundance in my stomach after every meal, often crowding my heart until palpitation was awful. I would become dizzy and so short of breath I could hardly breathe. I suffered with terrible headaches and be-came awfully nervous and got but lit-tle sleep or rest. As medicine after medicine failed in my case I became very much discouraged over my con-dition and began to think all medi-cines were alike-until I began Gly-Cas-it was wonderful."

"To my happy surprise Gly-Cas went to the very source of my health troubles," continued Mr. Dore. "My bowels were regulated in a most nat-ural way, liver became active and soon the poisons were eliminated from my system. I began to get natural sleep and I soon felt refreshed and full of energy. I am now enjoying doing my daily work feeling as I do, headaches are in the past and I really feel like a new man. Too much praise cannot be given Gly-Cas-it has REAL MERIT and all sufferers should realize it is a profit by it."

Gly-Cas is sold by Phoenix Drug company, 348 DeSiard street, this city, and by all the leading drug stores in surrounding towns.

L. S. U. EXTENSION COURSES OFFERED

Organizer To Remain Here Next Week; To Form Speech Class Thursday

A. A. Sibley of the general extension division of Louisiana State university, who was here during the past week for the purpose of contacting persons desiring to enroll in extension courses for the winter months, will remain here this week to further the organization plans for the courses, it was learned yesterday from C. C. Colvert, dean of Northeast Center of L. S. U.

Mr. Sibley is making his headquarters here at the Northeast Center offices, and persons desiring information relative to the courses to be offered are requested to communicate with the offices.

The nature of the courses to be offered depends entirely upon the requests received from the public. Provided that the demand is sufficient, virtually any extension course will be given. For this reason, it is desired that persons interested in enrolling in one or more courses register their preferences with the Center offices at their earliest convenience.

Dean Colvert said that no charge will be made for attendance at the first meeting, or organization meeting, of any course. All adults interested in attending one or more of the courses may do so, as it is not necessary for them to be college or university graduates, or to be pursuing the studies for the purpose of advancing themselves toward receiving a degree. Students eligible to receive university credit from the extension courses, however, will receive it.

Requests for courses already registered at the Center offices indicate that physical education classes for men and women, and a speech class will be among the most popular. An organization meeting of persons desiring to enroll in the speech class will be held Thursday night at 7 o'clock on the second floor of the Ouachita parish courthouse.

Among other courses which are expected to receive the greatest demand are English and business English, elementary and intermediate accounting, history, economics, sociology and theoretical music.

Most of the instructors of the extension courses will be Northeast Center instructors. Generally, the classes will meet once each week for 16 weeks.

ONLY 1,141 VOTERS SIGN POLL BOOKS

Out of a total of 16,400 voters in Ouachita parish, only 1,141 had signed the poll tax books at the courthouse to yesterday, according to a report made by Chief Deputy C. D. Meredith. Ouachita parish voters were urged by Mr. Meredith to sign the poll tax books and receive their receipts in order to qualify in elections during the next two years. Poll tax receipts are issued without cost to voters who can have their receipts before they can cast their ballots in forthcoming elections.

Poll tax books will remain open until December 31, and voters are asked to sign up as soon as possible so as to avoid a last minute rush.

Margit sat in her office. She was trying to pull herself together. Keough stood in front of her. At his side were two suitcases. He was totally unrecognizable due to the fact that he wore tinted spectacles, a grey mustache and a full grey beard.

Margit eyed him. "You mustn't let them out of your sight for a minute." "No, Miss Agnew."

"Report to me as often as possible by telephone."

"Yes, Madam."

"Don't hesitate to take any steps, however violent, if the situation calls for them."

Keough replied with dignity, "I'm an expert at jiu-jitsu."

"All right, Keough. Go ahead."

The man went out in the wake of his beard.

Margit sniffed. She wiped her nose with a small green chiffon handkerchief.

Felice entered the office. "Mrs. Bly," she said.

Margit shook. "Tell her to go away. Tell her to jump out a window!" Suddenly she was seized by an opposite impulse. Mrs. Bly was closer to being a friend than anyone else in the world. "Tell her to come in."

Mrs. Bly was wearing a maroon army coat and carrying a muff. She came into the room like a schooler under full sail and stopped as if somebody had dropped all her anchors simultaneously. "Margit Agnew! You've been crying."

"I am crying," Margit replied miserably.

Mrs. Bly sat down. "I've had jolts in my life," she said boisterously. "Little ones, middle-sized ones and whoppers! But this is the biggest one of all! What in the deuce can happen on this planet that can bring tears in your eyes?"

"Irene has run away with a man," said Margit.

Mrs. Bly dropped her muff. "Waldo?" She shook her head at herself. "No, it wouldn't be Waldo." She stared at the beautiful but discomfited executive. "What sort of a man? A crooner? The trumpet player in an orchestra? I seem to meet a good many women whose daughters are running off with trumpet players these days."

"He's an artist," Margit said glumly.

"Good looking?"

"Margit drew a quivering breath through her teeth. "In a sort of dissipated animal way."

"Animals don't dissipate," said Mrs. Bly.

"Anyway, that has nothing to do with it."

"On the contrary," the older woman responded, "if the man's good looking that has everything to do with it."

"He's cheap," Margit said bitterly. "He's conceited. He's cruel. He makes his living drawing peoples' pictures on the street! He's—" Her voice broke. "He lives in a trailer. He spends his life bumming all over the world. And he's—" She was barely able to enunciate the words, "he's even married already."

Mrs. Bly walked around her desk and patted her on her shoulder. "There, there. These things don't amount to much. Your little Irene will come back sadder but wiser. What's the cluck's name, anyway?"

"Charlie Jones," said Margit miserably.

Mrs. Bly was standing behind Margit's back so that her expression was unobserved. It was an extremely complex expression. In it could be discovered astonishment, mirth, incredulity and a sort of fiendish delight. The expression lighted her rugged features for some moments and then she forced it to disappear. She began patting Margit's back once more. "Charlie Jones," she murmured. "A bum who makes his living drawing pictures on the sidewalks. Good looking in a sort of dissipated animal way. It does rather fit Charlie—Mr. Jones."

Margit wheeled around. "Do you know him?"

"Slightly," Mrs. Bly answered. "Just slightly. He drew my portrait in a cafe in Paris once. Made me look like a fish-faced old termagant, too. I remember. Yes, yes—I understand how you feel. It's a bit of a shock to have Charlie Jones land in the middle of your family."

"I can't see why his wife doesn't stop him from behaving the way he does."

"Evelyn—" Mrs. Bly caught herself up again. "I've met his wife, too, dear," she said casually. "Evelyn's a little—well, eccentric, herself. They made a rather appalling couple. She was in Paris at the same time. I'll never forget the week-end when they hired a private train and took everybody who happened to be sitting on the terrace of the Cafe Bleu down to Biarritz for the week-end. Funny! I laughed so hard it threw my front plate thirty feet. Charlie measured the distance."

Margit interrupted angrily. "There's no sense in trying to kid me about this. Maybe we're thinking of different people. The Charlie Jones I knew could no more hire a private train than he could hire the Brooklyn Bridge."

Mrs. Bly sat down in her chair again. She seemed to be in an extraordinarily good humor. "Well—his wife had a little money of her own. Squandered it. And once in a while Charlie made a pretty nice chunk of mazzuma from the sale of one of his pictures. He always blew it in as soon as he got it. Charlie Jones! Well I never. Just what was your own reaction to Mr. Jones?" she asked quietly.

"I despise him," said Mrs. Bly.

"What's curious about that?"

"It's been my experience—my personal experience and also my general observation—that when a girl insists that a man looks dissipated—or maintains that he is handsome in an animal sort of way—when, I may say, a girl over-insists that she despises a man and in addition to that that you're in a state of hysterical tears—well—why don't you tell the truth? You found Mr. Jones fascinating and you're jealous of Irene. Right or wrong?"

"I shouldn't have said anything about it at all," Margit replied hotly.

"You've been very kind to me, Mrs. Bly. For some reason I don't understand, my mother had a great deal of confidence in you. I have appreciated your help, but I'm afraid that in ethical matters you and I are at the opposite ends of the earth. Your assumptions are silly and senile. I have found Mr. Jones despicable to a degree. Her voice rose very close to a hysterical pitch. "Irene's whole future is in dreadful danger at this moment and you sit and tell me how far you laughed your false teeth!"

The telephone rang.

Margit answered it.

"This is Keough," said Keough's voice.

"Yes," said Margit tensely.

"We're just about to leave the parking yard. Miss Irene is sitting in the front seat of the car. She is wearing her pale blue hat and her blue cloak. I lingered near an ash can pretending to be looking for re-sellable bottles and overheard her say that this was the first time that she had ever been happy in her life."

"Go ahead," Margit murmured choking a sob.

"I'm telephoning from a booth in the cigar store across from the parking yard. I see that Mr. Jones is just putting away that going on his trailer preparatory to locking the rear door. My own car is ready for the journey. I shall probably next report when we stop at supper time. They're ready to start. Goodbye, Miss Agnew."

Felice came into the room. Margit looked at her blankly.

"Mr. Beaver has just asked me to have lunch with him," said Felice. "Will it be all right?"

HIGH BLOOD Pressure Thousands have been helped in this simple DRUGLESS way

French doctors have discovered a new, drug less method for the treatment of high blood pressure and its associated symptoms of headache and dizziness. They have found that a concentrate of garlic in certain measured dosage lowers the blood pressure an average of 10 to 40 points and that the effect may be prolonged by repeating the dose at prescribed intervals. They report further that as the blood pressure is lowered in almost all cases the associated symptoms of headache and dizziness disappear.

ALLIUM Essence of Garlic Parsley Tablets have been thoroughly tested in actual cases of high blood pressure by Dr. Frederic Damrau, eminent physician of Park Ave. New York City. Dr. Damrau has written booklet telling of his favorable experience with these tablets. A copy of this booklet may be had free by any high blood pressure sufferer.

ALLIUM Essence of Garlic Parsley Tablets are on sale at all drug stores, two sizes—50c and $1.00. When purchasing see that you get the genuine ALLIUM Essence of Garlic Parsley Tablets. NEW STUDEBAKER CARS SHOWN HERE

1938 Models Placed On Display At Central Auto Company's Rooms

The Studebaker automobiles for 1938, presented to the public here last week for the first time, came as a distinct surprise to motorists who keep watch of new models each year.

The new Studebakers are new in the most literal interpretation of the word. They have been built without compromise to tool-and-die amortizing budgets or other previous model handicaps. The frames are new. The chassis are new. The bodies are new.

The cars were displayed at the showrooms of the Central Auto company, located at 310 North Third street. According to F. N. "Stickey" Steele, manager of Central Auto company, who directs the local Studebaker selling organization, no previous Studebaker introduction has caused so much favorable comment or enthusiasm.

The 1938 Studebakers are offered in three lines: the President, the Commander and the Six. The President models are powered with 110-horsepower, eight-cylinder engines. The Commander and the Six have 90-horsepower six-cylinder engines. The President wheel base is 122 inches, the other two models have 116.5 inch wheelbases. In each group of cars there are coupes, club sedans, cruising sedans and convertible sedans.

News-worthy features of the new models include new frames, bodies that are six inches wider than previous models and the availability of a vacuum-actuated shifting mechanism which is located on the instrument panel. There are many other chassis and engine refinements. General improvements have been made in the bodies, in strengthening the bodies by skillful welding and ingenious shaping of steel.

Motors, who know automotive mechanics, will readily realize that the Studebaker engineers started from the ground and worked up when it is stated that the President frames are 18 per cent lighter in weight than its predecessor and shows a 70 per cent increase in overall torsional rigidity. The Commander and Six frame is eight pounds lighter and over 500 per cent stronger in overall torsional rigidity. To the layman it should be said that great overall torsional rigidity means safety, strength and "handability." In other words, the frame, as Studebaker has it for 1938, produces a sure-footed, sweet handling automobile.

straight tie, without offset, of the center cross member between the frame side members. All twisting or crank action has been eliminated by this engineering.

The new vacuum gear shift, which may be obtained on the new cars, is an interesting result of the industry's desire to eliminate the bothersome shift lever in the front compartment. This new shift utilizes the engine manifold vacuum to actuate the transmission gears. A small shift lever, only five inches long and topped by a knob about the size of a ping pong ball, extends from the instrument panel. This lever does the job of shifting under all conditions. The vacuum power helps its action. It is not necessary to learn any new driving habits in controlling this device.

This control differs from other power actuated shifting devices in the all-important fact that the gears are under full control of the driver from start to stop. Shifts may be made quickly or slowly. The driver obtains the same "feel" that he does from the conventional type. The car may be pushed to start its engine. Yet the floor boards are cleared.

Other mechanical notes include the turning of the transmission gears on their side, eliminating the tunnel in the front floor boards, the free wheeling and overdrive, a new type of clutch that decreases pedal effort, larger brakes, improved steering and a host of other improvements.

The new bodies were designed by Studebaker body designers in conjunction with Raymond Loewy, one of America's most famous style engineers. They are much wider, much lower than ever before. The center of gravity is only 26 inches from the ground. In fact the sedan is only 65-3.4 inches high. There are no side louvers in the hood. President and Commander headlamps are built in and conform in design with the radiator shell. Windshields have been given a greater rake, wind wings have been set at a smart angle and rear body sections are gracefully moulded in the modern manner.

It is believed by Studebaker people that the 1938 models have the largest luggage compartments in the industry. The actual measurements

BENDIX LAUNDRY HIGHLY PRAISED

Proved One Of Outstanding Attractions At Ouachita Valley Fair

Transported by plane from South Bend, Ind., direct to Monroe, the Bendix home laundry has proved one of the outstanding attractions at the Ouachita Valley fair, where hundreds of visitors have watched it work and marveled at its efficiency.

The Bendix home laundry was transported to Monroe by air by United Electric Service, Inc., located at 306 North Third street. This machine has the distinction of being the first home laundry manufactured by the Bendix Home Appliance corporation of South Bend, Ind., and is the outcome of three and a half years of experimentation which involved the expenditure of two and a half million dollars.

The Bendix home laundry was flown to Monroe over American Airlines and Delta Airlines. It has the distinction of having delayed the Chicago plane 20 minutes, as it was found that the machine was too large to put aboard and it was necessary to dismantle it hurriedly, causing the delay of the ship. The local firm spent approximately $100 freight charges to have it transported to the Ouachita Valley fair by plane.

Described as the successor to the washing machine, the Bendix home laundry is simple, beautiful and operates automatically. It occupies 14 square feet less than set tubs and a washing machine, being approximately 35 inches high, 25 inches in width and 29 inches in breadth. It is beautifully finished in porcelain and resembles a cabinet with a porthole in the center through which the machine can be seen in operation.

The Bendix home laundry is remarkable for a number of other reasons than because it takes up so little room. It literally takes the soiled clothes out of your hands and puts them through the entire washing cycle, including three rinsings and damp drying, without any labor and practically without attention. It even fills itself with water as needed and discharges the waste water into the drain automatically. As the inside cylinder revolves, clothes are carried

DODGE DEALERS IN CONFERENCE

Advertising And Sales Policy Discussed In Regional Gatherings

The Dodge division of Chrysler corporation is holding a series of meetings at which factory officials will meet with dealers for a review of 1937 activities and for advance discussions of plans relating to the business of the approaching new season. Advertising and sales policies, and used car merchandising practices are included in the programs of the meetings.

Principal speakers at the gathering will be Forest H. Akers, sales direct Emerson J. Poag, merchandising advertising director; W. M. Purves, assistant general sales manager; J. Burke, truck sales director, and D. Stanton.

The conference circuit will comprise 26 of the larger cities, the first of gatherings being held at Detroit September 17, the last one scheduled Denver, September 20.

At each of the meetings the dealers will be given an opportunity to review the 1938 Dodge models, many of which are being shipped to the district meeting points.

The previews will not be occasions for the release of technical details of the new cars; these, it is learned, being withheld until the information is released, simultaneously, to public.

TO MAKE PLANS FOR SEAL SALE

Annual Christmas Campaign
Will Be Mapped Tuesday
At Hotel Virginia

Plans for the sale of 1937 Christmas seals will be launched at a meeting of the District Seal Sale conference of Monroe which will be held Tuesday at the Hotel Virginia. The morning session will open at 11 o'clock and be concluded with a luncheon at 12:30 p.m. The afternoon session will be conducted from 1:30 p.m. until 2:30 p.m.

Mrs. Florence Breed, member of the staff of the National Tuberculosis association of New York City, will address the gathering and assist in mapping the sales campaign. A conference with teachers and principals of various schools over this area will be conducted by Mrs. Breed in the canteen room of the Virginia hotel immediately following the afternoon session.

All tuberculosis organizations and towns of the fifth district will send representatives to the meeting, it was stated, and executive chairmen of the various units are being especially urged to attend. A trip to the G. B. Cooley Tuberculosis sanatorium at Pine Top will conclude the conference.

This year's seal pictures a bell ringer. Bells for centuries, and in all countries, have been the harbingers of news. The 1937 bell ringer brings the good news that tuberculosis is curable, preventable, and can be eradicated completely if every good citizen does his part.

All things were made by Him; and without Him was not any thing made that was made." (John 1). The lesson-sermon also includes the following passages from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "Everything good or worthy, God made. Whatever is valueless or baneful, He did not make, hence, its unreality." (p. 325).

The rally day programs were most successful and the attendance gratifying. Can these records be maintained? With your cooperation, they can be increased. The study of God's Word is profitable, suggestive and spiritually enriching. The adults of the congregation are urged to enroll in the Bible classes. The goal, 400, shall be reached. Will you present this Lord's day that we may together consider our Father-God's will as found in the Scriptures? The communion of the Lord's Supper will be observed at the morning worship, "Far and Near" is the topic we are to consider, based upon the words of Paul, Ephesians 2:13. Rev. Duncan Naylor will speak at the evening hour. Hear him, will you? October is "Come to Church" month. Our Saviour expects His people to follow His example. "And He came to Nazareth, where He had been brought up; and He entered, as His custom was, into the synagogue on the Sabbath day." If plans materialize, this will be the red-letter month of the local congregation's history. The members of the church are invited and expected to worship. GRACE EPISCOPAL CHURCH

North Fourth And Glenmar Streets
Edward Farren Hayward, Rector

The Holy Eucharist will be celebrated on this Sunday, the 19th after Trinity, at 7:30 o'clock, and the church school will meet at 9:30 a.m. The choir will be present for the 10:45 a.m. service and sing the musical parts of the Eucharist; the rector will preach the sermon. There will be no evening service, but the rector will hold service, consisting of evensong and sermon, at Saint David's, Rayville, at 4:30 o'clock. The Rev. Clifford Nobes, of Logoda, Philippine Islands, will preach. In the collect for this day we pray for the Holy Spirit, as the director of our consciences, in all duty, acknowledging our inability to please God. The Epistle enlarges on the holiness of Christian morals, and warns us against grieving the Holy Spirit, who as the finger of God alone is able to "write these laws on our hearts." In the Holy Gospel, we learn that this, our natural inability is a spiritual disease, like the palsy, by which we are rendered powerless to perform what we know to be right.

This disease Christ can cure, forgiving our sins, and giving us the grace of the Holy Spirit, so that we can please Him both in will and deed. The church is open daily from 7:30 a.m. until 5:30 p.m. "Come in, rest, pray, give thanks, meditate."

WAR VETS JOIN SAFETY CAMPAIGN

Rodney J. Hobbs Post Erects
Signs In Highways Cautioning Motorists

Joining in the drive for safety on the highways, the Rodney J. Hobbs post, 1809, Veterans of Foreign Wars, has completed the erection of "safety" signs on the four major highways entering into Monroe.

The signs, artistic in design and carrying the warning, "Drive Carefully," carry the emblem of the V. F. W., the Cross of Malta. The warnings are on 30-inch metal discs painted in the red, blue and gold colors of the Veterans of Foreign Wars.

The Rodney J. Hobbs post received the aid of a local bottling company in preparing the signs which were erected under the supervision of Wayne Huckaby, district maintenance superintendent of the Louisiana highway commission.

Commander E. H. Miller stated that the erection of these safety warnings was the culmination of the safety program begun by the local post several months ago when motorists of Monroe and West Monroe were asked to use stickers on their windshields and rear glasses bearing the warning, "Drive Carefully, and Protect Our Children." "To get motorists to drive carefully is one of the greatest problems facing American people today," Commander Miller stated. "Reckless and careless driving is taking more lives than the bullets of dictators or warring nations."

Commander Miller also announced that the election of post officers would take place next Thursday night instead of Wednesday as was previously planned.

The children's theater will be organized next Saturday morning at 10 o'clock. The class will be an organization for the smaller children only. Two other groups, already organized, will meet this week. The Knapp players, a dramatic club, meets Tuesday afternoon at 4 o'clock, and the Junior Stamp club meets Wednesday at 4 p.m.

Kay Francis Starred In 'Confession' At Paramount

As the mutiny-tern "Slave Ship" storms in epic sweep over half the world, Warner Baxter and Wallace Beery, co-starred in the Twentieth Century-Fox epic, battle for mastery of the doomed vessel. A mighty drama of the last slave's last desperate voyage, "Slave Ship" features Elizabeth Allan and Mickey Rooney in starring roles. This picture plays at the Paramount theater next Friday and Saturday.

Even the toughest of 'em turns soft when a lovely lady is nigh; and when she can bake doughnuts as well as beautiful Nora Lane, who could blame "Hopalong Cassidy" for falling for her? It happens in "Hopalong Cassidy's Rides Again," later Clarence E. Mulford western, which plays today and Monday at the Capitol theater.

First lady of the screen—poised, graceful—this is Kay Francis, star of "Confession," the attraction playing today and Monday at the Paramount theater.

Stellar Cast In Dramatic Picture Here

One Of Season's Most Interesting Films Opens Today At Paramount

KAY FRANCIS has starred in many great pictures during her eight years on the screen, but in the Warner Bros. emotional drama "Confession," which plays today at the Paramount theater, she has given her best performance yet.

She herself has declared that her role of Vera, a once-famous singer who has degenerated to a street singer because of a nervous breakdown, is the most dramatic thing she has ever been permitted to play.

In the judgment of this reviewer, her work excelled that which she did as Florence Nightingale in "The White Angel," and was even better than her unforgettable "One Way Passage."

"Confession" was adapted from the tremendously successful European stage-play "Mazurka," and the Warner Bros. director, Joe May, found Continental direction to guide the making of it.

The story is that of a talented girl who gives up an operatic career to marry. In Homer plays her husband, who goes off to war, and in an hour following a play party in Vienna, Ruth Rathbone, the musician, takes revenge of her.

See lines are of very ancient origin, but they are still revealed in great numbers by deep-sea dredging. Most of the forms are attached permanently to the seabed, but the feather stars become free-swimmers in their later life.

last, she goes to his apartment to beg him to leave her alone if only for the sake of her child.

Her husband, returning, learns of this, divorces the singer and gets custody of their half daughter.

Years pass, and Miss Francis goes down and down. Then she sees Rathbone, in a cheap cabaret, expressing his wife on the daughter, played by Jane Bryan. She shoots and kills him.

After a thrilling court trial which occupies most of the time of the picture, it is decided that she was justified in her slaying of Rathbone to save her daughter, and she is set free.

Miss Francis gives a magnificent performance throughout, but especially in the court scenes. Rathbone and Hunter are both excellent, and so too is little Miss Bryan. This is her third featured role—the first as "Milk and Honey," the second in "Kid Galahad," in which she played Edward G. Robinson's little sister. She was so well received by the critics in these two pictures that she was immediately put into the role of Miss Francis.

Director Joe May brings a continued suspense and sophistication to his handling of the story, and the sex-depicting old Warsaw and Vienna are pictorially beautiful.

The adaptation of the continental stage hit, "Mazurka," in "Confession" was done splendidly by the two scenarists, Julius J. Epstein and Margaret LaVine. This is a First National picture.

CABIN IN THE WILDERNESS

TWISTING AND TURNING, THE UNCONSCIOUS TARZAN PLUNGED INTO THE STREAM BELOW.

THE TAANORIANS WERE CERTAIN HE WAS DEAD. AND NOW THAT THEIR FOES WERE DESTROYED, THEY HASTENED HOMEWARD.

IN THE GOLDEN CITY, THE JOY OF VICTORY WAS MINGLED WITH GRIEF FOR HIM WHO HAD GIVEN HIS LIFE FOR THEIR FREEDOM.

QUEEN NAKONIA WEPT UNASHAMED; THEN BRAVELY TOOK UP THE TASK OF RESTORING HER HARASSED LAND.

BUT TARZAN WAS NOT DEAD. SWIFT WATERS WHIRLED HIM ONTO A MASS OF DEBRIS AND BORE HIM DOWNSTREAM.

WHEN HE REGAINED HIS SENSES HE WAS FAR AWAY. HE STARTED BACK TO THE BATTLEFIELD. BUT WHY RETURN?

THE INVADERS WERE ERASED; HIS MISSION HAD BEEN FULFILLED; JUSTICE WAS DONE. AND HE PICTURED.....

---HIS STRANGE ARMY OF BEASTS DISSOLVING INTO THE VAST WILDERNESS WHENCE THEY CAME.

SO TARZAN JOURNEYED SOUTHWARD, BY DEVIOUS TRAILS AS FANCY PROMPTED. ONE DAY HE CAME UPON A WEATHER-BEATEN CABIN ON A WILD SEACOAST.

HE STOPPED SHORT, ENTRANCED; A THOUSAND MEMORIES THROGGLED HIS MIND. THIS WAS THE CABIN OF HIS BIRTH. HERE HIS MAROONED PARENTS, LORD AND LADY GREYSTOKE HAD PERISHED.

HERE, AS AN INFANT, HE HAD BEEN ADOPTED BY KALA, THE SHE-APR.

TO MAKE PLANS FOR SEAL SALE

At Hotel Virginia

Plans for the sale of 1937 Christmas seals will be launched at a meeting of the District Seal Sale conference of Monroe which will be held Tuesday at the Virginia hotel. The morning session will open at 11 o'clock and be concluded with a luncheon at 12:30 p.m. The afternoon session will be conducted from 1:30 p.m. until 2:30 p.m.

Mrs. Florence Breed, member of the staff of the National Tuberculosis association of New York City, will address the gathering and assist in mapping the sales campaign.

A conference with teachers and principals of various schools over this area will be conducted by Mrs. Breed in the morning room of the Virginia hotel immediately following the afternoon session.

All tuberculosis organizations and towns of the fifth district will send representatives to the meeting, it was stated, and executive chairmen of the various units are being especially urged to attend. In addition to the G. B. Cooley tuberculosis sanatorium at Pine Top will conclude the conference.

For 31 years the little penny Christmas seal has furnished the money needed to help prevent and control tuberculosis throughout the nation.

This year's seal pictures a bell ringer. Bells for centuries, and in all countries, have been the harbingers of news. The 1937 bell ringer brings the good news that tuberculosis is curable, preventable, and can be eradicated completely if every good citizen does his part.

Tsetse flies, although little larger than a common housefly, are the curse of equatorial Africa.

FIRST CHURCH OF CHRIST, SCIENTIST

Reading room, 709 Ouachita National Bank building, open daily, except Sunday and holidays, 11:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. The public is welcome to all services and the use of the reading room. "Unreality" is the subject of the lesson-sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, Sunday, October 3, 1937. Among the citations which comprise the lesson-sermon is the following from the Bible: "In the beginning was the Word, and the Word was with God, and the Word was God. All things were made by Him; and without Him was not any thing made that was made." (John 1). The lesson-sermon also includes the following passages from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "Everything good or worthy, God made. Whatever is valueless or baneful, He did not make, hence, its unreality." (p. 525).

FIRST PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH
Grammont and Third Streets
Ernest Holloway, Minister

The rally day programs were most successful and the attendance gratifying. Can these records be maintained? With your cooperation, they can be increased. The study of God's Word is profitable, suggestive and spiritually enriching. The adults of the congregation are urged to enroll in the Bible classes. The goal, 400, shall be reached. Will you present this Lord's day that we may together consider our Father-God's will as found in the Scriptures? The communion of the Lord's Supper will be observed at the morning worship, "Far and Near" is the topic we are to consider, based upon the words of Paul, Ephesians 2:13. Rev. Duncan Naylor will speak at the evening hour. Hear him, will you? October is "Come to Church" month. Our Saviour expects His people to follow His example. "And He came to Nazareth where He had been brought up; and He entered, as His custom was, into the synagogue on the Sabbath day." If plans materialize, this will be the red-letter month of the local congregation's history. The members of the church are invited and expected to worship. Whatever men may think, whatever excuses may be offered, God is counting on His people to sustain His church. How the church needs the patronage of its constituency!

There will be no evening service, but the rector will hold service, consisting of evensong and sermon, at Saint David's, Rayville, at 4:30 o'clock. The Rev. Clifford Nobes, of Logoda, Philippine Islands, will preach. In the collect for this day we pray for the Holy Spirit, as the director of our consciences, in all duty, acknowledging our inability to please God. The Epistle enlarges on the holiness of Christian morals, and warns us against grieving the Holy Spirit, who as the finger of God alone is able to "write these laws on our hearts." In the Holy Gospel, we learn that this, our natural inability is a spiritual disease, like the palsy, by which we are rendered powerless to perform what we know to be right.

This disease Christ can cure, forgiving our sins, and giving us the grace of the Holy Spirit, so that we can please Him both in will and deed. The church is open daily from 7:30 a.m. until 5:30 p.m. "Come in, rest, pray, give thanks, meditate."

Music of these services will be conducted by Mr. Cobb. Special numbers are provided for Miss Mae Dethier, state Sunday school and B. T. U. worker, will be our guest for the week beginning October 3. WAR VETS JOIN SAFETY CAMPAIGN

Signs In Highways Cautioning Motorists

Joining in the drive for safety on the highways, the Rodney J. Hobbs post, 1809, Veterans of Foreign Wars, has completed the erection of "Safety" signs on the four major highways entering into Monroe.

The signs, artistic in design and carrying the warning, "Drive Carefully, What I Would Do," the V. F. W., the Cross of Malta. The warnings are on 30-inch metal discs painted in the red, blue and gold colors of the Veterans of Foreign Wars.

The Rodney J. Hobbs post received the aid of a local bottling company in preparing the signs which were erected under the supervision of Wayne Huckaby, district maintenance superintendent of the Louisiana highway commission.

Commander E. H. Miller stated that the erection of these safety warnings was the culmination of the safety program begun by the local post several months ago when motorists of Monroe and West Monroe were asked to use stickers on their windshields and rear glasses bearing the warning, "Drive Carefully, and Protect Our Children."

To get motorists to drive carefully is one of the greatest problems facing American people today," Commander Miller stated, "Reckless and careless driving is taking more lives than the bullets of dictators or warring nations."

Continuing a series of Sunday services honoring old settlers of Oak Grove Methodist church will observe "David Castleman day" Sunday, the series of services will continue through October and November.

RECREATION ACTIVITIES TO INCREASE THIS WEEK

Activities at the recreation center, sponsored by the recreation department of Monroe, will increase this week with the organization of a public speaking class and the children's theater, it was announced last night.

Tomorrow night at 7:30 o'clock organization of the public speaking class will be made. The class is open to the older boys and girls now in high school or recently graduated, it was stated.

The children's theater will be organized next Saturday morning at 10 o'clock. The class will be an organization for the smaller children only. Two other groups, already organized, will meet this week. The Knapp players, a dramatic club, meets Tuesday afternoon at 4 o'clock, and the Junior Stamp club meets Wednesday at 4 p.m.

DICK TRACY

I'LL BE BACK ABOUT SUPPER TIME, MOTHER - I'M GOING DOWN TO HEADQUARTERS.

I OVERHEARD PAT SAY LAST NIGHT THAT THEY'D CAPTURED ANOTHER ONE OF SUPEENA'S GANG - AND I THOUGHT I'D MOSEY DOWN AND TAKE A LOOK.

YOU COPS ARE NUTS! I DON'T KNOW SUPEENA - I NEVER SAW HIM IN MY LIFE.

THERE'S AT LEAST ONE MORE IN SUPEENA'S GANG - MAYBE TWO. WAS HE ALONE WHEN YOU PICKED HIM UP?

ABSOLUTELY.

WE'VE GOT YOUR RECORD HERE. YOUR RIGHT NAME IS JERRY LOTSIPI. YOU'RE A PAROLEE - BEEN UP THREE TIMES BEFORE.

YOU MIGHT AS WELL COME CLEAN, LOTSIPI, BECAUSE WE CAN SEND YOU UP FOR VIOLATING PAROLE ANYWAY -

SAY!

LOOK HERE, YOUNG FELLOW, WHAT'S THE IDEA?

YEAH - THAT'S ONE OF 'EM!

YOU'RE SURE ABOUT THAT?

THAT'S THE MAN

INTO THE CELL WITH HIM, BOYS. THAT'S ALL WE WANT TO KNOW.

YOU LITTLE RAT! YOU'LL BE SORRY FOR THIS - JUST WAIT

A LITTLE LATER THAT DAY IN ANOTHER PART OF TOWN.

WHAT DID I TELL YOU, NEELEY? LOOK FOR YOURSELF.

HOLY NED! THEY DID GET JERRY! - AND WHO PUTS THE FINGER ON HIM - BUT A KID!

TWISTING AND TURNING, THE UNCONSCIOUS TARZAN PLUNGED INTO THE STREAM BELOW.

THE TAANORIANS WERE CERTAIN HE WAS DEAD. AND NOW THAT THEIR FOES WERE DESTROYED, THEY HASTENED HOMEWARD.

IN THE GOLDEN CITY, THE JOY OF VICTORY WAS MINGLED WITH GRIEF FOR HIM WHO HAD GIVEN HIS LIFE FOR THEIR FREEDOM.

QUEEN NAKONIA WEPT UNASHAMED; THEN BRAVELY TOOK UP THE TASK OF RESTORING HER HARASSED LAND.

BUT TARZAN WAS NOT DEAD. SWIFT WATERS WHIRLED HIM ONTO A MASS OF DEBRIS AND BORE HIM DOWNSTREAM.

WHEN HE REGAINED HIS SENSES HE WAS FAR AWAY. HE STARTED BACK TO THE BATTLEFIELD. BUT WHY RETURN?

---HIS STRANGE ARMY OF BEASTS DISSOLVING INTO THE VAST WILDERNESS WHENCE THEY CAME.

SO TARZAN JOURNEYED SOUTHWARD, BY DEVIOUS TRAILS AS FANCY PROMPTED. ONE DAY HE CAME UPON A WEATHER-BEATEN CABIN ON A WILD SEACOAST.

HE STOPPED SHORT, ENTRANCED; A THOUSAND MEMORIES THROGGED HIS MIND. THIS WAS THE CABIN OF HIS BIRTH. HERE HIS MAROONED PARENTS, LORD AND LADY GREYSTOKE HAD PERISHED.

HERE, AS AN INFANT, HE HAD BEEN ADOPTED BY KALA, THE SHE-APR.

NEXT WEEK: TARZAN'S HOME-COMING

HOGARTH

POW!

FULL SPEED AHEAD!

KA-WOW!

ADVENTURE STAMPS
"The LIVING PHAROHS" of DARKEST AFRICA

DEEP in the matted jungle-forest of the Belgian Congo, almost inaccessible to white man, live the strange Watussi. Superb tribesmen, seven to eight feet in height, elegant of movement, of quick intelligence, they constitute the aristocracy of darkest Africa. Thereby hangs a riddle of modern science.

A riddle because the Watussi observe customs entirely unknown among other native peoples. They boast of a royal dynasty, believed to be of celestial origin, as was that of the Pharaohs. Their political organization is that of the feudal system, an absolute monarchy with unlimited power. Their various clans have animals for totems and their cows are clearly not those of Congo breed.

Moreover, the Watussi give exceptional care to their cattle, reminiscent of the cult of the Egyptians for the Apis. So explorers theorize that these are the children of the ancient Egyptian civilization. They bear striking resemblance to the Pharaohs of old.

Either to escape persecution or to seek new and better pastures, it is quite logical that the Watussi wandered from Egypt with their cattle, proceeding slowly from country to country, finally to reach the Congo. There the beauty and the richness of the land held them. So they thrive today, mystery people of the jungle. A view typical of the verdant African territory is portrayed on a well-known Congo pictorial.
